FLAG DEBATE AT END?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker today launched what was expected to be the last Conservative speech on the Tory amendment to send the issue to the people.

Diefenbaker rose in the Commons today to the thunderous and sustained desk-thumping applause from Conservative benches.

Diefenbaker's speech followed a full caucus meeting just prior to the opening of today's sitting.

OTTAWA — Conservative Quebec chieftain Leon Balcer's surprise call for government-imposed closure Wednesday was prompted by more than antipathy for his party's role in the flag debate.

He also wants the House of Commons to get back to its normal question period so the government can be given an opportunity to elaborate on explanations this week by two cabinet ministers who were purchasing furniture from the now-bankrupt Montreal Futurama firm formerly owned by Max and Adolph Sefkind.

No questions on the matter have come up in the Commons because the debate on the flag committee's recommended single red leaf design has, under the rules, cancelled out the daily question period.

The protracted flag debate has driven the wedge deeper between the Conservative party and its Quebec wing and sapped the patience of the New Democrats.

In a 200-word statement that repudiated his leader's stand and startled the Commons, Mr. Balcer asked Prime Minister Pearson to introduce closure to halt the debate.

And the NDP, which had voted against two previous motions to adjourn the debate, made an unsuccessful bid with a motion that would have returned the Commons to holding daily question periods and consideration of bills such as the national labor code.

Outside the Commons Mr. Pearson said only that Mr. Balcer's suggestion was "an interesting proposal, coming from the deputy leader of the opposition."

U.K. Bombers Seen in MLF

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today he would outline his proposals for an Atlantic nuclear force next week in the British House of Commons, in the context of continuing talks with NATO allies.

WILSON EDGES STEP CLOSER TO U.S. VIEW

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson is seen in the British press as having moved closer to the idea of accepting a mixed-manned nuclear force as a result of his Washington talks with President Johnson.

The Labor-leaning Sun suggested in a front-page story today that Wilson is "stuck" with the U.S.-proposed nuclear seaborne fleet concept and that "persuading the Labor party to accept it will be one of the biggest sword-swallowing acts in politics.

Wilson held a morning news conference before leaving for London after briefing Prime Minister Pearson on his discussions with President Johnson in Washington earlier this week.

He said that the best opportunity for discussing his views might come at the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris next week.

Wilson has not rejected the U.S. proposal for a multilateral nuclear force of 25 surface ships armed with Polaris missiles and financed and manned by various members of NATO.

But it appears he is prepared to go beyond this concept by tossing in Britain's V-bombers and the three nuclear submarines equipped with Polaris missiles. The British would continue to man these forces, but they would be placed at the permanent disposal of the NATO commander.

Wilson avoided any comment on French President Charles de Gaulle's attitude toward NATO defence problems.

"It is not for me to interpret or predict what France will do at any given time," he said.

HARD LOOK

Britain, as well as the Soviet Union and the U.S. have been forced to take a hard look at their defence policies in line with what they can afford, Wilson said.

When asked to comment on Canada's role in NATO, Wilson said he had no suggestions to make to this country on any part it might play in the MLF which Pearson has rejected as impractical for Canada from the start.

Charges Fly In Council

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS—Two African foreign ministers today condemned the Belgian-American operation to rescue hostages in The Congo as an aggression against Africa and an attempt to divide the continent.

Their attacks came as the Security Council resumed debate on the operation, launched Wednesday in bitter attacks by three other African foreign ministers.

Guinea's Foreign Minister Louie Lonsana Beavogui said no indignations had been expressed by governments of the "so-called civilized countries" about the killing of Congolese, apparently because their skins were black.

He said no whites had been killed by the rebels before the drop of Belgian paratroopers on Stanleyville, and that in fact negotiations for their release were going on while the intervention was being hypocritically prepared.

Mali's Mannadou Ba called the operation a premeditated, cold-blooded attack on a "bulwark of true African unity."

Ba linked the assassination of President John F. Kennedy with the killing of Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba and the death of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Ba said:

"Those who with premeditation and cynicism carried out the assassination of Lumumba, who were responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, who did not hesitate to assassinate John Kennedy—those voices of war who silenced the great voice of John Kennedy — yes, they are the same forces of obscurantism."

DISBELIEF

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson stared at Ba in shocked disbelief as the African made his statement.

Today's second round brought acrimonious language seldom heard in the bitterest cold war exchanges here.

Beovogui paralleled Ba's line.

"The assassins of Lumumba, the murderers of thousands of Balubas in North Katanga, those responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, those responsible for the blockade of Cuba and hundreds of deaths in Stanleyville cannot be trusted to keep their word in The Congo," he said.

"It was precisely the American-Belgian intervention in Stanleyville that provoked the massacres there."

Both Beovogui and Ba said the U.S.-Belgian paratroop res-

NEW YORK (UPI)—The U.S. justice department today accused Broadcast Music, Inc., (BMI) and 517 broadcasters who own BMI stock of combining illegally to monopolize copyrighted music for broadcasting.

IN VANCOUVER VOTE

Mayor Rathie Wins But Coliseum Fails

VANCOUVER (CP) — Voters in Canada's third largest city swept Mayor William Rathie back into office Wednesday but vetoed most of his civic plans.

The mayor was returned for his second term but his pet projects—a five-year downtown development plan costing $48,000,000 and a coliseum bylaw—were tossed out by ratepayers.

Mayor Rathie, 50, supported a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to Toronto Maple Leafs who proposed to build an $8,000,000 coliseum on it. The mayor also urged voters to support the development plan covering the years 1966 to 1970.

The mayor said he will continue to push for a sports coliseum but that the offer from Leafs' president Stafford Smythe is dead.

Mr. Smythe proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena if the city would sell him the land for $1.

SET A DEADLINE

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

Critics said the wording of the bylaw did not place any restrictions on the type of structure the Leafs could build on the property after the arena was completed.

The Leaf president refused to add any conditions to his offer.

All bylaw questions must be approved by a 60 per cent majority.

Mayor Rathie topped Alderman Tom Alsbury, 60, a former mayor who resigned his aldermanic seat to contest the mayoralty election. Ald. Marianne Linnell, 50, who also vacated her council seat to run, came in third. The fourth candidate, William Shenton, was never in contention.

'That's End Of Project' —Smythe

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said in an interview today that Vancouver has missed its chance at National League hockey "for a whole generation."

Smythe was commenting on Wednesday's plebiscite in Vancouver in which the ratepayers tossed out a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to the Gardens for a proposed $8,000,000 coliseum.

The vote is a complete "end to the project," Smythe said. He had proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena on two blocks of choice downtown land if the city agreed to sell him the land for $1.

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

Titan Launched

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The new Titan-3A rocket, key to an air force bid to orbit the first U.S. space station, today scored its first success in two tries to orbit a test satellite. The 124-foot booster overcame trouble encountered on its maiden test flight Sept. 1 and shot its third stage and a 3,750-pound lead payload into a 17,500-mile an hour path about 115 miles above earth.

'REEFER WITH A FILTER'

NEW YORK (UPI) — James Machen, 27, was in jail today charged with possession of marijuana. Police reported they found him in a Riverside Drive apartment Wednesday night, smoking a marijuana cigarette equipped with a filter tip.

"What kind of cigarette is that?" asked Sgt. Victor Fuchs, one of the arresting officers.

"A reefer," Machen replied.

"A reefer with a filter?" the sergeant asked.

"Of course," Machen replied. "You think I want to get lung cancer?"

19 Suspects Released

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — Charges against 19 white Mississippians arrested in the deaths of three civil rights workers were dismissed today by a U.S. commissioner who refused to admit an alleged confession.

A justice department attorney promptly announced that a federal grand jury scheduled to meet in February would be asked to indict the 19 men who were picked up last week by FBI agents.

Two men still face hearings.

Paris Slows Down

PARIS (AP)—Paris suburban commuter schedules were curtailed today as trainmen walked off the job in a strike which will extend to almost all public service industries Friday.

Trustees Hearing Set for January

OTTAWA (CP)—A Commons committee decided today in a closed session to put off its questioning of the federal maritime union trustees until mid-January.

A Conservative demand that public hearings go ahead immediately was rejected by a vote of 16 to 8 in the industrial relations committee.

Committee chairman Bryce Mackasey (L — Montreal Verdun) said it was decided to wait until the trustees, appointed last year to run five maritime unions including the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) file their first annual report with the labor minister.

Michael Starr (PC—Ontario), former labor minister, said he and his colleagues felt there were "many, many questions" that should be asked of the trustees now.

The Conservatives in recent months have posed a barrage of questions in the Commons about the trustees' handling of the SIU.

Mr. Starr said Gerald Regan (L—Halifax) voted with seven Conservative members for an immediate hearing.

But 14 Liberals and two New Democrats — Andrew Brewin (Toronto Greenwood) and Tom Barnett (Comox-Alberni)—voted to await the trustees report and delay the hearings until next month.

DISTINGUISHED soldier, columnist and Member of Parliament from 1953 to 1957, Elmore Philpott died Wednesday in Vancouver at the age of 68. He was born in Toronto and came to British Columbia in 1937.

U.K. Must Force Me To Step Down—Jagan

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan, who failed to win a majority in Tuesday's election, refused today to step down from office.

The 46-year-old East Indian dentist announced flatly:

"I refuse to resign. The British Government must force me out."

Jagan, who was educated at Howard and Northwestern Universities in the United States, has assailed "international backers" for his failure in the hotly-contested election.

Jagan's failure to win an absolute majority in the election left the selection of a successor to this colony's British Gov. Sir Richard Luyt.

Luyt had been expected to name Forbes Burnham, a negro leader with pro-Western sympathies and head of the people's National Congress, to succeed Jagan at the head of a coalition government.

Burnham's PNC with Peter D'Aguiar's United Force Party combined in opposition to Jagan's People's Progressive Party to defeat Jagan's bid for re-election.

Burnham rejected Jagan's overture to join forces with him.

THIEF TRAP BACKFIRES

Worker Gives Boss Blast

LONDON (AP)—Convinced that his boss thought he was a crook, garage mechanic James Carey rigged up a trap to catch the real thief.

He fixed a shotgun to a rafter and hitched a piece of wire to the trigger. Then he ran the wire to the garage door.

With the gun empty, Carey tried it out. It worked. So Carey loaded the gun one Saturday night after work, went home and waited for action.

He got it.

The next morning a man opened the garage door. With this man was another man.

Bang went the shotgun.

Carey, who lives near the garage, hurried over to catch a wounded burglar. He found his boss, Mornington Tobin, and another mechanic, Ian Fairington, staggering around. Both had been pelted by bird shot.

A constable charged Carey with "setting a spring gun calculated to inflict grievous bodily harm on a trespasser."

Pleading guilty in court Wednesday, Carey admitted he had goofed.

The garage owner told the court he never once suspected Carey and added that he could have his job back.

"Case dismissed," said the judge, "but next time let Scotland Yard catch the burglars."

HOLIDAY SHARING 'GROWS' WITH NIECES AND NEPHEWS

By MARGE GILROY

As the nieces and nephews of a Victoria aunt grow, so does her donation to the hungry children of Korea.

For the past 11 years Carol-Anne and David of Seattle have shared their Christmas with kiddies who have never known a Christmas like theirs. Since then, Scott and Gregg have also learned their lesson in sharing.

In 1953 the Victoria aunt gave a $10 donation in the name of her niece and nephew to the first Times-sponsored appeal for the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

This year her donation jumped to $25, and the children are thrilled.

As Carol-Anne wrote to her aunt: "It just wouldn't be Christmas now unless we shared with our Korean friends. It makes us all very happy to know they are still part of our Christmas gift."

Like other children these Americans enjoy the goodies and gifts of Christmastime, but long ago they learned that part of the joy from Christmas comes from sharing.

You, too, can share by sending a donation to "Help The Hungry Child" fund, care of the Times, 2631 Douglas or deliver it before 5:30 p.m.

Contributions may also be left at the Bank of Montreal, main branch, Yates and Douglas.

Gifts will be acknowledged in the paper and official receipts will be sent later from USC headquarters in Ottawa.

. . . MAYOR RATHIE

Ernie Broome were re-elected aldermen for two-year terms. Former alderman Orson Banfield was also elected.

Ald. Philip Lipp topped the field of eight contesting a one-year aldermanic post. Sixteen candidates bid for the four vacant two-year terms.

The coliseum and five-year plan bylaws were not the only Rathie - backed proposals rejected by the voters.

Proposals to increase city council by two aldermen to 12 and to use $2,400,000 from the sale of Vancouver International Airport for the city's 1967 centennial projects were defeated.

In another plebiscite, regarded as a twin to the aldermanic proposition, opinion favored civic elections every two years instead of annually.

A hotly-contested plebiscite to purchase Langara Golf Course from the Canadian Pacific Railway for parkland also passed.

Observers were mystified at the defeat of the five-year plan for downtown redevelopment.

It was supported by most candidates, civic, business and union groups during the campaign, and is the next logical step from a five-year plan already approved by voters and in force.

Only 53 per cent of the electors voted for it and it needed 60 per cent to pass.

The count was 33,430 in favor, 28,076 against.

It provided $15,000,000 for downtown express routes, $14,000,000 for sewers and watermains, $4,500,000 for downtown redevelopment, $4,000,000 for development of vacant land, $3,500,000 for slum clearance and $1,000,000 for hospitals. The remainder was for police, the fire department, parks and libraries.

The present five-year plan does not expire until the end of 1965 and there is time to resubmit the plan, or another one, in next year's civic election.

Meanwhile, Mayor Rathie prepared today for a "what now?" conference with Premier Bennett on a coliseum for the city.

Mayor Rathie said they will discuss the next move following defeat Wednesday of a proposal to sell land for the building.

The bylaw to sell to Toronto Maple Leafs, a two-block downtown site for $1 got only a 42.77 per cent vote. It needed 66 per cent. Ratepayers voted 27,205 in favor, 34,844 against.

The provincial government had pledged $1,000,000 towards cost of the coliseum site. It would have cost the city less than $2,000,000 to purchase, and backers of the plan said taxes would retrieve that amount within 10 years.

Leafs had pledged to build a 17,000-seat coliseum worth $8,000,000.

CHANCE FOR BURNABY

Alan Emmott, the reeve of suburban Burnaby, said he will write Smythe today to reiterate an offer of land for a coliseum and parking on a long-term lease.

Defeated mayoralty candidate Tom Alsbury has said another group will come forward with a coliseum proposal, but he has not named the group.

A statement on the same subject is promised by Coley Hall, Vancouver hotel owner, former owner of the Western League Vancouver Canucks and part owner of San Francisco Seals.

Mayor Rathie said the coliseum was killed "by people who fogged up the issue."

. . . CONGO

cue mission was only a pretext for wresting Stanleyville, the capital of Oriental Province, from rebel control.

Ba charged that it was a "body blow" to efforts of the Organization of African Unity to settle The Congo situation on a regional basis.

"They say the whites in Stanleyville were being held hostage and their lives were in danger," Ba said. "But the American and Belgian governments have undertaken against the innocent population in Stanleyville and the surrounding areas one of the most murderous operations since the beginning of the Congo problem.

"The press has spoken of the existence of cannibalism. Were it to have existed, it would have been nothing compared to that giant and titanic cannibalism committed by the destruction of hundreds of thousands of human beings by the mercenaries."

Beovogui added:

"In a blind war, hundreds of defenceless Congolese have been massacred. They were killed by South Africans, Rhodesians, Belgians, Cubans, American soldiers of fortune—the mercenaries that Tshombe has hired.

"But no indignation was expressed by the governments of the so-called civilized countries.

"Was it because the thousands of Congolese killed had black skin, like the black Americans assassinated in Mississippi?"

The Security Council faces a free-for-all debate on The Congo after voting Wednesday to hear charges from both sides in the dispute.

Russia launched a bitter assault against the United States and Belgium Wednesday night in a vain attempt to block discussion of Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe's charges that Moscow has been aiding the Congo rebellion.

After a sharp exchange between the Soviet and American delegates, the council rejected the Russian demand that it ignore Tshombe's charges that at least three African countries were shipping aid to the rebels with Russia's help.

The council voted 7 to 4 to take up Tshombe's charges as well as the charge by 22 nations—most of them African—that the recent U.S.-Belgian paratroop operation to rescue white hostages from the rebels was a flagrant act of interference in The Congo's internal affairs.

MAY GET HOTTER

The debate, closed to the public to prevent demonstrations, was expected to heat up still more after Tshombe arrives Saturday to argue his case.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko Wednesday night called The Congo rebellion a "holy struggle" against imperialism and branded Tshombe a stooge of the West.

Terming Tshombe's charges "an awkward manoeuvre," he said the council should deal only with "the action of the imperialists and colonialists and their puppets in The Congo."

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson replied that the Russians were trying to throw up a smokescreen to conceal charges that they played a key role in aiding the insurgents.

Stevenson said it was "almost incredible that the council should be asked to hear a complaint against those who have not intervened in The Congo, while refusing to hear the government of the country itself against those who by their own admission have."

. . . FLAG

But a government informant said closure has been considered and rejected as inappropriate on a committee report.

TO CONTINUE FIGHT?

Because Mr. Balcer's move followed by only a few hours a Conservative caucus meeting, it was interpreted in some quarters to mean the party plans to carry on for some time in its fight for a national plebiscite on the flag.

Quebec Conservatives favor adoption of the special Commons committee recommendation of a flag with a single red maple leaf although one, Theogene Ricard (St. Hyacinthe-Bagot), has sided with others of his party in seeking a plebiscite.

Since the debate was resumed eight sitting days ago, 53 of the Conservatives' 96 Commons members have spoken on the Conservative amendment calling for the plebiscite. It was Conservative opposition last summer that resulted in the issue going to the committee following 22 days of debate.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker was absent for Mr. Balcer's closure request. He entered the Commons to vote on the NDP motion, then left for the day.

Mr. Balcer, who has disagreed publicly with his seatmate on federal - provincial relations as well as the flag, said the debate had been dominated by English - speaking Conservatives who back retention of the Canadian Red Ensign.

SEES HARM

The debate had paralysed Parliament and harmed national interests, he said. If free speech was to be respected the flag recommendation should come to a vote without further discussion.

DAME EDITH

U.K. Poet Dame Edith Dies at 77

LONDON (UPI)—Dame Edith Sitwell, the "first lady of English verse," whose poetry and personal eccentricities sparked literary controversy over a period of four decades, died Wednesday night. She was 77.

She had been ill for about two years.

A tall (six feet), gaunt and imposing woman, Dame Edith shunned the conventional in her behavior as well as her verse. She was wont to wear long, flowing Victorian gowns, flamboyant hats, and large rings and brooches.

Often she dressed all in black, and sometimes she wore a coronet. Dame Edith said she was averse to noise, and in Who's Who one of her recreations was listed as "silence."

Dame Edith never married, but she said, "I am never lonely."

Her conversation was equal parts wit and heterodoxy. "I loathe cruelty," she said. "The only thing to do with cruelty is to revive the stocks."

ELECTRIC EEL

Or: "I am like an unpopular electric eel in a pond full of flatfish."

Or: "The reason I am thought eccentric is that I won't be taught my job by a lot of little pipsqueaks."

She published more than ten volumes of poetry and many of prose, including biographies of Queen Victoria and Queen Elizabeth I, several novels, a study of poetry and a work about strange characters in English history, English Eccentrics.

She first startled the literary world in 1923 with a reading in London of Facade. The poetess read the work to musical accompaniment, speaking to the audience through a mask from behind a curtain.

The performance baffled and outraged the critics. Facade since has become familiar and oft read, and other of Dame Edith's works have been read with musical accompaniment.

Anti-Sprawl Resolution Proposed

A double edged resolution to prevent sprawl and to save farm lands from housing developments in rural areas of the Saanich peninsula, will be discussed by a panel of experts at a meeting of the capital region branch of the Community planning Association of Canada.

The meeting will be held in the office of the Victoria Real Estate Board, 1216 Broad Street, at 8 p.m., Monday.

Panelists include J. D. Baird, assistant deputy minister of municipal affairs; William Craven, Saanich assistant assessor, and district horticulturist Alan Littler.

As a stop-gap measure, the resolution calls for the removal of school taxes from land used for agriculture.

NEW TAX BASE

That is until the government evolved a complete new tax base for education, the farmer would be taxed only on his house and a defined plot of land.

The association feels this method of taxation would discourage the break up of farms for housing development.

Other points in the resolution request the government to set up a joint services board to assist in the development, conservation and improvement of the capital region.

It also asks for legislation to enable the board to obtain funds or grants for the purchase of land for greenbelts, parks and wilderness areas.

CANDIDATES SPEAK

Ratepayers in Oak Bay Press High-Rise Issue

By MARGE GILROY

Three out of six candidates for municipal office in Oak Bay do not consider high-rise apartments an issue. Two are opposed to high-rise buildings and the sixth did not appear at an all-candidates meeting Wednesday night.

But the 200 ratepayers who packed the municipal hall appeared to be interested only in high-rise apartments, with the exception of one heckler.

Newcomer Dr. Harold R. Carter claims he is fighting to keep Oak Bay residential. Without high-rise apartments there would be no need for costs to go up as there would be no need for new curbs, water mains and increased fire protection, said Dr. Carter.

NOT OBLIGATED

He said Oak Bay is not obliged to provide accommodation for future residents and the increasing population.

He accused past councillors of being allied with land speculators against the residents of Oak Bay.

Oak Bay, he said, is no longer the desirable residential community it was 10 years ago and this change has been brought about by "big business" out to make money.

Former Coun. John D. Watts strongly opposed the proposed 12-storey apartment block south of the White House. He favors mansion-type apartments such as the White House, but as for true high-rises, he said they did not fit into the Oak Bay scene.

PERMANENCE

Mr. Watts said he would like to see some plan of development which would have a degree of permanence.

He would like to see the plan of 1961 revised and submitted to the voters for approval.

Mr. Watts also favors a street renewal program on a "pay as you go" basis. He is opposed to the municipality borrowing money for such projects as this results in the taxpayer paying $2 for each $1 worth of work.

Candidate Fred A. Robinson who previously served on council for 11½ years, was not present.

Incumbents Fred Hawes, Alex Hendry and Peter Lovric considered municipal financing to be a much more important problem facing Oak Bay than the question of high - rise apartments.

ELEVENTH HOUR

Coun. Lovric referred to the present situation as the eleventh hour. He said the municipalities must continue to impress upon the senior governments their responsibilities for education, health and welfare services and the transit system.

It is only if the senior governments relieve the municipalities of its tax burden that the citizens, living on pensions and fixed incomes, can continue to live in Oak Bay, said Mr. Lovric.

He pointed out that the tax rate in Oak Bay had increased by 72 per cent in the last 10 years and assessments had more than doubled. This, he said, occurred in spite of the fact that there was heavy residential development in that period which brought increased revenue. Now with development near completion there is little property which can be added to the tax rolls.

SPIRALLING TAX RATE

Unless the senior governments accept a larger share of the costs of services, not directly related to property, the municipalities can expect nothing but spiralling tax rates, said Mr. Lovric.

And in this regard, he said, it would be the people with incomes less than $7,000 who would be most affected as they pay 70 per cent of the property tax.

Coun. Hendry stressed the need for improved traffic routes and parking facilities in Oak Bay. He said the roads of 20 years ago or more were not designed for the traffic of today and for this reason he supported the capital works program which would provide for replacement of roads on a five-year plan.

He told the ratepayers that council and the merchants of Oak Bay had almost reached an agreement for an off-street parking plan in the village. This, he said, would benefit the merchants and residents of Oak Bay.

BUS SUBSIDY

As for the transit system, Mr. Hendry believes that the bus system must be subsidized by B.C. Hydro Authority, and reasonable rates enforced.

He blamed much of the rise in the costs for Oak Bay on salary increases which are now comparable with those paid in industry and government.

Coun. Hawes said he had always taken a leading part in the fight for a better tax-sharing basis with the provincial government and this he would continue to do.

'ONLY SALVATION . . .'

The only salvation for the municipalities is to get rid of education and social welfare costs, he said.

Since the senior government had a much wider tax collecting base they must absorb more of the costs, said the chairman of the finance committee.

Mr. Hawes is opposed to apartments on the Lansdowne campus property but he supports the original plan for apartments along the north side of Cedar Hill Cross Road.

In support of apartments which do not contribute substantially to the tax revenue, he said Oak Bay had been accused of hiding behind the Tweed Curtain. Now it must be prepared to absorb some of the population explosion on south Vancouver Island.

Jones Pleads Not Guilty To Charges

B.C. government purchasing commissioner George E. P. Jones today denied accepting favors on personal cars from city dealer George Hankinson.

He pleaded not guilty in Victoria County Court to two charges of receiving unlawful benefits from Mr. Hankinson at a time when Hankinson's firm was dealing with the government in the sale and purchase of automobiles.

Mr. Hankinson was then manager of Pacific Chrysler Products Ltd.

Mr. Jones was chairman of the B.C. government purchasing commission from January, 1956, until his arrest on Oct. 2. He was suspended as chairman the same day, but continues in office as one of three purchasing commissioners employed by the government.

At a preliminary hearing in Saanich police court, Mr. Jones elected to be tried by a judge without jury and was allowed bail of $2,000.

'NOT GUILTY'

Before Judge Montague Drake this morning, he answered "not guilty" to the two charges as they were read by the clerk of the court.

The first charge is that on or about Oct. 30, 1963, while chairman of the purchasing commission, he accepted a benefit from Mr. Hankinson by allowing the "withholding of collection" by Mr. Hankinson's firm of $1,577 as part of the purchase price of a 1963 Dodge sedan.

The second charge alleges that on or about Feb. 6, 1964, Mr. Jones accepted a 1964 Dodge convertible car at a price lower than the cost to the company and lower than the retail price.

Mr. Jones sat at a table, alongside an RCMP constable, while Crown prosecutor Lloyd G. McKenzie, QC, outlined the charges.

COST $2,995

Mr. McKenzie said Mr. Jones was a friend of Mr. Hankinson at the time of the first transaction on Oct. 30, 1963. He drew up a sales contract for the sale of the 1963 Dodge sedan to Mr. Jones at the price of $2,995.

After the trade-in of a 1956 Dodge car, Mr. Jones owed $1,577 on the contract.

Mr. McKenzie said Mr. Jones' bank records did not show any withdrawal for that amount and Pacific Chrysler's bank records gave no indication that the payment was made.

Counsel said he would call Mr. Hankinson as a witness, although he is now facing charges connected with his transactions with Mr. Jones.

Hugh A. McGivern and D. A. Thompson of Vancouver are appearing for the defence. The hearing continued this afternoon.

Sale Now Completed For Car Dealership

A change of ownership of Olson-Ford Sales and Service Ltd. was announced Wednesday.

The dealership at 1060 Yates was purchased from Thomas B. Lumsden by Peter Pollen, who will be new president.

Mr. Pollen, 36, has been with Olson since last December. A native of Regina he previously was business manager for Western Canada for the Ford Company, in Vancouver. He was general manager at Olson's.

Jim McRae, who has been at Olson's for 20 years, will continue as controller and Gary Hawe, who came here from Vancouver 18 months ago, will be sales manager.

Mr. Lumsden's departure from Olson's ends a 42-year stint in the car business on Yates.

IMAGINATIVE SOCIAL PLANNING URGED

'Aged Want To Be Part of Things'

OTTAWA (CP)—Dr. J. W. Willard, federal deputy minister of welfare, said today that the process of growing old should be a normal phase of life.

He told a special Senate committee studying the problems of the aged that there is ample evidence older people want to go on living as closely to normal as possible.

They wanted to be regarded as having a continuing contribution to make to society, to feel wanted, to be close to friends, relatives and former associations and at the same time to enjoy some real independence.

"These are normal desires and it makes good sense, economically as well as socially, to try to create and maintain the conditions under which the process of aging can be seen and experienced as a normal phase of life," Dr. Willard said.

"This implies the conservation of the resources of older people in terms of their special skills, their interests, their maturity and experience and their desire and capacity to continue to contribute significantly, not only to their own well-being, but to that of the community of which they are an essential part."

Dr. Willard said the trend in the social welfare field in income maintenance programs is to make the fact, rather than the cause, of need the major criterion in establishing eligibility for financial assistance.

"Thus, where old age has been a condition for the receipt of assistance, now the need for assistance, whatever the reason, becomes the more important factor . . . by planning to meet the needs of the total community, it is possible to include the special needs of the aged without emphasizing or encouraging what is now seen to be an artificial definition of old age as a period of dependency."

A comprehensive approach to aging was one in which features with a positive focus are given as much attention as the amelioration aspects of aging, such as the need for income maintenance.

"It involves imaginative social planning, full co-operation between public and voluntary bodies and, above all, a determination to create the conditions under which the aged can make a maximum contribution to the community, in the process of which they retain their place in the scheme of things."

BRIDGE RESULTS

Tony Marsh recently won Victoria Duplicate Bridge Club's six-week series with a high average of 61.34 per cent.

He was followed by Leslie Stewart, Paul Smith, Pat Bishop, Douglas Hawkes and Marianne Powell.

Earle and Anna Dye scored the highest game with a percentage of 67.19.

Winners in the final game of the series were:

Section A: Maria Collm and Jo Waddington, first; Liliane LeButt and Jack Goldie, Phil Hagel and Tony Marsh, second-place tie; Anne and Earle Dye, fourth, and Velma Acres and Harry Brawn, fifth.

Section B: Leslie Stewart and Cam Cameron, first; Laura Tingley and Freda Small, second; Nellie and Bill Chisholm, third, and Minna Loomer and Ida Druce, Louise Duncan and Hilda Reid, fourth-place tie.

BOOK BANNED FROM SCHOOLS

SAVANNAH, Ga. (UPI) — The novel "The Catcher in the Rye" was ordered removed from the bookshelves of all Chatham County schools Wednesday by Supt. Thord Marshall.

Marshall said a civic group, the Citizens for Decent Literature, complained that the novel by J. D. Salinger contained too many vulgar words.

Council Candidates Air Views As Election Drive in Last Lap

Voters Have Final Word On Saturday

Capsule campaign platforms of the nine Victoria city council candidates seeking office Saturday are outlined below.

The candidates—three of them incumbent aldermen—seek four vacancies, each for a two-year term of office.

Three terms expire Dec. 31 and the fourth seat was that of Ald. Arthur Dowell, senior member of council, who died last summer.

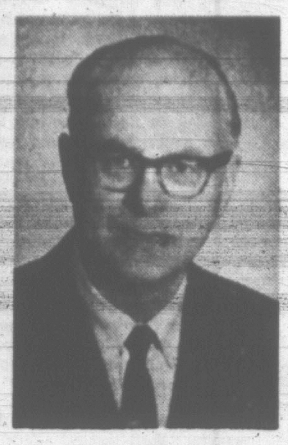
Three persons will be trying for local office for the first time, one has tried four times previously without being elected; one has tried once before and the last person has served as alderman twice before.

See Other Election Stories Pages 2, 14, 47

There are no referendum questions to put before Victoria ratepayers at this election.

One candidate was nominated for two school board vacancies. He is incumbent trustee Lloyd Clarkson, elected by acclamation. The second vacancy will be filled by ministerial appointment.

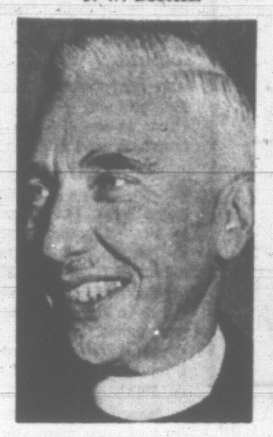
AUSTIN CURTIS



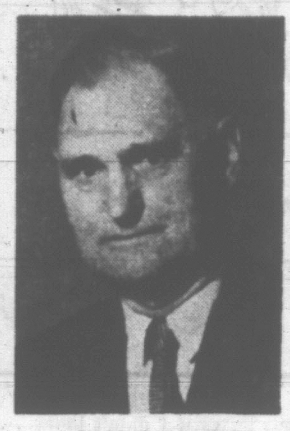
J. W. DICKIE

HARRY FANTHORPE

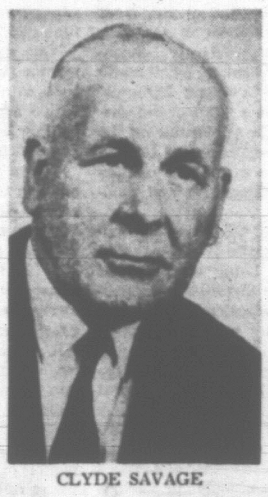
MRS. E. MacKENZIE



REV. J. L. W. McLEAN



CECIL PARROTT



CLYDE SAVAGE

ALFRED W. TOONE

VICTOR WILLIAMS

AUSTIN CURTIS — Incumbent, served five terms, previously school trustee. Retired.

The candidate stands on the record of city council achievements in the past few years, makes no promises about taxation and in this area declares council can only give budget items close scrutiny, eliminating non-essential items.

More staff and better facilities for welfare services and handling juvenile matters, implementation of Community Welfare Council's report, and fighting the provincial government on its winter works policy are also in his platform.

Ald. Curtis opposes any attempt to foist transit on to the municipalities and endorses the principle of joint services, including library facilities.

J. WESLEY DICKIE—first bid for council; realtor.

Mr. Dickie demands smoke control enforcement, will press for a tax cut, reconstruction of Royal Athletic Park on the present site, Greater Victoria amalgamation by way of joint services before full union, and opposes any transit fare raise.

When B.C. Hydro took over B.C. Electric operations, it bought a "full package and should be prepared to service it" as it was before takeover without hiking bus fares, Mr. Dickie states.

HARRY FANTHORPE — Former federal and provincial candidate making first try at local office. Machine shop proprietor.

Everything possible should be done to absorb young persons leaving school into employment, the candidate feels. Secondary industries should be fostered in Victoria — not "smoke-belching industries."

A low-cost transit system must be provided; urban renewal must go ahead; senior government assistance must be used to provide senior citizens and low income family housing; semi-metro should be undertaken, but not at the cost of higher taxation, Mr. Fanthorpe declares.

MRS. EVELYN MacKENZIE—Housewife; candidate for alderman once previously.

Mrs. MacKenzie bases her platform on opposition to a bus fare hike, pointing to 6,000-name petition to B.C. Public Utilities Commission from Greater Victoria citizens.

Transit expenses are subsidized by profit-making gas and electricity rates and B.C. Hydro still cleared $8,000,000 in 1963, Mrs. MacKenzie states.

REV. J. L. W. McLEAN—Presbyterian clergyman, has served two terms as alderman, prior to 1964.

Mr. McLean says he does not oppose the incumbents, but seeks the vacancy left with the death of Ald. Dowell.

Making no promises, he states his one interest is the preservation of historical Victoria while providing modern conveniences. The city must be pleasant for citizens and tourists, he thinks.

Further, he declares the city must act on transit, not leave the problem to the province.

CECIL PARROTT—Incumbent, retired, completing his first term; former school trustee.

Ald. Parrott favors completion of downtown facelifting, pointing to the start made by the current council in painting, Centennial Square and plans for Blanshard Street improvement and urban renewal.

He approves a proposed joint sewerage board for Greater Victoria and settlement of the transit problem.

CYLDE SAVAGE — Semi-retired, making first bid for council.

As a former druggist, Mr. Savage wants businessmen to understand the problems and cost-regulation of running the city. Cheap transit fares are essential to the economy and public needs, he declares.

A tourist program that helps the economy deserves support, he said.

Mr. Savage fully supports the mayor's program of progressive thought and would go for a new stadium and convention auditorium.

ALFRED W. TOONE—Incumbent, seeking third term.

Mr. Toone believes planning for long-range improvement to the city pays off — Centennial Square and downtown improvement projects are just a start, he predicts.

He has served as chairman of industrial development commission, downtown beautification, urban renewal and Centennial Square project. The second phase of downtown improvement starts soon, he said, and an overall city plan is to come.

Residential, commercial and industrial areas will benefit from urban renewal projects, and as soon as legislation allows, Blanshard renewal will get going, the candidate said.

VICTOR WILLIAMS — Investment manager, making a fifth attempt at election.

Mayor R. B. Wilson needs stronger support in council, Mr. Williams feels. To act as catalyst is not enough; "a catalyst needs compounding chemicals," he said.

The smoke nuisance in Victoria needs firm, quick solution by shutting down waste-burning mill operations, Mr. Williams said.

'Politics Not Place For Brotherly Love'

AMHERST, Mass. (AP) — Former state secretary Dean Acheson says "moralistic maxims" should be eliminated from the conduct of United States foreign policy.

He said they often confuse a decision on "such complicated matters as the multilateral nuclear force, a common grain price in Europe, policy in Southeast Asia, or exception and disparities under the Kennedy round of tariff negotiations."

Examples Acheson gave of moralisms and slogans are the concept that the U.S. should restrain from using force in all circumstances, the principle of self-determination applied to all situations and the idea of foreign aid as "sharing brotherly love."

Acheson's detailed, criticism came in a speech at an Amherst college symposium Wednesday.

Morals and ethics have their place in foreign policy, but "must be used with discretion," he said.

As state secretary to President Harry S. Truman from 1949 to 1953, Acheson said he was advised to oppose development of the H-bomb.

"As a compassionate human I could understand the reason for the advice," Acheson said, "but as a public official I had to reject it and support the development."

In foreign affairs, Acheson said, an excess of moral and ethical ideas can lead to a preoccupation with how a country does things rather than what a country does.

"This is a major pitfall of moralists in government," he said, adding, "cautiously, we are surviving by using threats of death against those who threaten to topple our system."

Manitobans Buy Victoria Lumber Firm

Shawnigan Lumber Company, one of the oldest lumber firms in Victoria, has been sold to a group of Winnipeg businessmen headed by K. E. Dickson.

The sale was completed Wednesday and the new owners will take over the business on Jan. 5. The purchase price was not disclosed.

Shawnigan Lumber was owned by J. W. Dalziel, president; Fred Hawes, managing director; George Thornberry, secretary, and Mrs. E. K. Dalziel, director.

EMPLOYS 26

Mr. Hawes said Mr. Dickson does not anticipate making changes in the personnel or policy of the firm, which employs 26 people at its Government Street premises.

Mr. Dickson, the new president, has had previous experience of the lumber business in Winnipeg. He will take up residence in Victoria soon.

Originally known as Shawnigan Lake Lumber Company, the firm was established in the late 1880s by the Munsie family.

The ownership last changed in 1935 when it was purchased from Bill Munsie, son of the founder.

LANDING BY COMPUTER

GENTLY DOES IT . . . . . YOU ARE DOWN SIR

By LON TUCK

The pilot leaned back casually and watched like any other passenger as United Airlines Caravelle Jet N10020 headed for the ground at Dulles Airport in nearby Virginia with no one at the controls.

It was United's first demonstration of the system of landing by computer that will eventually open the way for airline operations in all kinds of weather.

About 3,000 feet over Loudon County, the pilot selected a magnetic direction heading for the right runway, switched on the computer and sat back with everyone else to take in the show.

Viewed inside the plane on closed-circuit television, the computer guided the craft to a localizer beam leading to the runway. Then, with no directions from the pilot, the machine brought down the airplane, constantly judging correct altitude, rate of descent and speed and bringing the craft in line with its decisions.

Just before touchdown, the system raised the plane's nose, closed the throttle and let it settle gently onto the runway. There were three other landings during the morning.

BREAKTHROUGH

Hailed as "the major aviation breakthrough" by Civil Aeronautic Board chairman Alan S. Boyd, who was on the flight, the test showed that computations required for difficult landings can be done more quickly and accurately by computers than by men.

Though the computers can also direct the take-off, they will be used primarily for landings, which officials say are the hardest part of the flight.

In bad weather the system will make possible a computer landing at 100-foot ceiling and quarter-mile visibility. Present manual landing limits are 200 feet and one-half mile.

United will have 130 of the computers in operation within two years. Other companies are expected to follow suit.

New Approach to Friends

CANADA BROKE NEW ground in the field of foreign aid last week when External Affairs Minister Paul Martin completed arrangements with the Inter-American Development Bank whereby this country will extend up to $10 millions in loans to Latin American nations for technical purposes.

This sum is small in comparison with the huge assistance programs of the United States, but it is significant in that it marks a new appreciation of Canadian interest in the affairs of our hemispheric neighbors. The South American republics now join other countries—such as Commonwealth lands in the Caribbean and elsewhere, some African nations, and south and south-east Asian areas coming under the Colombo Plan — as recipients of Canadian aid in one form or another.

The latest loan program will be part of a $50 million loan fund available in 1964-65, and will be devoted to economic, technical and educational projects. Previous aid to Latin America has been extended through the United Nations Technical Assistance and Special Fund programs, or through advances under the Export Credits Insurance Act.

The South American loans will be for lengthy terms at low interest rates and with liberal grace periods. The program was initially announced just a year ago and further clarified last month when Mr. Martin reminded the Commons of the "community of cultural, religious and other interests that we share with Latin America," and the need to "show increasing interest in that part of the world," with its population estimated to reach 600 millions by the end of this century.

The present plan raises Canada's foreign assistance program to between $180 and $190 millions a year. This is still a minor effort in aid to nations needing help, and constitutes less than one-half of one per cent of our Gross National Product. Much of the aid is in the form of loans, which will be repaid, and much represents assisted purchases of Canadian goods and is therefore also out of the "gift" category. But the lack of even this help to Latin America has been an obvious gap in our assistance program, and the latest undertaking therefore opens the door to further recognition.

It is perhaps difficult, in a country laboring under such a large national debt and recurring annual deficits as we are, to champion a greatly increased foreign aid policy. But it is clear that such assistance programs are the key to better conditions in our neighbors' countries and to better relations with them. In this work Canada, with a standard of living that is the envy of nearly every nation, cannot afford to avoid its responsibilities.

Complaints Are Not a Cure

IF THE BURGEONING PUBLIC library controversy stimulates a new interest in this service and leads citizens of Greater Victoria to a better understanding of their rights, privileges and responsibilities in the matter, it will have served a useful purpose.

If the end result is that of earlier and similar controversies — greater public confusion — it will have served no valuable purpose at all.

Saanich's Councillor Gregory Cook, a man with substantial experience on the library board, advances the argument that his municipality should receive branch libraries and a vote on the board in recognition of its present payments for library use. Failing that, he adds, Saanich should give a year's notice and set up its own library system.

As he presents the case, it seems to make sense. But Councillor Cook knows that Saanich can gain a vote on the board by signing an agreement to remain with the board, paying appropriate costs, until 1972 when the last of the debentures under the building issue of 1950-51 are retired.

When he speaks of securing branches in Saanich, he would assist the libary authorities in planning and the public in understanding if he explained who would finance the building or rental of branches — and what the costs would be.

Of course municipalities can break away and set up libraries of their own. But when they do, they can scarcely point to Burnaby's experiment, where limited municipal service is provided to residents who then make outside demands on Vancouver and New Westminster reference and other facilities.

Reeve Hugh Curtis of Saanich offers the best approach to the problem. He discounts the recurring enumeration of problems surrounding service to members and suggests that co-operative efforts be concentrated on meeting the problems.

They can be met. But they will not be met if, instead of constructive action, representatives of different municipalities restrict their activities to complaining that they are unfairly treated.

According to the Law

THE GOVERNMENT OF WEST Germany has reached a wise decision in announcing that the statute of limitations will apply to Nazi war criminal cases and that after July 1 next year no new actions will be started.

While there is a possibility that a few minor criminals will thereby be relieved of any chance of being brought to account for their actions, application of the statute of limitations which dates back to 1871 is the correct constitutional step for the government to take. It is better that a few criminals escape the net than that the law be bent, as it was under the Nazis, to serve the purposes of the government.

It should be noted that while no new cases will be opened after the 20-year statute period has run out, this does not mean that there will be no prosecutions after that time for crimes which have been uncovered and where an indictment has been obtained even if the suspect has not been found. There are about 750 cases pending before the German courts, including that of Martin Bormann, Hitler's right-hand man at the end of the war, who is now believed to be still alive although he was for many years thought to have died when the Russians broke into Berlin. There has been a warrant out for Bormann's arrest since 1961 and the statute of limitations will not run out on his case until 1981.

One of the complicating factors in prosecuting Nazi war criminals, pointed out by State Secretary von Hase in announcing that the statute of limitations would apply, has been that East Germany is known to be in possession of numerous documents relating to war crimes cases but refuses to make them available.

Because of this attitude it is possible that once the statute of limitations has run out, the East German regime will be in a position from time to time to charge that Nazi criminals have gone unpunished in West Germany, citing previously unpublished documents to back up the charge. Despite this danger it is still better, after 20 years, to close the books on new prosecutions as is presented in the German constitution.

A Little Late

MR. DAVIE FULTON'S RECENT advocacy of provincial purchase of E. & N. timberlands falls squarely on the line drawn in 1956 by the late Chief Justice Gordon Sloan, acting as commissioner on forest resources.

Eight years ago the commissioner proposed such action for two main purposes—to make it possible to bring these fine forest stands under sustained yield forestry and to preserve some good timber for the small logger and thus maintain his existence.

Mr. Fulton wants the same.

In eight years, however, several changes have occurred. The E. & N.'s own timber company has come voluntarily under sustained yield, gigantic tracts have been sold to large operators who are not cutting trees in the railway belt prodigally, and many of the small loggers — whose access to the stands was difficult in many regions — have transferred from independent operations to contracting for larger concerns.

In short, integration has come to the industry in this rich Vancouver Island timber belt, and the principles of careful harvesting—not yet sustained yield in all cases — have all but eliminated the prospect of cut-out-and-get-out practices on the lands concerned.

Mr. Fulton's ideas are good, but more than a little late.

—Bierman, Victoria Daily Times.

"What are you going to ask him for . . . as if I didn't know . . . !"

FROM OTTAWA By MAURICE WESTERN

Quebec and 'Delegation'

MR. FULTON'S delegation formula, latterly a subject of considerable controversy in English-speaking Canada, has also provoked an illuminating discussion in Quebec. While the setting of the debate in French Canada is not that with which we are familiar, it is interesting to observe that the same arguments are being pursued to different conclusions.

Western

Although the principle is new to our constitution delegation is a relatively simple concept. If the formula is accepted, provinces will be able in future—subject to certain conditions—to legislate in fields which until now have been reserved exclusively to the central government. Conversely, and subject to similar conditions, Ottawa will have the right to legislate on matters coming within four classes of subjects reserved to the provincial legislatures. In the former, and more controversial case, the requirements are the agreement of four provinces and the consent of Parliament.

Different Interpretations

As we have no experience with delegation, it is not surprising that its utility (or danger) should be variously estimated by different people. On the side of those, in English Canada, who favor it, some suggest that its value in the agreement is chiefly psychological—as reassurance to those who feel that the formula for amending the constitution is excessively rigid—and that it is unlikely in practice to be very much used. Others believe that it will make possible many convenient federal-provincial accommodations not otherwise permissible under our constitution.

The contrary view is that, if such accommodations are possible, we can have no guarantee against other accommodations affecting the essential powers of the federal government and reflecting the inability of the central authority to withstand pressure from powerful provincial coalitions. Co-operative federalism means to Mr. Pearson that the federal government "should not abandon or weaken the power and authority given to it by the constitution which is necessary to enable it to act on behalf of all the Canadian people, who are all represented in Parliament." But can we be sure that it will mean the same to a future prime minister assailed by demands from ambitious premiers?

So the debate goes on in English Canada where there has been, of late, concern over the weakening of federal power relative to that of the provinces. In Quebec, naturally, the concern is different because both parties in that province have long complained about the allegedly excessive concentration of powers in Ottawa. What expectations have been aroused in French Canada by the delegation formula?

Mr. Claude-Armand Sheppard, a lawyer, explains and defends the formula in two scholarly articles appearing in Le Devoir of November 25. He finds it necessary to dispel certain suspicions which have, apparently, been voiced in his province. Some, we learn, have criticized the device as a "manifestation of a desire on the part of the English provinces to prevent, by means of the delegation of federal powers to Quebec, the de facto creation of a French Canadian associate state."

What Mr. Sheppard thinks of the associate state concept, he does not say. But the suspicion, in his judgment, is unjustified.

Delegation might apply to a wide range of subjects; he lists matters such as banking, interest, fisheries and so forth among the classes expressly mentioned in section 91 of the British North America Act and others, such as power over aviation and broadcasting, which have accrued to Ottawa as a result of court decisions.

Critics of the formula in English Canada fear that while Ottawa will possess, in theory, a right to withdraw a delegated power of legislation at any time, it may find in practice that the right is chimerical. Mr. Sheppard makes the same point but uses it to reassure Quebec doubters, saying, "In constitutional law, traditions and customs are often stronger than texts."

The last sentence is beyond challenge. Indeed, this is one of the arguments used in English Canada to justify the requirement of unanimity for many formal constitutional amendments. Theoretically, the federal government is free at present to follow any course it chooses in seeking amendments, but in fact, we are told, a convention has grown up requiring Ottawa to obtain the consent of all provinces before proceeding with a constitutional amendment.

Important Convention

Whether or not this convention is as strong as some suggest, it is clear that conventions do play a great part in our system of government and we may expect them to develop in future as they have in the past. (Thus, some believe that the federal power of disallowance is even now in process of dying from disuse.) Mr. Sheppard evidently foresees the development of a convention that a power, once delegated, will not be withdrawn without consent. Thus he reaches his conclusion that, through the device of delegation, informal though not the less real modifications of the constitution may be achieved.

While this prospect will not reassure those who feel that the country would suffer from the erosion of essential federal powers, it is important to understand what Quebec expects of the delegation formula. There is nothing extravagant about Mr. Sheppard's argument and he is certainly deserving of credit for a thoughtful contribution to the constitutional debate.

No Model for New Nations

THE two nations with the oldest, and in some respects the most successful, forms of democratic government, Britain and the United States, both endured "ordeal by election" in 1964. Looking back on these two major exercises in democratic politics it is comparatively easy, I think, to see why our respective forms of competitive party politics have been so widely rejected by the new nations which have emerged since the war.

In each case our comparatively rich, well-educated and sophisticated political communities have survived the electoral ordeal; but in both situations there were risks involved which might well seem intolerable, even to the most enlightened and liberal-minded of leaders of the newer nations.

To take the U.S. case first; it is easy now to forget the profound shock of Senator Goldwater's nomination, and the extent to which it seemed to represent a major breakdown of the American "model" of democratic politics.

Pattern of Moderation

To a considerable extent that model had been built around the assumption that the nature of two-party competition in the U.S. virtually assured the nomination for the presidency of moderate men who accepted, at least in broad outline, the national consensus which evidently exists in the U.S. on the major issues in domestic and foreign affairs.

Yet by an entirely legitimate exercise in grass-roots proselytising among the Republican Party activists—plus major assistance from his inept opponents among the moderates in the party—Goldwater captured the nomination. Thereafter he set about playing upon every exposed nerve in the American polity: the fear of the Negro advance, the anxieties about the stalemate in the cold war, the exasperation with the cost of big government, and so forth.

Mercifully Goldwater proved to be an inept campaigner; he was no match for President Johnson who, by sheer good fortune, has proved to be one of the most subtle and astute politicians of the 20th century. Mr. Johnson brilliantly consolidated the base of regular Democratic Party support—which Governor Williams' forays into the northern Democratic primaries showed might be vulnerable on the race issue; and he then proceeded to capture the entire middle ground of opinion represented by the independent and moderate Republican vote.

The U.S. electorate, with its long experience of the democratic franchise—and its high standard of living and lack of fundamental economic anxieties—responded with great sophistication on election day. But in how many countries outside the Anglo-American and Scandinavian worlds could one be confident of so satisfactory an outcome to this kind of electoral test?

The risks to which we in Britain were exposed in the course of our election have been of a different sort, in that they flowed directly from our extremely precarious economic and financial situations. And they may seem even more relevant and frightening to the newer countries, which face economic problems even graver than our own.

I do not think that it can seriously be denied that the inevitable struggle for power between the political parties in an election year contributed in a major way to the financial crisis in which we now find ourselves. By clinging to office until the last possible moment, the Conservatives must have realized that the election would take place at a moment of maximum strain for sterling. This was an entirely legitimate operation within the rules of the game—just as were Goldwater's tactics in winning the Republican nomination—and it very nearly paid off in narrow party terms. But it also contributed to the build-up to the most serious financial crisis since 1931.

The day after the election the new Labor Government found itself in office with the support of only 44 per cent of the electorate. This is an anomaly of our electoral system which we have learned to live with, but which seems both preposterous and unworkable in many of the newer countries, where the issue of the "legitimacy" of the ruling authorities is very real.

Even in many other mature democracies the electoral system—involving some variations of proportional representation—would have ensured that, with their narrow base of popular support, Labor would be forced to form a coalition, probably with the Liberals (third party) which could command a working majority in Parliament, and could claim preponderant support in the country.

But the Labor Party, again wholly within the rules of our game, chose to rule alone. Yet in the circumstances the new government felt it had to act—with what now seems inordinate speed—to impress the British electorate with its dynamism and authority, and by implication its right to make an early appeal for a stronger mandate to govern.

Act First, Think Later

Clearly, the exigencies of competitive party politics led the government both to exaggerate the crisis it inherited and to act first and think later in meeting that crisis.

One reason why the Wilson Government's take-over of power this year has been so much less smooth than that of the Attlee administration in 1945, is that the leading figures of the latter had spent four years in the wartime coalition government.

There are many other features of our election which must seem anomalous and unattractive to many of the new countries. For example, to us it is not much more than an amusing irony that, while England in the recent election voted for a Conservative government, the Labor Party, in fact, took power, thanks to its greater strength in Wales and Scotland. Yet there are many countries in which regionalism, perhaps reinforced by tribalism or religion, is much too powerful a factor to be as casually ignored as it can be here.

In rejecting the curious Westminster model of competitive party politics, too many of the new countries have assumed that some form of one-party dictatorship is the only possible alternative.

As Our Readers See It

Ghost Trees

That stuff on the downtown sidewalks of Victoria, B.C., isn't snow. It's evergreen needles. The trees were sprayed with a silver-colored substance, to make them look like something which they are not.

The sight of a natural-looking evergreen tree is apparently abhorrent to all the people who have a hand in decorating the city, for festive occasions. Next year, I suppose we shall see gilt-sprayed petunias in the hanging flower baskets, on this city's lamp posts.

Anything which is natural, for this part of the world, seems to be shunned by the bodies elected to plan and fancify.

What a good thing for some of us that we don't have to rely on the speciousness implanted as artistic decorating.

Holly, which isn't holly, but be-smeared to look like a spurious creation.

What kind of cultural inheritance could such smirchers leave for the future?

Also, the besilvered evergreens which were put up in November, will be dead by Christmas.

AGAINST PHONINESS.

Listless and Boring

Our Canadian Broadcasting Corporation rates an award—for hitting a new low with its first effort of the "Canada 38" documentaries, "The Fraser." For the fanfare that preceded the program and the films itself, little can be said.

When Mr. Willis came on in the beginning, his opening statement implied that we would be seeing an interesting and informative program, of interest more to viewers in far eastern parts of Canada who have never seen this river. Instead we were treated to mumbling and random comments from people who "would never leave the Fraser" and who "know there's gold here—probably the richest vein in Canada," and other such gems of oration.

In summation of the program and the film itself, I would say it was listless, boring, uninformative, and a slow, torturous 50 minutes. Surely a television network giving service to all Canada could have done some research work and background development. Many parts of the Fraser River are unparalleled for beauty; however, did the CBC give any evidence of this? Hardly. A gold miner, the Williams Lake Stampede, and various other efforts toward an appreciable documentary were in vain as no single part of the program could be labelled outstanding; rather, it was a fight as to which part was worst.

If, as Mr. Ouimet says, the government-owned corporation operates better as such than if it were privately owned, he had better back up his statement with something better than "The Fraser."

Free Transport for Aged

While the matter of city bus service is very much to the fore these days, would it not be a good idea to consider some help to our Senior Citizens. This could be by free transportation on off periods of the day to worthy people who are disabled or who live on the outskirts of our cities. These could be taken care of much the same way as our blind are today.

We Victorians, and perhaps all in B.C., like to think we are well ahead of those in the British Isles, and I wonder if this is so when I read the following items in a leading English magazine:

Liverpool—Here pensioners over 70 get free passes for travel on any corporation transport.

Barrow-in-Furness — Pensioners here travel on any bus three days a week.

Glasgow—For several years pensioners in Glasgow have been able to go any distance on corporation transport for one penny.

Coventry—We get 15 shillings worth of twopenny bus tickets free every quarter on production of our pension book.

Incidentally, many prairie cities have privileges on their transportation. For instance, Regina allows Senior Citizens to travel during quiet periods for a small cost of $5 per year.

If it can be done in England and on the prairies, it most certainly can be done in B.C. Most of the older folk, no matter where they come from, have helped to make Canada and B.C. what it is today. Surely it is not too much to ask that the same consideration be given to them as the province gives for good roads for the motorists.

'A Grizzled Fossil at 95'

"HERE I am and still alive.

A grizzled fossil at 95," writes "Jim" Morton in mildly amazed delight at his age and at life generally.

The piece "On My Ninety-fifth Birthday" sets the tone for Mr. Morton's recently published volume "After Ninety—Birthday and Other Poems of a Nonagenarian" (Peninsula Printing Co. Ltd., distributed by Gray's Publishing Ltd., 76 pages).

Jim looks back over nearly a century and comes to the conclusion that he must have been born in paleozoic seas.

"Where Icthyosaurians on the shore
To shredded meat each other tore"
—an age before recorded history.

As he confesses in other verses "after ninety," he's not so spry as he once was. He needs a cane to provide a third leg and give stability to stumbling feet and he wishes science could find a cure for failing eyesight, which bothers him.

But by and large, having run over four score years and ten he's cheered by humanity:

"And yet for all this mental blindness
I've found this old world full of kindness
With hands outstretched from year to year
To lift the load and dry the tear
So I'm still glad to be alive
A living fossil at 95."

So runs the philosophy of Victoria's James Morton, one-time newspaper man, secretary to a renowned British Columbia premier and life-member of the Canadian Authors Association.

A gentle whimsy threads through his rhymes, a cheerful, simple humor.

If any reader would like to know more of the thoughts and feelings of a man within a hand's reach of 100, this book will make interesting reading.—A.H.S.

BETWEEN OURSELVES

By Elizabeth Forbes

Much is said from time to time, in the press, on the air and at organized meetings, about the freedoms we enjoy in this Canada of ours.

Amongst these freedoms is the right to exercise the franchise in the way we see fit. The right to vote as we wish.

We take our freedoms so much for granted that we often completely overlook the fact that the franchise is not a thing to be used lightly.

Not a thing to be shrugged off with the thought that it doesn't matter if one, or two, or perhaps three or more people do not vote.

Put all the ones and twos and threes together and it makes a formidable total. That total may mean that the candidate or candidates you really want to see elected do not make it.

The ones and twos and threes who did not vote may very well be responsible.

Don't let this happen on Saturday in the civic and municipal elections.

★ ★ ★

Make it a point, even if it is a busy day, to GET OUT and VOTE.

How you vote is your own affair. That is a freedom you enjoy in Canada. WHETHER you vote or NOT is of vital interest to those who are running for office.

You registered (or you checked to see if your name was on the lists) a few months ago.

When you did that you fully intended to cast your ballot on election day.

The day has arrived. Don't let the fact that it is close to Christmas give you an excuse to leave it to the other fellow.

Many of you have read questions put to the candidates by the Association of Women Electors (a group dedicated to learning more about civic affairs) and the answers to these questions.

Others have listened to the candidates speak at public meetings. (There's one tonight at 8 p.m. in Jubilee Hall on Fraser Street in Esquimalt, if you're interested.)

You've expressed your opinion as to those you wish to see elected. Don't let it stop at that.

On Saturday, make it a point to get out and vote. If you have a car, take others to vote. Urge your friends to vote.

Don't procrastinate! Don't look out the window and decide it's a good day to go Christmas shopping, or to play golf, or to work in the garden.

Don't say it's too cold, or too wet, or too windy to walk or ride to the polling stations.

★ ★ ★

As I have said . . . how you vote is your own affair. But the fact that in this country it CAN be your own affair creates a responsibility.

If you are registered as a voter, then it is your privilege and your responsibility. So be sure and vote . . . vote . . . vote!

Coupled with the responsibility of exercising your vote is the responsibility of supporting successful candidates in the months that are ahead.

You can only do this if you have an intelligent understanding of the needs and the plans of your community. This, in turn, comes through attending council or municipal meetings and listening to discussion and debate.

★ ★ ★

At first you may be confused. Go several times and you see a pattern forming. Then you really become interested in the way different projects are carefully shepherded along to a successful conclusion.

I hope you'll consider this suggestion seriously and that you'll place it on your "resolutions to be kept" list for 1965. I'll wager you find the experience stimulating and that you'd soon be taking a more active interest in the affairs of your city or municipality.

In the meantime, do remember that Saturday is election day in the city and in all our municipalities.

And, do get out and vote!

Gerald Waring ...REPORTING

OTTAWA—The three faces of Authority, the government, the church and the judiciary, are represented among those in Quebec who upbraid the press for the way it reports the news.

In recent weeks Premier Lesage and Attorney-General Claude Wagner have excoriated "yellow journalism" in connection with the disorders and the police brutality that made the Queen's visit to Quebec a national shame.

Rev. J. L. Brouille, a Catholic Church spokesman as editor of the Jesuit magazine "Actualite," sees Quebecers as "aroused" by journalistic "excesses" of the last few years.

And last week Justice Roger Brossard's report on the provincial royal commission inquiry into the Coffin case censured the press. The report blamed the press for having publicized those charges in Jacques Hebert's book on Coffin that Justice Brossard later rejected as untrue.

★ ★ ★

Those who recall the subservience and even venality of a large part of the Quebec press in Duplessis' day have cause to be a little alarmed that a much freer Quebec press is now under attack by Authority. A free press is the enemy of authoritarianism—and so one wonders if the criticism reflects a perhaps unconscious wish to turn back the clock of freedom in Quebec.

A journalistic "excess" is difficult to define. To the premier and his conservative attorney-general it apparently means telling the truth about Oct. 10, 1964, in big black headlines—and perhaps scaring away tourists and investment dollars. To royal commissioner Brossard it apparently means reporting news of the charges against Authority in the Hebert book without waiting for a court or an inquiry to rule on their validity.

This is not to deny that the ethics of journalism have at times been violated by individual journalists and newspapers. But to me as a journalist the news of Oct. 10 and the Coffin book do not appear to be abuses of press freedom.

★ ★ ★

The Brossard report advocates more severe libel laws, and suggests that journalistic self-control and self-policing should be encouraged by bringing journalists under a Quebec Press Act.

This could mean establishment of a "closed" society of journalists, comparable to the law and medical societies, with statutory power to punish or "disbar" offenders against journalistic ethics. In effect, it would be a board of censors, however non-governmental, and would represent an unconscionable shackle on freedom of the press.

★ ★ ★

Or it could mean an organization like the British Press Council, which has no compulsory or punitive powers, but which is dedicated, with the voluntary co-operation of the British press, to preserve the freedom and character of the press, to investigate and deal with complaints against the press, including the apportionment of blame, to oppose restrictions on the flow of information, and to watchdog the growth of press monopolies.

If the latter is what Justice Brossard has in mind, I would willingly second the proposal. A free press can best perform its democratic function if it is a responsible press, and a sense of responsibility can come only from the press itself. If government tries to dictate what is responsible journalism and what is not, then freedom of the press will suffer and democracy languish.

'May Have to End Queen for Quebec'

TORONTO (CP) — Canada may have to revise its constitution, reconsider its status as a monarchy and accord Quebec special status to stave off national disaster, says Beland H. Honderich, vice-president and editor-in-chief of the Toronto Star.

English Canada must finally and truly "accept the fact that French-Canadians are equal citizens in the Canadian nation," he told the sisterhood of Beth Tzedec Congregation here Tuesday.

"Our constitution is old and may have to be revised. We may have to accord Quebec special status within the Canadian Confederation.

"We may even have to ask ourselves if our continuance as a monarchy is as important as the well-being of the Canadian nation as a whole," Mr. Honderich said. French should be taught in the primary schools, he added.

But more important than such details, he said, is adoption of an attitude that will make English Canada want to do what is necessary to treat French-Canadians as equals.

Supremecy of Blacks Not Solution—King

LONDON (AP)—Martin Luther King, 1964 Nobel Peace Prize winner, called for black and white brotherhood Sunday before a packed congregation in St. Paul's Anglican Cathedral.

He was the first Baptist ever to mount the historic carved pulpit under Sir Christopher Wren's mighty dome. Some 4,000 persons of all races crowded the nave for Evensong.

King said that a doctrine of black supremacy was as great a danger as one of white supremacy. Unless men and nations live together, they will perish together, he said.

"Too many of our white brothers are only concerned with their economic problems, their social status, their political powers and their so-called way of life."

Of his own people, the U.S. Negro clergyman said:

"We must not seek to rise from a position of disadvantage to one of advantage, substituting injustice of one type for that of another.

"God is not interested in the freedom of white, black or yellow men, but in the freedom of the whole human race. All over the world, as we struggle for justice and freedom, we must never use second-class methods to gain it."

King called on the richer nations to think more of the poorer ones or pay the price by eventually perishing with them.

The U.S. preacher, who earlier had breakfast with visiting Prime Minister Lal Bahadour Shastri of India, said the U.S. spends millions of dollars on storing surplus foods. It could be stored free of charge, he suggested, in the wrinkled bellies of India's hungry.

Later, at a press conference, King said the worship in St. Paul's was, he hoped, of some significance for Christendom as a further sign of ecumenical development.

King said he thinks conditions of justice for the Negro in the U.S. are better than they were two years ago. He mentioned Mississippi and Alabama as the only two states still showing determined resistance to integration.

Radiation Studied In Eclipse

Astronomers here are planning to observe a total eclipse of the moon December 18, but will not be taking extensive measurements.

Dr. K. O. Wright of Dominion Astrophysical Observatory said today the observatory lacks equipment to measure the earth's shadow.

"Our work is mostly spectroscopic, which is a study of the radiation of the stars," he said.

In past lunar eclipses, the earth's shadow has measured about 2 per cent larger than it should and west coast scientists are trying to determine why.

Measurements of the earth's shadow were taken here last Dec. 30 by a team from Harvard University but that eclipse was partially obscured by cloud.

The total eclipse will be visible throughout Canada and the rest of North and South America. It will begin at 6:08 p.m. local time and last one hour.

China Pushes From France, Says Thompson

OTTAWA (CP) — Robert Thompson, Social Credit leader, said Wednesday the newly-established Communist Chinese embassy in Paris is playing an important role in a Communist push in Africa.

Mr. Thompson, who returned recently from Africa on an assignment for the Canadian government, told the Carleton University Progressive Conservative Club that the embassy is arranging foreign exchange for vast Red Chinese spending programs.

He also said China has given the "green light" for the Congo troubles to be used as a massive anti-United States campaign.

Mr. Thompson said a "crescendo of violence" is inevitable in Africa until the black majority obtain the power to rule.

In Africa, Mr. Thompson tried unsuccessfully to persuade Congo rebels to free hostages from 14 nations, including Canada.

The Social Credit leader defended his trip, which was criticized by the opposition, particularly the Conservative party.

Probe Opens Tuesday

OTTAWA (CP)—Chief Justice Frederic Dorion of the Quebec Superior Court will open his special inquiry into pribery and coercion charges here next Tuesday, Dec. 15, it was announced Wednesday.

Industrial Bank Loans Increase

OTTAWA (CP)—The Industrial Development Bank ended its fiscal year Sept. 30 with $263,000,000 in outstanding loans to businesses compared with $232,000,000 a year earlier, president Louis Rasminsky said in his annual report today.

It was the 20th year for the IDB, a subsidiary of the Bank of Canada. Since its inception in 1944 it has authorized more than 12,000 loans totalling about $600,000,000. More than half that amount was in the last three years, after the 1961 broadening of IDB powers.

Mr. Rasminsky, governor of the Central Bank, said that in the year just ended the IDB approved 2,083 term loans for $88,100,000 compared with 1,986 loans for $80,000,000 the year previous.

He noted while the bank can arrange other kinds of financing including the guarantee of loans from other sources, direct purchase of a company's capital stock, underwriting agreements and so on, it receives a few proposals for such financing.

In the year ended Sept. 30 the bank authorized nine financing arrangements involving other than term loans. However, the annual report did not identify these arrangements. They brought total financing approvals to a record 2,092.

Loans during the last year ranged from less than $5,000 to more than $1,000,000.

The building will be radiantly heated by 4,000 gallons of anti-freeze flowing through 22 miles of pipe. The mill, completely Canadian made, will begin production early in 1965. (CP Photo.)

CMA HEAD SAYS:

1965 Prospects Promising

TORONTO (CP) — Canada's economy will rise to new heights in 1965, with the Gross National Product expected to increase $2,800,000,000 to $49,000,000,000, A. A. Cumming, president of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, says in a year-end statement.

He adds, however, that an even larger trade deficit with the United States is in prospect and "achievement of a marked reduction in this merchandise trade deficit . . . should be a national objective engaging the attention of us all."

Mr. Cumming says 1964 "has certainly done well by Canada in every important economic respect and, although the world of manufacturing becomes almost daily more competitive, it was in aggregate as good as 12 months as industry and its employees have ever known."

Signs indicated a continuation of high business activity and strength in the year ahead.

"The upward pressure on prices is likely to be maintained because of the vigor of the economy, but both prices and costs should be contained within the limits of productivity improvement and over-all economic growth."

WILL TRIM SALES

He predicts exports of semi-manufactured and fully processed goods will continue to increase, although the import surcharges recently imposed by Britain seem certain to trim sales there.

"After four straight years of sustained expansion it is hardly surprising that some Canadians should be wondering whether the economy wasn't due to slow down at least to catch its breath.

"However the demands of the post-war babies now going to school and approaching marriageable age in record numbers are an extremely buoyant factor and these are almost enough in themselves to avert any serious business downturn in the year ahead."

Large Families Tied To Jobless Picture

WASHINGTON (CP) — There are "strong indications that a disproportionate number of the unemployed come from large families" but nothing is being done to verify this or evaluate its significance, U.S. Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz said Wednesday night.

Wirtz addressed a Canadian-American convention on automation.

The three-day convention concluding today is under the auspices of the 21-nation Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development.

'FACTOR NOT CONSIDERED'

Wirtz was generally interpreted in his remarks about the factors of rising population as indicating that family planning should be considered.

He said it is known that almost half the American youths unfit for military service because of inadequate mental capacity or lack of education come from families with six or more children. But no account was being taken of that or of the fact that the average income of families with five or more children was lower than income for smaller family units.

He noted a recent report that the world's population rises by 65,000,000 annually and that U.S. teen - agers, where unemployment runs at 15 per cent, are entering the labor force in record numbers.

The increase in the numbers of boys and girls aged 18 to 19 who enter the labor force next year, he said, will be greater than for the whole decade of the 1950s.

He added:

"Automation is one factor in the present employment-unemployment situation. The tremendous growth of population is another. A discussion of manpower policy is incomplete without full exploration of the nature and implications of both developments."

Companies Will Test New Alloy

MONTREAL (CP)—Four Canadian companies will combine efforts this winter to test a new aluminum alloy that may prove to be a major improvement in the construction of future railway bulk carrier equipment, it was announced Wednesday.

The project involves two railway tank-type covered hopper cars which have been built for CPR by Marine Industries Ltd., at Sorel, Que. Aluminum Co. of Canada Ltd. supplied the new alloy used in construction of the car bodies.

The alloy is said to be the first of its kind in North America and is designed for use in high-strength welded structures. It was produced by Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. of Canada Ltd.

It has been built especially to resist the corrosive effects of weather, stress and the traffic carried.

If successful the alloy could give Canada's railways and equipment builders an important advantage in the design of bulk freight cars and lead to the opening of new export fields for Canadian metals, the CPR said.

The two 70-ton hopper cars will be put into regular CPR service and will be used during the winter to transport bulk products such as potash, salt, cement, sugar and starch.

Gaels Had No Answer For the 'Leetle Guard'

SPORTS

DOUG PEDEN, Sports Editor

Hal Malone LOOKS AT SPORTS

If you bowl like me (beautiful delivery, working ball, 230 average) this story is not for you. But if you are among the great unwashed having difficulty with your game ("it's so easy—that great big ball and those itty-bitty pins") then tune in on Gordon Baker . . .

Mr. Baker is a plainclothes policeman for the American Bowling Congress. The ABC calls him a "field representative." One of his jobs is to look into villages where the natives who couldn't previously roll their age suddenly come up with scores like the national debt.

GORDON BAKER

"We had a report that in one town in the U.S.—I can't say which — bowlers were knocking off scores of 250-260 like it was a piece of cake.

"I found the alley and watched. These guys were terrific. Faultless approach, smooth delivery, excellent follow through. Frame after frame they would bend the ball into the New York side of the headpin and SPLAT.

"I asked to see the manager. 'Great bowling,' I said. 'You bet,' he said. 'Been that way ever since we put a new fellow to dressing the lanes.'

" 'How's that?'

" 'Oh, he seems to have them just right. He dips a mop in oil and pulls it from the headpin to the foul line, just a little off to the right. Then he takes a buffer and goes at it hard just to the right of the oil.

" 'I see. And what does that do?'

" 'Well, when you let the ball go on the buffed boards it breaks just nicely into the one-three pocket.'

" 'Obviously. But how is it that none of the bowlers I've watched once crossed over the headpin onto the Brooklyn side?'

" 'Ha! Ha! Can't be done. Remember the part about the oil? Every time the ball starts to roll away from the buffed boards the oil stops it. Sort of steers the ball into the strike pocket. Pretty neat, eh?' "

"No," said Mr. Baker. "Not neat. Illegal."

Don't Tangle With ABC, IRS, DLW

The boys with the oil and buffer were told in a homey sort of way what to do with them. You cannot con the ABC any more than you can fool the FBI, the IRS or the DLW (dear little wife).

If your bowl for kicks or bucks you need the ABC like Elizabeth Taylor needs Burton.

In 19 countries, 25,000,000 bowlers pay homage and 70 cents per annum to the ABC. There are ABC crests and prizes for everything from 300 games to the longest slide on your stomach while still holding the ball.

ABC sanctions tournaments, looks over promoters' shoulders to see that prize money doesn't go into somebody's sock and even watches to see that gutters are the right size.

Gutters?

"Yes," said Baker. "The depth of the gutter can't be less than 3½ inches or more than 3¾. If it's too shallow pins will too easily bounce out, flatten other pins and boost the score. If it's too deep you don't get the pin action you should."

Few Starched Bones In the Gutters

Mr. Baker was here this week to break bread with local associations.

Amateur bowling, on the whole, has been known to get so involved with rules, interpretations and plain orneriness that a battery of Philadelphia lawyers was needed to unravel the wreckage.

Much of the difficulty stems from untrained league officials.

Since the pay is mostly brickbats and lusty sneers, the job often goes to a courageous volunteer.

He faces the challenge equipped with a prayer, a push, a pencil and practically no training.

Victoria, said Baker, has no more outstanding problems than most.

Indeed, it has been observed that gutters in local houses are noticeably free of the starched bones of league presidents, secretaries and team captains.

How to Win Over Alley Managers . . .

Naturally, Mr. Baker was probed for helpful hints.

No respectable bowler is going to be content with a measly 230 average, even if the national average is 154. (Mr. Baker's average is 195 but he doesn't bowl much).

Baker stood his ground well but under relentless pressure he yielded an important secret. ABC, he said, is fussy about alley uniformity.

"We permit a tolerance of only one half inch—41½ to 42 inches—on lane width. The cross-tilt cannot be more than 41/1,000 of an inch and the length-wise tilt must be under 187/1,000 of an inch."

In other words, wet your finger, allow for the wind, and be sure to ask the genial alley manager if his tolerances are right before you let 'er go.

If you're not sure of his tolerance take your glasses off first.

Y'r welcome.

Gallo Directs Haida Victory Over CYO Club

By HAL MALONE

Victoria 91, Vancouver CYO 79

"That leetle guard, No. 55, he keel us. Veree headee," Enrique Crame was saying.

"My little guy is a great team player. Best small man in the league. He gets hoops when you need them," said Howie Tooby.

Crame (say it "Cray-mee") is a Spanish gentleman who coached the Philippines' international team and now guides Vancouver CYO Gaels.

Tooby is headmaster of Victoria's Haida Chiefs.

The subject of their mutual admiration was Michael Gallo, guard. There is no minimum size for guards in the Inter-City Basketball League but when you first look at Gallo you think "this is ridiculous."

Gallo is keg-chested, almost top-heavy. He can walk under any five-eight doorways without ruffling his hairdo. A pygmy among human telephone poles Gallo was the catalyst Wednesday night in Chiefs' 91-79 conquest of CYO.

Pete Pots Thirty

He wasn't the Chiefs' foremost gunner. Peter Simmonds, the league's most prolific marksman, had 30. Bill Wilson, having one of his better nights, wheeled in 16.

Gallo checked in with 12, the same as Darrell Lorimer. But Gallo set up at least 15 field goals, directing traffic like a Paris policeman and firing sure, slick passes. On three occasions, seemingly smothered, Gallo made plays and sent passes that so amazed his receivers they flubbed opportunities.

Gaels had no answers for Gallo. Or Simmonds.

The visitors didn't decide until four days before the season began that they would enter the league. They played their first game without a coach and then secured the soft-spoken, patient Crame.

Great Inexperience

They fight each other for rebounds, often throw the ball away as if it was stolen property and regularly take shots which miss the target by the girth of Sophie Tucker.

"My boys," said Senor Crame, putting the case plainly, "have zee great inexperience. Zey do not know each other yet. It takes three years to build zee basketball team.

"We have lots of time," he added. Winking . . . "we weel need it."

The Senor has a bare nucleus. Brian Adams, a junior graduate with a silky touch, hit for 20 points. Gordon Henley, bespectacled and tireless, rang up 22. George Carter, a centre with octopus-long arms around the boards, shoved in 23. And then there's Greg Findlay.

Greg Decks Devlin

Findlay is a six-three, 215-pound slab of muscle and brawn, an offensive end with the B.C. Lions. He did not score any baskets in his first game of the season but he made a big impression on Chiefs' John Devlin.

Searching for a rebound, Findlay executed a magnificent Immelman which accidentally caught Devlin around the windpipe.

For a few seconds Devlin was stretched horizontally but he staggered to his feet and carried on, more appreciative of how Hamilton Tiger-Cats felt last Nov. 28.

The victory hoisted Chiefs into a second-place tie with Vancouver Bakers. Chiefs have not lost a league game at home. Alberni Athletics may have something to say about that here Saturday.

But they will have to stop Gallo first.

VANCOUVER CYO—Brian Adams 20, George Henley 22, George Carter 23, Harry Glasswick 10, Paul Wynn 2, John Dumont 2, Greg Findlay. Total 79.

VICTORIA CHIEFS — Pete Simmonds 30, Bill Wilson 16, Darrell Lorimer 12, Mike Gallo 12, John Devlin 7, John McKeachie 6, Jim Cunningham 4, Ed Steele 2, Chuck Bennett 2, Bill Spotswood, Bob Tomlinson. Total 91.

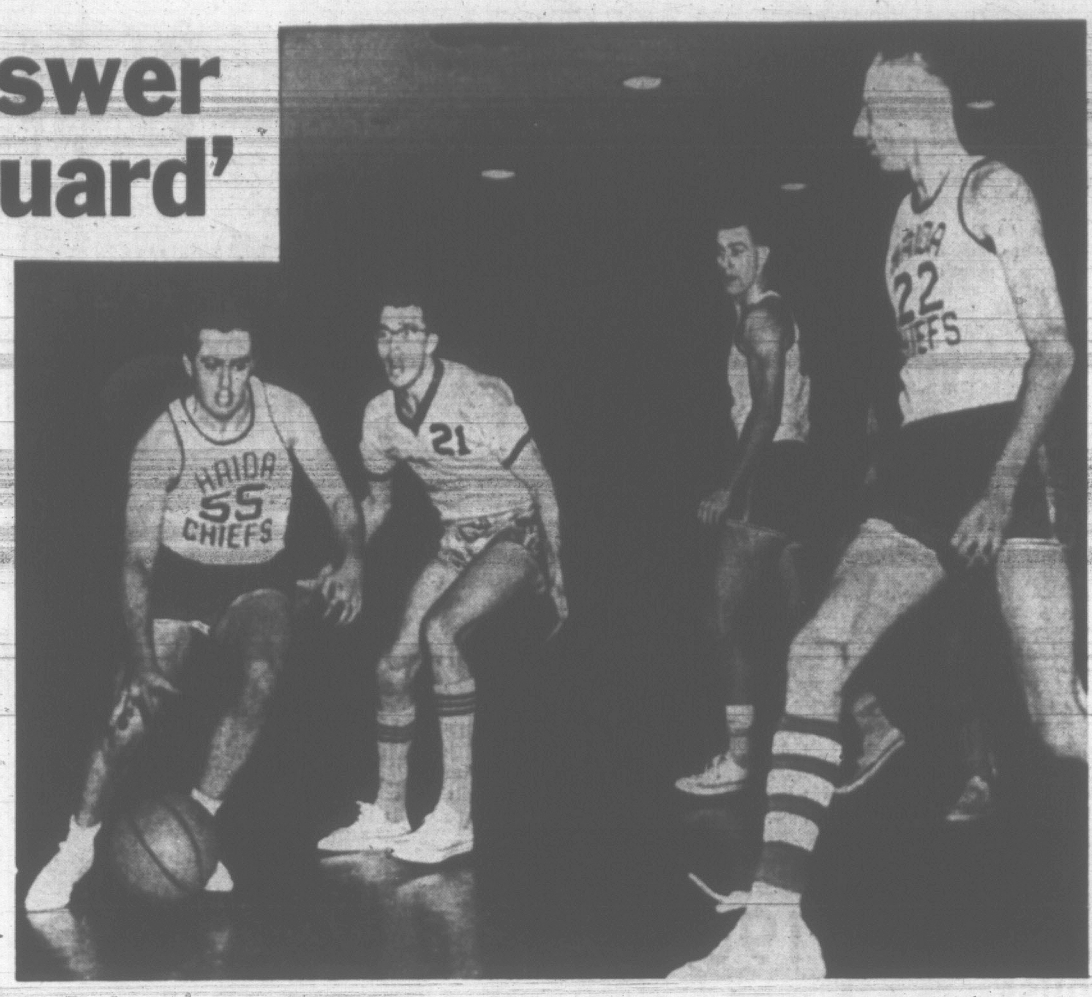
WALES ELIMINATED

ATHENS (AP)—Greece defeated Wales 2-0 in an elimination World Cup soccer game. Greece led 1-0 at half-time.



ALL EYES WERE ON THE 'LEETLE GUY'

Hawks Heed Warning, Clobber Rangers 6-1

By Canadian Press

When the man who signs the pay cheques starts complaining, those who cash them had better start working. And the Chicago Black Hawks don't need to be told that twice.

"This situation no longer is funny," team owner and paymaster Jim Norris said recently. "We're going to make some moves if things don't improve."

Like magic words, the blast from the boss shook the Hawks out of a five - game winless streak Wednesday night. While Montreal edged Toronto 3-2 to take second place in the National Hockey League, Chicago trimmed New York Rangers 6-1.

When Norris lowered the boom, he singled out the poor play of Kenny Wharram, John McKenzie, Stan Mikita and the Hawks defence. He couldn't find fault, of course, with Bobby Hull's 20 goals in 21 games.

While Hull took a temporary vacation from his goal - scoring spree, his teammates snapped out of their slump. Wharram scored twice, Mikita got two assists, McKenzie added another and three players, Fred Stanfield and defencemen Al MacNeil and Doug Mohns, connected for their first goals of the season.

HULL BOOSTS LEAD

Hull recorded three assists to increase his point - total to 29 and his scoring lead to four points over Mikita and Detroit centre Norm Ullman.

The Hawks, with Denis DeJordy in nets in place of vacationing Glenn Hall, played a strong defensive game as well and allowed New York only 17 shots before 15,197 Ranger fans. It was sweet revenge for New York's 4-1 win in Chicago last Sunday.

After a scoreless first period, Wharram's sixth of the year sent Chicago ahead and Stanfield, killing off a penalty to McKenzie, increased the margin when he broke up New York's power play and beat goalie Marcel Paille with a 50-foot slapshot.

Rod Gilbert got that back while McKenzie was still sitting out his minor, but the Hawks erased any Ranger hopes with a four-goal third period. Paille, facing 38 shots, also fanned on MacNeil's 40-foot slapshot.

CHECK COMEBACK TRY

Gilles Tremblay's seventh of the season, scored while Montreal was a man short, was the decisive goal as the Canadiens jumped ahead 3-1 in the second period and then held off a furious Toronto comeback try in the finale.

Claude Provost and Dave Balon, both set up by Henri Richard, sent the Habs in front 2-0 in the first period and Ron Stewart tallied for the Leafs. Tremblay scored in the second, breaking up Toronto's power play and racing in alone on goalie Terry Sawchuk.

Don McKenney put the Leafs right back in the game at 13:45 of the Toronto - dominated third frame, but Charlie Hodge then locked the door.

Hodge, who stopped 25 shots, was exceptionally good in the third as the Leafs pinned the Canadiens in their own end and scrambled around the Montreal net with a Toronto crowd of 14,176 yelling for blood. He turned back everything but McKenney's picture goal.

The game saw the return of Frank Mahovlich, who had missed 11 games.

Bob Shaw Agrees To Argo Contract

TORONTO (CP)—The Globe and Mail says head coach Bob Shaw of Saskatchewan Roughriders has verbally agreed to sign a two-year contract at $20,000 a year to coach Toronto Argonauts of the Canadian Football League.

The coaching spot became vacant three weeks ago when Nobby Wirkowski was fired after leading the team to two fourth-place finishes in a row.

Shaw returned to Regina Wednesday night after talking to Argos managing director Lew Hayman for several hours.

Hayman said no one had been signed and he may talk to another candidate for the position Friday.

Hayman said he has already interviewed Jim Champion, defensive coach of British Columbia Lions, the Grey Cup champions, and Joe Restic, assistant coach of Hamilton Tiger-Cats, defeated Grey Cup finalists.

"There will possibly be another interview by the weekend, but that's not definite," Hayman said. He did not name the possible fourth candidate.

BIG OFFER REPORTED

In Regina, it was reported Wednesday that Shaw would be offered a three-year contract with Argos at a larger salary than he is making with Roughriders.

Shaw, who still has a year to go on a two-year contract with the Roughriders, said in an interview before leaving for Toronto:

"In view of the added money and opportunity I would be foolish not to investigate the opportunities available in Toronto."

President Bob Kramer of the Roughriders said Shaw had been given permission to deal with Argos.

Chuck Holmes Joins Totems

SEATTLE (AP) — Chuck Holmes, 30, a right winger, has been acquired by the league-leading Seattle Totems of the Western Hockey League from Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League, a Detroit Red Wing farm club.

The deal sends Billy Carter, a part-time performer here, to Memphis of the Central League.

'MORE OR LESS'

Piersalls Reconciled

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Outfielder Jimmy Piersall of Los Angeles Angels and his wife apparently have ironed out their difficulties and expect a reconciliation, Mary Piersall said Wednesday.

Mrs. Piersall, 36, filed a suit in Superior Court here Tuesday asking for separate maintenance and accused the 35-year-old outfielder of extreme cruelty.

Reached by telephone Wednesday, Mrs. Piersall said they were "more or less" reconciled and that she was "sure everything will work out."

The Piersalls have nine children. The couple married in Scranton, Pa., Oct. 22, 1949, and separated a week ago.

Redskin Rookie Didn't Miss

NEW YORK (AP)—Charley Taylor, tagged as a "can't miss" prospect when he was drafted No. 1 by Washington Redskins last year out of Arizona State, has been named rookie of the year in the National Football League by an Associated Press panel of sports writers and sportscasters.

Taylor, six-foot-three and 210 pounds, was voted the most valuable player in the college all-star game at Chicago in August and was outstanding in the all-America game earlier at Buffalo.

With the Redskins, the 23-year-old halfback has been equally successful as a runner and pass catcher. In fact, he will be the first rookie since Johnny Grigas of Chicago Cardinals in 1943 to rank among the top 10 in both rushing and receiving.

Hudson Sparkles

Goaltender Bill Hudson sparked Mercury Marine to a 3-1 victory over Yarrows Wednesday night in Stuffy McGinnis Hockey League action at Memorial Arena.

It was the second win of the season for Mercurys.

Seals Leave Cellar

Defeat Bucks To Snap Tie With Victoria

By The Canadian Press

Seattle Totems remain the front-runners in the Western Hockey League but it's nip and tuck between Vancouver Canucks and Portland Buckaroos for second place.

Canucks broke open a tight game with a four-goal salvo in the final period Wednesday to defeat the Blades 5-2 at Los Angeles.

The victory moved them into a second-place tie with the Bucks who lost 3-2 to San Francisco Seals.

The Seals now are in fifth place in the six-team league, ahead of Victoria Maple Leafs.

Len Haley picked up a rebound and scored the winning goal for the Seals in the final three minutes. Tom Thurlby scored the first Seal goal in the first period and Ed Panagabko added the other in the second.

OLD PROS CONNECT

Art Jones, playing his 500th Western Hockey League game, got one of the Portland markers and Arnie Schmautz the other.

Bob McCusker opened the scoring for Vancouver in the game at Los Angeles. Willie O'Ree tied it up for the Blades in the third after a scoreless second period.

But then the Canucks put on the pressure with high-scoring Buddy Boone and old pro Phil Maloney connecting. Howie Young got that one back at 19:02, Canucks sealed things up with a goal from Bruce Carmichael at 19:28.

No Headhunting, Pliz Asks NHL's Campbell

MONTREAL (CP)—Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League, said Wednesday the Russians should be encouraged to play hockey and not be given the impression that "we are going headhunting for them."

Campbell was discussing the appearance here Friday of Russia's national hockey team in a game against Montreal Junior Canadiens who will be bolstered for the contest by six professional players from the American Hockey League.

"I'm trying to encourage the Russians to play the game," Campbell said, "not trying to prove the point that we can knock them around. Anybody prepared to adopt 'our' game should be encouraged. . . ."

It will be the first time the Russians will come against Canadian professional players of the calibre of defenceman Doug Harvey and goalie Gump Worsley.

All six pros from the Quebec Aces, eastern division leaders in the AHL, have NHL experience. One of them, Red Berenson, has played against the Russians before.

Pirates Buy Cub Shortstop

CHICAGO (AP) — Andre Rodgers, regular Chicago Cubs shortstop the last three seasons, was sold to Pittsburgh Pirates Wednesday for an undisclosed sum and a minor league shortstop.

The player obtained by the Cubs, Robert Pena, 24, immediately was assigned to Salt Lake City in the Pacific Coast League.

Lions End Safari— 'Fairly Successful'

VANCOUVER (UPI) — While B.C. Lions general manager Herb Capozzi would not say how many players the team has signed, he described as "fairly successful" a week-long U.S. scouting trip just completed.

Capozzi and Lions' head coach Dave Skrien returned to Vancouver Wednesday and Capozzi's only comment was "fairly successful," when questioned as to their ability to come up with some U.S. college name stars.

"We didn't get everything we were after, but in general we were successful. In many respects it was just an exploration tour, and we spent considerable time renewing contacts," the general manager of the Grey Cup champions said.

Tuesday, however, it was revealed the Lions had signed two-way end Stan Napper, an all-Ohio Valley Conference selection from Western Kentucky State College.

Old Bald Eagle May Be at End Of Pro Career

NEW YORK (AP)—The old bald eagle may be at the end of the line.

Saturday's game against Cleveland Browns will be the 176th in the National Football League for Y. A. Tittle, a record for most games played. Bobby Layne's 175 is the old mark.

And although there's much speculation that this may be Tittle's last game, there's no speculation about his status... he's the starting quarterback for New York Giants.

Coach Allie Sherman ended the speculation over whether Tittle or Rookie Gary Wood would start in the key game against the Browns when he tapped Y. A. for the assignment Wednesday.

Tittle, born 38 years ago in Marshall, Tex., isn't saying if he'll hang it up after this game. The general impression is that he will call it a career and settle down with his insurance business in Atherton, Calif.

"I haven't made up my mind definitely," said Y. A. "I will make a decision after the season is over."

This has been a season of frustration for Y. A., the Most Valuable player in the NFL a year ago when he led the Giants to a third straight eastern conference title with a record 36 touchdown passes.

Going into the final game, Tittle has thrown only nine touchdown passes and ranks 15th among the league's passers. In the last two weeks, he has suffered on the bench of a last place team while Wood, an ivy leaguer from Cornell, has started.

This is the 15th year for Tittle in the NFL and his 17th as a pro, counting two years with Baltimore in the old All-American Conference in 1948 and 1949. The trail has taken him from Baltimore to San Francisco '49ers and, after the shotgun offence made him obsolete in San Francisco, back east to New York.

Although Tittle was injured early in the season when crushed to the turf by John Baker, Pittsburgh Steelers' huge defensive end, he says he feels good physically now.

"I understand why I had to sit out some games," he said. "We aren't winning. And Gary has proved to be a pretty good ball player. If I did come back another year, I wouldn't come as a part time player."

BOWLER OF WEEK

Bank cashier Jane Humber registers as Times' Bowler-of-the-Week for the second straight year. Jane, who has been bowling for only three years, has captured women's tenpin award with 136-233-213—582 series in Ladies' Major League at Aurora Lanes. It qualifies her for spot in Times' Bowler-of-the-Year rolloff in May.

Mainland League Fans Old Soccer Argument

VANCOUVER—Officials of the Mainland Senior Soccer League are blowing fresh wind into the sails of an old controversy.

Mainland League executives are threatening to boycott the Province Cup competition unless the B.C. Soccer Commission abolishes the seeding system that gives Pacific Coast League teams a bye into the quarter-finals.

Coast League teams draw byes in the first three rounds of the provincial playoffs.

The Mainland teams, together with other entries, including Vancouver Island, get no such preferred treatment.

'SECOND FIDDLE'

PCSL teams have been the power of the Pacific since 1951.

"We're tired of playing second fiddle to the Coast League," said Bill Coleman, president of the MSSL. "We knock ourselves out in the preliminary rounds and are easy prey for the Coast Leaguers."

Coleman, representing 58 teams in five divisions in the Vancouver and Fraser Valley areas, asks that the cup executives abolish the seeded draw.

The soccer system certainly needs reviewing.

UNITED USUALLY ALOOF

Although Victoria District League teams have entered the competition in past years, Victoria United of the Coast League has consistently ignored the province-wide battles.

The main reasons given in the past were: 1, the competition is "a losing proposition," and 2, the lengthy, dragged-out playoffs created "park problems" in Victoria.

With a new executive at the helm of the Victoria PCSL team this year, it's possible United may reconsider its policy.

United, incidentally, is sponsoring a meeting that will deal with the subject of a proposed new park.

ACTION MEETING

"This concerns the future of soccer in Victoria," said R. E. Southern, United's president.

It has been five weeks since fire destroyed the major portion of the stands at Royal Athletic Park and, says Southern, "It is time . . . to establish the intent of the city in respect to the Athletic Park."

Soccer, he adds, is losing patronage because of inadequate facilities.

The meeting will be held in the Naval Vets Hall on Broad Street at 8 p.m. Monday.

MEET NAVY FRIDAY

Are the Pontiacs Finally on Move?

As the puck moves, so move the Esquimalt Pontiacs.

Pontiacs, who have been in the Esquimalt Hockey League for the last three years, have been having their troubles this season. Most of their woes, believes manager Joe Iannarelli, have been invested because the Pontiacs haven't been passing the puck in their old style.

"We have more older players than any other club in the league," Iannarelli commented Wednesday. "We need good passing to play our best and through most of this season we haven't been making the puck move enough."

The Pontiac picture changed last Friday. Joe's boys hit their stride for the first time this season. They were skating better and passing was greatly improved. It appeared the club was finally on the move in a bid to challenge the front-running Uvic Vikings as they bombed Navy 6-2.

"I was greatly impressed by the way they played in that game," Joe observed.

Victory boosted Esquimalt into a second-place tie with Navy and Friday night Iannarelli will find out if last week's effort is going to become a habit. Pontiacs and the sailors tangle at 8 in a struggle for sole possession of the runner-up berth.

Working for Esquimalt will be the league's leading scorer — Wayne Anderson, who is setting the pace in goals (seven), assists (nine) and points (16).

Another Pontiac, Joe Iannarelli, Jr., shares second place with Jim Haggerty of Vikings, four points behind Anderson.

BAILEY PICKS BEST

'Bob Marlow? He Would Bite You on Kneecap'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Byron (By) Bailey, who has spent the last 11 years ramming for touchdowns or preventing others from doing just that, has picked an all - time Western Football Conference all-opponents team.

At the request of The Sun, Bailey—who retired after helping British Columbia Lions win the 1964 Grey Cup—ticked them off.

His qualifications? Bailey was an all-conference fullback before age—he's 34—turned him into a defensive halfback.

He played through the mid-50s when Edmonton Eskimos were the kings. He was still there when the crown passed to the Winnipeg Blue Bombers and on to the Lions.

His offensive unit:

Ends—Bud Grant, Winnipeg: A great pass receiver . . . tremendous blocker and team player. Ernie Warlick, Calgary: Big target with fine hands and good speed.

THE GREATEST

Tackles—Frank Rigney, Winnipeg: Exceptional blocker with plenty of . . . hustle downfield. Martin Ruby, Saskatchewan: Really big man who went both ways. In his day probably the best lineman in Canadian football.

Guards—Tony Pajaczkowski, Calgary: Real speed and the important ability to stay on his feet when leading blocking for a sweep. Harry Langford, Calgary: Whale of a straightaway blocker.

Centre—The late Mel Beckett, Saskatchewan: An import centre in a day when most teams used Canadians at centre. Killed in an air crash just when he was reaching full potential in 1956.

Quarterback — Jackie Parker, Edmonton: I've just got to name him. He could do so many things to kill you out there.

Halfbacks—Leo Lewis, Winnipeg: Consistently a top back throughout his career. Earl Lindley, Edmonton: Most underrated back ever to play here. Alternate—Ken Carpenter, Saskatchewan: He would have been a great flanker.

CRUSHING RUNNER

Fullbacks — Johnny Bright, Edmonton: A crushing runner. Normie Kwong, Edmonton: Outstanding blocker who helped Bright and a great runner himself.

Defensive Team:

Ends—Herb Gray, Winnipeg: Kept coming at full throttle. Gordon Sturtridge, Saskatchewan: Killed with Beckett. Would have been all-time great.

Tackles—Bud Tinsley, Winnipeg: Consistently rough, tough. Bill Clarke, Saskatchewan: Few as smart and agile.

Middle guard—Ron Atchison, Saskatchewan: Ferocious competitor.

Linebackers—Bobby Marlow, Saskatchewan: He'd bite you on the kneecap to stop you. Wayne Harris, Calgary: Amazing for his size. Garner Eckstran, Saskatchewan: Very hard to block out.

Defesive halfbacks—Harvey Wylie, Calgary: Smart, good speed and reactions. Rollie Miles, Edmonton: One of the best backs ever to come to Canada. Larry Isbell, Saskatchewan: Great two-way ability and fine punter. Oscar Kruger, Edmonton: Even if he likes to hit a little late, he still is one of the best.

SHULA VOTED BEST COACH

NEW YORK (AP) — Don Shula's job of leading Baltimore Colts to the Western Conference title of the National Football League in his second year as head coach earned him recognition today as the league's coach-of-the-year by The Associated Press panel.

Shula, 34, won by a landslide in the voting. The Baltimore coach had 38 votes to three for Blanston Collier of Cleveland Browns.

The 1963 winner was George Halas, owner-coach of Chicago Bears.

DUNCAN MAKING PLANS TO ENTER GRID LOOPS

Duncan is taking the football plunge.

The newly formed Cowichan Minor Football Association has decided to enter juvenile and bantam teams in Island leagues next year.

The juveniles, aged 16 to 19, will compete with three Victoria teams, Nanaimo and Campbell River.

Pro-tem officers of the association which will hold its first annual meeting Jan. 18 in the Duncan Legion Hall are Mel Massey, president, and Bob Berry, vice-president. The association has 24 members.

MacLeod Enjoys Edge For Final Medal Meet

The edge belongs to Ron MacLeod as the district's leading golfers prepare for the last of the three-round fall medal series.

The wrapup round will be played Sunday at Victoria Golf Club, starting at 10 a.m.

MacLeod, Jasper Park Lodge pro who plays out of the Oak Bay club in the winter, holds a two-stroke lead over Bill Wakeham and is slightly favored to win the three-round aggregate.

10:00—R. MacLeod, Bigelow, Pellow, Evans.
10:08—Wakeham, Boden, Flannagan, Munn.
10:16—Carroll, Heggie, Kent, V. Trapp.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1964—PAGE 13

Arthur Mayse

There's little use fighting the Christmas influence any longer; a decision which I came to the other day, and acted on by phoning School District 61 music supervisor Harry Bigsby.

What I had vaguely in mind was that it would be nice to listen to a bunch of little kids practicing for a Christmas concert.

Mr. Bigsby relayed me on to principal Stewart Taylor of Doncaster Elementary, a school which out of an 800-plus student population can field 30 violonists, an excellent senior choir which we won't visit today, and a 70-voice junior choir which we will.

When I arrived at musical Doncaster at Cedar Hill and Rowan, Mr. Taylor was dealing with a mouse-sized lad in a pepper-and-salt tweed coat who stood solidly planted in the noon-hour rush along a corridor.

"I think you should be going that way," principal Taylor directed the traffic block with grave courtesy.

★ ★ ★

He then established me in a chair at the back of Doncaster's music room, alongside a table of cardboard rounds to which various shapes and sizes of macaroni had been glued. To a brisk tune later identified as "Brownie's work is never done," he marched back to his office.

The music room was light and airy, gay with examples of student art-work. At the front were several illustrations of musical instruments in color, and a piano which at the moment lacked a pianist.

This did not deter the junior choir in the least. The 62 boys and girls (some of the choir are away with colds) were singing sweet and true, sopranos intact except for one boy who had strayed into alto country.

Junior choir leader Mrs. Marie Milley, who teaches academic subjects until 11 each school day morning, fitted the soprano back in place, then went to the piano and struck a note to establish the key.

We proceeded tunefully, the boys and girls arranged in a loose crescent, Mrs. Milley directing. While I listened with one furtive foot thumping the beat, I realized that here was no casual assembly but disciplined voices-in-training.

★ ★ ★

When the toymaking brownies had finished their stint, we tackled what I suspect to be the big number of three the choristers will offer in their "Christmas Fantasy."

This one is called "Parade of the Toy Soldiers." We sang it with zest and gusto—more precisely, they sang and I hummed—with the further assistance of a pianist who had by now slipped in to join us.

Vocal practice over, the choir's instrumentalists worked out with recorders, chime bells, auto harp, and piano played by a sturdy boy called Peter.

All presently was drowned out by the nerve-shattering klaxon our schools insist on using to bray the end of a period.

"You've done splendidly," Mrs. Milley told her charges, and I'm proud of you."

★ ★ ★

A couple of girls, both destined to turn heads in a few years, came over. One introduced herself as the voice of a cat which utters several convincing meows during one of the songs. The other told me the cardboard-and-macaroni rounds are Christmas wreaths, and will be sprayed with gold paint.

Mr. Taylor joined me in the doorway.

"Did you get what you wanted?" he asked, and I told him indeed I had.

We strolled toward his office, meeting on the way a young lady teacher with a wooden sword which I learned a toy soldier will carry in the parade. The teacher was concerned about the way the silver came off on her hand. Mr. Taylor, a principal who takes school problems great and small in stride, suggested a coat of shellac.

The concert in which the junior choir of eight to 11-year-olds will present their tuneful fantasy will be held in Doncaster's auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 16.

From the sample given, I predict that cats 'will meow, swords flash and costumed Brownies perform to perfection.

JINGLE BELLS solo is performed by Salvation Army's Major Austin Millar today as he readies "kettles" for annual fund drive for Christmas and Winter Relief Fund. They go on the street Friday. Last year they took in $9,100. Army is praying for $10,000 this year. Residents of Harbor Lights Mission ponied up and put a penny in each pot to start the drive. Four volunteers will serve each kettle alternately.

Socred MLA Asks Car Insurance Probe

Gov't Scheme Urged To Offset High Cost

Large increases in B.C. car insurance premiums announced recently were bitterly criticized by Social Credit Whip Bert Price today.

"I think the situation demands a study of the feasibility of establishing a government insurance program in the province," the Vancouver-Burrard MLA said in a telephone interview.

He said successive boosts of the past few years "must mean there is too much profit somewhere along the line."

"I read recently that there is a $7 million difference between the total premiums collected and the total claims paid out. That's a pretty big difference."

Mr. Price said a newly-established traffic victims indemnity fund, which will result in a minimum $50,000 public liability coverage starting in April, will go a long way towards filling a gap in private coverage plans.

But he still felt that enough gaps occur in present insurance programs — despite constantly rising premiums—that the government should take a serious look at the situation.

"I've always believed that private business is better organized than government to carry on business undertakings of this kind but there is such a thing as beilng too well organized," he said.

"These companies always insist that they are in intense competition with each other but they always seem to have little difficulty in getting together on how much more they will charge."

Court Gives $50 Advice To Lovelorn

Larry Lineham, 110 Menzies, today paid the price of being a lover.

He was fined $50 and lost his driver's licence after pleading guilty to careless driving.

He also got some advice on loving from the magistrate.

Lineham was so busy kissing his female passenger that he didn't even hear the siren of a police car that followed him along Cook Street on the night of Nov. 17.

Crown Prosecutor Peter Birkett said Lineham had driven his car out on Cook and forced the police car to brake. He continued on, changing lanes without signalling and jockeying in and out of traffic.

Mr. Birkett said police saw the girl embrace him a couple of times and that he kissed her three times. When stopped he told police he hadn't seen their red light flashing or heard the siren.

WARNED IN MORNING

Lineham asked police not to give him a ticket because he had been warned only that morning that he would lose his licence if he had any more driving violations. He had been in court that day on a charge of failing to obey a stop sign.

Magistrate William Ostler gave him this advice:

"Being a driver and being a lover both require concentration and can't be done simultaneously. You'll have to decide which you want to be."

Ancient Ruse Nets Ex-Convict New Jail Term

Edward Reynolds, described by the magistrate as a "predatory and vicious person", was sent to penitentiary today for two years.

He pleaded guilty Wednesday to robbery with violence.

Reynolds assaulted a sailor who was lured into a dark alley by a woman early Tuesday morning. Reynolds rifled his victim's wallet and stole a bottle of rum from him.

Magistrate William Ostler told Reynolds: "You and your female companion used an ancient ruse . . . on the theory that a hungry fish is oblivious to the hook."

The woman, Hazel Rafter of Nanoose Bay, also pleaded guilty to the charge Wednesday. She will be sentenced Dec. 15 after a pre-sentence report is prepared.

Magistrate Ostler told Reynolds that he took into account the man's record. Reynolds had been convicted of several offences including assault causing bodily harm.

A third person charged in the case, Roy Volden, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

British Gov't Plans Exhibit At B.C. Fair

The British government has agreed to put an exhibit in the 1967 B.C. International Trade Fair, it was announced today.

Provincial officials arranging the fair were jubilant because invitations to foreign governments went out only a week ago.

Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Loffmark noted the British exhibit in previous affairs has been a leader in its field.

"This early indication of intentions is clear evidence of the importance attached to the B.C. International Trade Fair by the province's many trading partners," said Mr. Loffmark.

Motor Cyclist Held on Wrong Side of Road

A motor cyclist killed in an accident on Esquimalt Road Dec. 2 had a blood alcohol count of .14 per cent, Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre has announced.

Mr. St. Jorre conducted an inquiry into the death of Harry Ashcroft, 41, of 2024 Belmont. He said he found Ashcroft was killed by operating his motorcycle on the wrong side of the road.

Mr. Ashcroft died instantly after a head-on crash with a car. Mr. St. Jorre said no inquest will be held into the fatality.

The coroner said there is no need for an inquest because "it is a clear cut case. Absolutely no blame can be attached to the driver of the car."

Mr. St. Jorre said the dead man's blood showed an alcohol content of .14 per cent. Experts consider a driver to be impaired at .15 per cent. Mr. Ashcroft had been pensioned out of the army in August, 1963. He was not married.

GASOLINE STORAGE LEAK

Tide Carries Away Harbor Fire Scare

An ebb tide this morning carried out to sea several hundred gallons of gasoline that overnight created a fire hazard in Victoria Harbor.

The gas seeped into the harbor from a leak in an Imperial Oil storage tank.

Fire Chief John Abbott said today it is not known exactly how much gas got in the water but authorities took no chances.

A Royal Canadian Navy fire tug was brought to the harbor entrance and it stood by overnight in case the gasoline in the water was ignited.

WARNING ISSUED

Harbormaster Ronald Newell issued a warning to all craft in the area to make sure crew members didn't throw even a cigarette butt overboard.

He said the smallest light might have touched off a fire. But this morning Chief Abbott said the hazard is gone completely.

The danger was first noted Wednesday afternoon after the tanker Imperial Vancouver unloaded 500,000 gallons of gasoline.

Company officials noticed another tank was leaking and decided to empty its contents into the Imperial Vancouver. The transfer of 100,000 gallons was completed shortly after nightfall but by that time at least 200 gallons had leaked away.

The gas filtered down through the ground and into the harbor.

Chief Abbott said the danger was that the incoming tide would carry the gasoline into the harbor and around creosoted pilings that are highly inflammable.

The fire chief said the hazard disappeared when an outgoing tide carried the gas away.

Officials said no one knows how the seepage occurred. It apparently began in the base of the storage tank. Harbor officials are investigating why the retaining wall did not keep the gas out of the water.

ADVANCE POLL GETS ONLY 10 'CUSTOMERS'

Ten votes were cast in the first 12 hours of operation of Victoria City's advance poll.

The three-day advance poll first in Victoria history—was instituted at the insistence of a few, although past demand had been slight, according of returning officer Frank Hunter.

The poll is for persons who declare by signed statement they will be absent from the city polling day.

Election day is Saturday and the polling place is Victoria Ballroom, Government at Cormorant, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eligible voters number 20,245.

Pay for School Trustees Justified By Time, Type Of Service Job Demands

The voluntary aspect of serving as school trustee has "passed into limbo," former Greater Victoria school board member Richard Reeve said today.

A trustee for 14 years and life member of B.C. School Trustees' Association, Mr. Reeve said board members should be "at least reasonably paid."

He amplified an earlier remark by ex-alderman Frank G. Mulliner, who also served as school trustee for 11 years.

"It is such an important job . . . we should have the best type of person in office. If it is necessary to pay them, then let's do so," Mr. Mulliner said.

He deplored the lack of candidates for school trustee in annual elections Saturday. There were two vacancies and only one candidate nominated, for the first time in at least 37 years.

"The job has grown so much that few people can give this amount of time," Mr. Reeve said. "In my own case it was interfering with my income, and I was spending little time with my family.

"It is a severe financial loss for anyone who does school trustee work.

"It is true today that what you used to say thank you for you now pay 50 cents for. The voluntary aspect—along with some of the other pleasant things of life—has passed into limbo," Mr. Reeve said.

The question of pay for school trustees is "perennial," he noted. A resolution on the subject goes regularly before the annual meeting of the trustees' association.

"Certainly I feel that if there is justification for payment of aldermen, the role of school trustee is just as onerous, and there is equal justification for payment of trustees," Mr. Reeve said.

Teachers' Salary Arbitration Hearing Dec. 18

Victoria lawyer Gerald Sullivan has been named chairman of a three-member arbitration board to settle salary terms of a 1965 Greater Victoria teachers' contract.

The board will hear submissions of Greater Victoria school board and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association at 10 a.m. Dec. 18 at Craigdarroch Castle.

Deliberation of arbiters is expected to begin that night. Other members of the board are lawyer Kenneth Murphy, nominated by school trustees, and Mrs. Hazel Hodson, a retired school teacher nominated by GVTA.

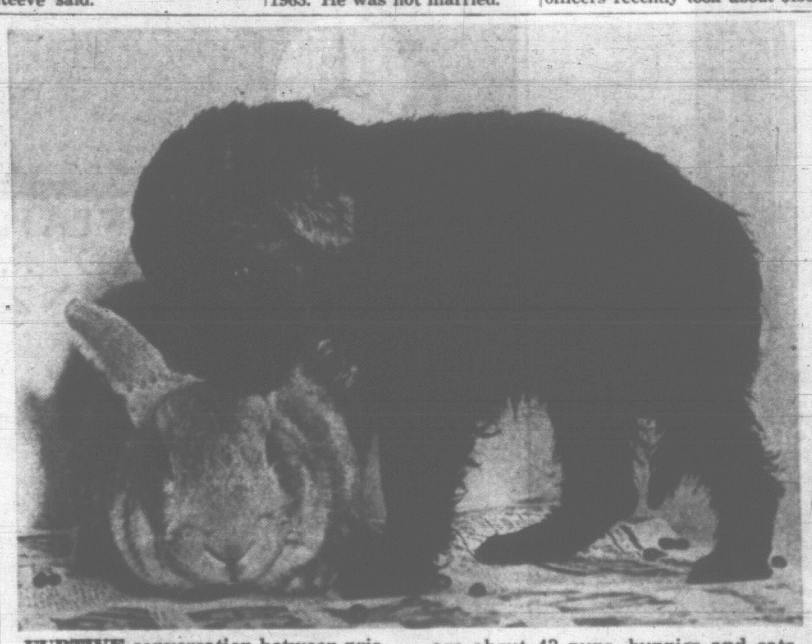
Mr. Sullivan is also serving as arbitration chairman for salary settlements in Kitimat and other Mainland areas.

Arbitration Wednesday settled salaries in the Tofino-Ucluelet district, resulting in 5-6 per cent increases in six salary categories and changes in the increment pattern.

Wood Harvest Up Slightly Over '63 Cut

British Columbia's wood harvest was slightly greater in the first 10 months of 1964 than in the same period of last year, the B.C. Forest Service said today.

Total provincial cut to the end of October was 1,264,664,852 cubic feet, up 2.6 per cent from the 1,232,731,146 cut in the January-October period of 1963.



FURTIVE conversation between prisoners at SPCA pen today concerned hopes of being sprung for Christmas. Number 67, on the right, told number 697 that he's even willing to wear a big red ribbon if someone will set him under a Christmas tree. There are about 43 pups, bunnies and cats waiting for habeus corpus proceedings. SPCA asks a $6 donation, to pay pets' upkeep, and you take your pick. But no impulse buying—they only go to homes that really want them. SPCA is on Napier at Burnside.

Topics of the Day

Six Greater Victoria school children have been named winners of an annual Royal Canadian Legion Remembrance Day essay contest.

Lynne Johnstone, Victoria Secondary and Maureen Hatch, George Jay Elementary, each won top prizes of $15.

Linda Gregg, Royal Oak Junior Secondary, and Sheryl Wong, George Jay, won $10 second prizes.

Honorable mentions were given to Joan Richardson, Oaklands Elementary, and Robyn Roberts, of Mount View Senior Secondary.

Judges were Rev. J. L. W. McLean, Col. P. T. Sealy and George Love.

Tony Hunt showed color slides of totem poles, masks, feast dishes and drawings done by himself, his father Henry Hunt and his grandfather, the late Mungo Martin.

Others participating in the program were Mrs. D. Gordon Cox who exhibited basket weaving by Indians in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, Harvey Williams who displayed his carvings, and Miss Elizabeth Prangnell who showed slides of a Saskatoon Indian-Eskimo seminar.

A commercial photographer here says police have impounded some of his supplies on suspision that they came from naval stores.

Peter Chapman of Chapman Photography, 2022 Douglas, said Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers recently took about $150 worth of printing paper from his stockrooms.

"Later they returned about half," he said.

Mr. Chapman said he believed the seizure was made in connection with investigation of missing photographic supplies from the navy at HMCS Naden, Esquimalt.

Mr. Chapman said that since last June he has purchased $2,000 worth of supplies from a man at cut rate prices. He said the man clamed he operated an import-export business as a sideline, and that he had been purchasing photo supplies from bankrupt studios by auction.

Mr. Chapman said the supplier is a family man and had closed the sales on proper invoices, using a legitimate address. The packaging was the same as on other commercial goods.

"I still don't think the supplies were stolen," Mr. Chapman added. "If they are, then I'm innocently involved."

He said also, "My lawyer told me there is nothing they can do to me."

The navy reported earlier that thousands of dollars worth of photo printing paper, chemicals, film and other supplies are involved in the current investigation. It is centred on the 25-man navy photo section. The probe was launched following a complaint from a commercial photography source.

5 Seek 3 Council Seats; No Issues in C. Saanich

Five candidates, two with no council experience, will contest three council seats in the Central Saanich elections Saturday.

The reeveship, opened to contest this year, was not challenged on nomination day. Re-elected by acclamation was R. Gordon Lee.

While no vital issues are involved in this year's elections, two well-known Saanich residents will try to win seats held by three experienced councillors seeking to remain in office.

Leading the list alphabetically, are:

Albert K. Hemstreet, incumbent, 7709 East Saanich Road, a justice of the peace since 1945 and a blacksmith by trade. He has served four years on council.

A resident of Central Saanich for 17 years, he formerly lived at Walcott, near Smithers, where he worked for the Canadian National Railways and did some part-time farming on his quarter-section farm. He was president of the Walcott and District Community Association for 23 years.

He is secretary of the South Saanich Farmers' Institute.

PARK IMPROVEMENT

Mr. Hemstreet is presently serving as chairman of the parks committee. He stands on his record and wants improvements to municipal parks to be continued.

Peter Lazarz, 1797 Cultra Ave., a mink farmer, is making a second attempt to win a council seat. He was an unsuccessful candidate last year.

He is secretary of the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce, president of the B.C. Mink Producers' Association, Vancouver Island division, and secretary and director of the Island Fur Co-op.

He is also vice-president of the Central Saanich Baseball Club and sergeant-at-arms of the Sidney Rotary Club.

He would like to see if something can be done to improve drainage in the municipality and wants council to look into the matter of establishing a municipal garbage collection service.

MARGARET SALT

VICKERS
. . . seeks 3rd term

Tom G. Michell, incumbent, Island View Road, farmer and fruit grower, has served two terms on council. He stands on his record and promises to continue to press for orderly development of the municipality as a means of curbing rising taxes.

BUILD SIDEWALKS

He is in favor of improving parks. He also wants sidewalks near schools as a safety measure for children.

Born in Saanich, he is presently chairman of the public works and building committees and serving on the finance and waterworks committees.

When the municipality was formed, he served as works superintendent between 1951 and 1955. He is president of the Saanich Fruit Growers' Association, a member of the North and South Saanich Agricultural Society, South Saanich Farmers' Institute and Central Saanich Community Club.

Margaret Salt, Walsh Road, a former Victoria Law Courts secretary, is seeking election solely on the basis that she can devote her full time to municipal business.

She is a widow. Her husband died in June of this year and her only son is residing in Calgary.

She retired from the law courts in November, after being secretary to judges of the Appeal Court, Supreme Court and County Court for 34 years.

Albert Vickers, incumbent, 869 Clark Road, real estate salesman, supports long range planning and seeks a long term road building program.

"It's his second term on council. He has served four years as chairman of the fire committee and is a member of the centennial committee.

Born in Saskatoon, he has lived at Brentwood since 1951 where he is an active member of the community club and the Brentwood United Church. He is also a director of the Central Saanich Chamber of Commerce.

Famous Black Fleet Faces Auction Block

SYDNEY, N.S. (CP) — The last three of Canada's once-famous Black Diamond fleet, nearly wiped out by German submarines during the Second World War, may soon be sold to foreign interests.

President J. E. Clubb of the Dominion Coal Company said Wednesday the company is negotiating the sale of the Louisburg, Wabana and Arthur Cross—last three ships of its coal-carrying line. The line was known by its black diamond symbol.

A Philippine shipping official met with company officials Tuesday but the amount of money involved in the negotiations was not disclosed.

Sale of the three vessels, all slightly over 7,000 tons, would mean an end to Canada's fleet of bulk carriers which numbered 7,000 ships 90 years ago.

The vessels were all built by the Canadian government for war service.

German submarines destroyed the company carriers Rosecastle and Lord Strathcona, along with a smaller ship, Evelyn B., in the harbor at Wabana, Nfld. Chartered coal carriers sunk included the Wutuka and Saganaga, both of British registry. All had been taken over by the Canadian government early in the war.

BIRCH SOCIETY SHOWS GROWTH

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The John Birch society has enrolled more new members and established more new chapters in November than in any other month in its history, a spokesman reported. John H. Rousselot, the society's director of public relations, told a press conference Tuesday that it was not the society's policy to disclose membership figures, but added: "California led the nation in new chapters and members.

Diamond Sales Booming

JOHANNESBURG (AP) — South Africa's retail jewellers are doing a booming business.

One leading Johannesburg diamond house has been forced to draw up a waiting list of prospective customers for diamonds valued at $14,000 or more.

W. A. Radcliffe, a diamond retailer, attributes the new rush partly to the gradual depletion of South African mines. But he also says: "More and more people realize diamonds are a strong basis for countering inflation. There is no other item you can buy that retains its basic value for so long."

Similar reports of heavy sales come from diamond men overseas.

Morton R. Sarett, president of the U.S. Jewellery Industry Council, predicts record diamond sales this year, with world diamond production unable to keep abreast of demand.

"There are standing orders for high-quality diamonds in the $50,000 to $100,000 price range," Sarett says. "There are even a few standing orders for gems worth up to $300,000."

WESTERN ALLIANCE IS ASKING:

Is There Any Hope for Multilateral Nuclear Force Plan?

By ROBERT L. MOTT

WASHINGTON—At the centre of the current controversy over the future direction of the Atlantic alliance is the proposed multilateral nuclear force (MLF).

Some basic information about the MLF is provided in the following questions and answers.

Originally it was to have been a fleet of nuclear-powered submarines equipped with Polaris missiles, but as now suggested, it would be a surface fleet of 25 destroyers or converted freighters equipped with eight Polaris missiles each.

The ships would be manned by crewmen of the various nationalities represented in the agreement, with a command structure technically apart from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) but co-ordinated for the most effective use in wartime.

The fleet would patrol the Atlantic and Mediterranean. It would cost an estimated 2.5 billion dollars to create and about 160 million dollars annually to operate. The United States and West Germany would probably make the largest single contributions, with other members paying about one-third of the cost.

What is its basic purpose?

To create a unified nuclear deterrent force within the Western alliance, thus giving America's allies a role in nuclear strategy but at the same time checking proliferation of nuclear weapons.

In view of many U.S. planners, it not only has a psychological value in giving the Europeans more say-so in control of nuclear weapons, but would provide a base from which to extend MLF beyond the surface fleet concept to take in other forces, including missiles launched from air and land.

Who is for it? Who opposes it?

The United States offered the plan but still insists it is up to the Europeans to make the final decision.

West Germany, for whose benefit the plan was largely devised, is for it as a means of joining the top councils in making nuclear policy.

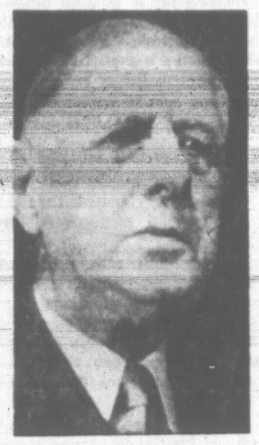
France is solidly opposed, while several other NATO nations are considered ready to go either way depending on what the leading powers decide.

Britain has moved from coolness to an interest in modifying the proposal to broaden its scope. Several of the smaller NATO members would not participate at all, as the force is envisioned at present.

What are the feasible alternatives?

France's President Charles de Gaulle prefers the "two pillars" approach with the United States and Europe as equal partners not only in a political and economic sense but militarily as well.

He would build a European nuclear force independent of



DE GAULLE
. . . two pillars

but presumably co-ordinated to some degree with that of the United States. Britain recently has talked of an "Atlantic nuclear force" but with a greatly reduced surface fleet and an added submarine component plus air and possibly land-based nuclear arms.

American policy makers speak of extending the MLF concept at some time in the future, and of gradually increasing the decision-making role of European members, but has offered no clear-cut alternative.

The only present alternative, then, from the U.S. point of view, is essentially the continuation of the existing arrangement wherein America furnishes the bulk of the nuclear force and Europe is asked to increase the strength and size of its conventional forces. This alternative is not acceptable to those who contend that it would tend to mark their continent —the battleground of any conventional war.

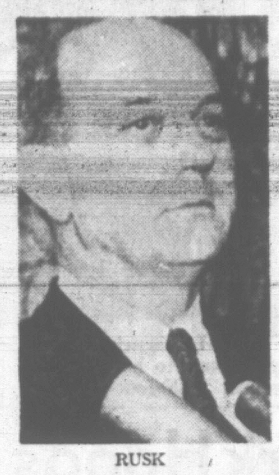
What are the possible effects on East-West relations? On disarmament prospects?

Opponents say MLF would harden the Soviet attitude toward the Western alliance and reverse or at least halt progress toward the so-called "detente" between East and West, with the resultant effect that whatever hopes there are for a slowdown in the arms race would be dashed.

They further argue that giving West Germany even a small role in the determination of nuclear policy would arouse hostility and fear throughout the Communist world—particularly in Eastern Europe, which has shown growing independence from Moscow — and further complicate the task of achieving an ultimate reunification of Germany.

Backers of MLF claim that creation of the force would give West Germany a voice in nuclear planning but would preclude the development of an independent nuclear force by Bonn, a development that would create incalculable fear and anxiety in Eastern Europe and elsewhere.

Further, there have been recent suggestions that any MLF treaty should contain a clause allowing Bonn's withdrawal from the pact in the event of meaningful progress toward reuniting Germany.



RUSK
. . . or one

As for disarmament, there is the argument that a unified western nuclear power could better deal with the Soviet Union than two, three or more nuclear "club" members.

Who would have political control? Military control?

Political control would be collective in that both the United States and the major European powers (individually at first and possibly as a unit under a weighted voting system later on) would have a veto on the use of nuclear weapons.

There has been some talk that the United States might someday be prepared to allow itself to be outvoted by unanimous decision of the European members, but this idea has not been elaborated further. Militarily, a commander would be named who would be subordinate to a directorate of the major powers.

The French position attacks the double-veto system, asserting that in effect the United States would have Europe in strategic bondage, since the U.S. could employ its own independent nuclear force outside MLF if outvoted—MLF would have nuclear striking power equivalent to only 5 per cent of the U.S. power—and thus drag Europe into a war against its will, or conversely, could prevent Europe from using nuclear weapons by exercising its veto, thus leaving the small European deterrent virtually helpless.

This argument is based upon de Gaulle's contention that America cannot be counted on to commit itself irrevocably to the nuclear defence of Europe when the fate of millions of Americans is involved.

'Hansard' Try Fails In North

OTTAWA (CP)—The first attempt to produce a complete written record of a Northwest Territories council session has ended in failure.

On the recommendation of Air Marshal Hugh Campbell of Ottawa, an appointed member of the northern government, two shorthand reporters were hired to produce a Hansard report of the recent winter meetings at Frobisher Bay.

It was doomed to failure.

One of the reporters, visibly shaken by the poor acoustics of the meeting hall, the mumbling of some members and the terminology which falls strange on southern ears, stopped taking notes and sent this message to council secretary Frank Murphy:

"I quit."

SIX HOURS

The second reporter was unable to make full notes of remaining meetings, which lasted up to six hours at a time. The stenographer who left her post was put to work doing other clerical chores for the rest of the session.

The shorthand notes that were taken will help produce a better-than-usual record of council accomplishments at Frobisher, however. It will be available in the official votes and proceedings of council, to be put out by the Queen's Printer shortly.

Meanwhile plans are being made to smooth out problems so that a complete record can be compiled of the council's February meeting here.

BRIEF NOTES

Until the Frobisher meeting the council's votes and proceedings were produced from brief notes taken at meetings by civil servants.

Elected members have long been critical of this practice. They complained that the gist of their arguments was being misconstrued or ignored.

There also has been some demand from northern residents for a written record so that they would be more aware of what their government is doing.

Rock Breaks Candidate's Window

HOPE (CP)—Police here are investigating a threatening letter sent to Alexander Phillips, a candidate for village commissioner in Saturday's municipal election.

Mr. Phillips said a rock has been hurled through his window and his store has been robbed since he received the letter Friday.

The letter said: "If you don't want your store smashed, or maybe yourself, stay out of politics."

Mr. Phillips, a retired Vancouver fireboat captain, said he is offering a $50 reward for information leading to arrest of the letter writer.

"I am not withdrawing from the election," he said. Mr. Phillips is one of four election candidates.

He valued the broken window at $200 and a saw stolen from his store at $250.

Drunk Driving Crackdown Proposed by Ont. Coroner

TORONTO (CP)—Dr. Morton Shulman, Metropolitan Toronto's chief coroner, says he plans a series of sweeping recommendations for legislation to clamp down on drinking drivers, illegal abortions and incompetent doctors.

He refused to go into details during an interview Wednesday following presentation of his 1963 coroner's report, but said the complete list of recommendations would be included in his 1964 report early next spring.

He said the 1964 report would deal in detail with inquests and investigations begun this year into what he termed medical quackery and professional incompetence.

Dr. Shulman also criticized the federal government for ignoring recommendations by coroners' juries, proposed added safety features for cars and denounced suggestions that lawyers should replace doctors as coroners.

Increasing pressure is being exerted by the legal profession to replace medical coroners with lawyers, he said. The Law Society of Upper Canada had commissioned a brief on the subject last year.

Dr. Shulman said such a change would be of great harm to the public.

"With a lawyer's training and mental outlook," he said in his report, "it is questionable whether he would show the same compassion and wider vision of the physician.

'PARALYZE SYSTEM'

"Public inquiries conducted by lawyers in the past have taken months or even years to render their findings. This would paralyze the inquest system."

The report also rejected protests by the medical profession that public inquests into hospital deaths harmed the reputations of responsible and competent doctors.

"No single example has ever been shown of an individual whose reputation was wrongfully damaged," Dr. Shulman said in the interview.

"To prevent the careless or incompetent person suffering public embarrassment, those seeking change would wipe out the last benefits of the coroners' inquiry."

Dr. Shulman indicated he would have recommendations in his 1964 report to prevent a recurrence of the situation in 1963 when two inquests—one dealing with a doctor who administered an alleged anti-cancer serum and the other with a death in a private hospital — were quashed by the Ontario Supreme Court.

Loan Shark Hoods Aided by Bankers

NEW YORK (AP) — A loan shark ring headed by a Cosa Nostra henchman financed its operations with almost $1,500,000 in unsecured loans obtained from a large New York bank with the connivance of a vice-president, the state investigation commission has been told.

These deals highlighted testimony about friendly relationships between underworld shylocks and officers and employees of several banks in the New York metropolitan area.

The investigation commission, gathering data for recommendations to the legislature for tighter money - lending laws, winds up six days of public hearings today. The commission has been told of loan shark interest rates of 25 per cent a week or more.

A mystery witness—identified as a vice-president of a big midtown bank—testified Wednesday that he now has the job of collecting loans allowed by his predecessor who was fired by the bank and is under federal indictment on charges of violating the banking laws.

OWES BANK $400,000

The witness said a loan shark syndicate headed by John Masiello, 44, of Yonkers, N.Y., owes the bank about $400,000. Masiello was identified at the hearing as a member of the Cosa Nostra underworld "family" of the imprisoned Vito Genovese.

Another anonymous witness, a former teller in a bank in the garment district, testified that loan sharks were allowed great freedom in the bank.

"Loan sharks came in throughout the day," he said. "I can't think of a better place to exchange money."

THALIDOMIDE BABY SUIT

TOKYO (Reuters) — The parents of a two-year-old "thalidomide baby" today filed a civil suit against the state—the first ever in connection with thalidomide drugs and a pharmaceutical company.

In the Kyoto district court in western Japan, the couple claimed a total of 25,343,887 yen (about $70,953).

The 42-year-old tailor and his wife, 39, claimed the drug maker failed to carry out full tests on the toxic properties of a sleeping pill taken during the mother's pregnancy and that the welfare ministry did not take proper measures to ensure it was safe.

B.C.-Based Tycoon Will Leave Canada

OTTAWA (CP)—Harry Solomon Stonehill, a wealthy U.S. citizen deported from the Philippines, has agreed to leave Canada voluntary by Jan. 9 after an investigation into his application for landed immigrant status, the immigration department said today.

The department, meanwhile, has adjourned to next Tuesday an inquiry into the status of an associate, Robert Philip Brooks, who arrived with Mr. Stonehill from Switzerland in June, 1963, and was given landed immigrant status. Mr. Brooks is also a U.S. citizen.

A spokesman for the department said Mr. Stonehill, 47, who made a fortune in tobacco, real estate and banking since the Second World War, arrived as a visitor and then sought permission to stay in Canada.

A routine inquiry was made into his case, and the department decided not to grant his application. The spokesman emphasized it had not issued a deportation order against him but that he had voluntary agreed to leave Canada by Jan. 9.

In the case of Mr. Brooks, 46, information came to the department after he was granted landed immigrant status which prompted the department to open an inquiry.

In Vancouver, immigration department officials declined comment on the case. Mr. Stonehill, who has operated a plush downtown office with a battery of aides, was reported by his home to be out of town, with no indication when he would return.

CLERGYMAN'S VIEW

'Sex Is Fun' Sparks Storm

BALTIMORE (AP)—The mail still is pouring in to the clergyman who spoke about sexualty being good according to the Bible, that sex is fun, natural and ought not to be taken so seriously.

Dr. Frederic C. Wood Jr.'s recent sermon Sex Within the Created Order at the all-girl Goucher College, where he is chaplain and assistant professor of religion, created a stir. A good portion of the excitement was generated outside the school.

He said he received "not a single negative response from parents."

Dr. Wood, 31, married and the father of three small girls, swung his feet to the sill of a window overlooking the beautiful Goucher campus in suburban Baltimore County and started opening letters.

No matter what the view, Dr. Wood thinks it "refreshing that people are talking more about it now."

The reaction followed the same pattern it did after the same sermon at Cornell, where Dr. Wood was Episcopal (Angligan) chaplain last year.

DOUBLE STANDARD SHOWN

"The response reflects the double standard," he said.

Much of the unfavorable reaction was from college boys, and from what Dr. Wood called "Biblical literalists."

In his sermon, Dr. Wood said the Bible "was not written to give us a set of rules. The Bible was written to reveal the nature of God and humanity."

He said sexuality is good according to the Biblical view.

The first implication of that goodness is that "sex is fun," he said.

Another implication is that "sex is natural, not a separate area of life," he said. "We ought not to take sex so seriously.

"We all ought to relax and stop feeling guilty about our sexual activities, thoughts and desires. And I mean this, whether those activities and thoughts are heterosexual, homosexual or autosexual."

He said sex is "interpersonal. It involves two people. It involves a responsibility to the other person, a commitment to a potentially unborn child, to society."

Dr. Wood said he was calling for "sex within the context of the kind of relationship which marriage is intended to symbolize and to affirm."

LEFTIST SON SENT TO JAIL

MADRID (Reuters)—Jose Daniel Lacalle, 24-year-old son of Spain's minister of aviation, was sentenced here Wednesday to eight years in prison for illegal association and illegal propaganda. The charges arose from a raid last April on a Madrid apartment where police said they found a small printing machine and Communist propaganda.

U.S. Seeks Russian Help To End N. Viet Nam Raids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration has asked Russia's new leaders to use their influence to halt Communist operations from North Viet Nam against South Viet Nam.

The request was made to Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko by State Secretary Dean Rusk at conferences held here Wednesday. Rusk also asked the Russians to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko conferred with President Johnson at the White House for about 90 minutes.

"I think that the exchange of views was useful and the atmosphere in the course of the conversation was friendly," Gromyko said.

He also said the president welcomed the $555,000,000 defence budget cut which was announced Wednesday by Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin.

Asked whether Johnson and he talked about the possibility of an East-West summit conference, Gromyko brushed aside the question.

Johnson was understood, however, to have said he is deeply interested in easing tensions and improving East-West relations, particularly in the field of new disarmament agreements. He has said in the past that if there were constructive results in sight he would be willing to go anywhere and meet with anyone for the purpose.

An earlier meeting between Rusk and Gromyko over luncheon at the Soviet Embassy produced what U.S. officials called a lively exchange on the war in South Viet Nam. It was on that occasion that Rusk told Gromyko the United States hoped the Soviet Union would use its influence to work for peace in Southeast Asia.

Gromyko, according to U.S. informants, told Rusk the Soviet Union thought the United States should withdraw its troops from South Viet Nam. Rusk replied that the troops were in South Viet Nam to assist the government and people there in the defence against aggression from North Viet Nam and that the U.S. was fully informed on infiltration of men and supplies from the North into the South.

Road Hazard 'Likely' By Long Ferry Shift

B.C. Government Employees' Association believes ferry workers can become road hazards on their way home after a 12-hour shift.

Association secretary E. P. O'Connor of Vancouver Wednesday said this was one of the objections to the 72-hour work week planned for the summer months for workers on the Queen of Sidney.

"Nowhere in Canada will you find such a shift arrangement," he said.

Mr. O'Connor said the ferry authority's explanation that only a staggered work schedule would prevent layoffs for part of the year was not satisfactory because any employer could use the same argument to establish a 14 or 16-hour day.

The association has asked the Civil Service Commission for a ruling that overtime must be paid for more than 40 hours worked in a week, he said.

VIETCONG PUSH STARTS

SAIGON (AP) — Six Americans have died during the last two days of hard fighting in South Viet Nam as the Communist Vietcong intensify their effort to overrun the country. Another American is missing.

South Vietnamese military officials believe that the Vietcong has launched its winter-spring offensive. Beginning last weekend, Communist attacks increased sharply following a relative lull.

Island Hard Hit By U.S. Turkeys

Vancouver Island turkey farmers fear serious financial losses this year due to large imports of birds from the United States.

Curtis McCullock, 2938 Phipps Road, said today if imports continue from the U.S., Island turkey farms are really going to be hurt.

Imports of turkey from the U.S. is now between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 pounds. Last year no birds were brought in from across the border.

In 1962, imports totalled 2,500,000.

Mr. McCulloch said officials of the association have approached federal Agriculture Minister Harry Hayes on two occasions but as yet nothing has been done to curb shipments from the U.S.

But imports so far seemed to have little effect on retail prices. They are about the same as last year.

Approximate price of New York dressed birds is as follows: Toms, 25 lbs. and up, 53 cents a pound; bronze hens, 12 to 20 lbs., 60 cents a pound; 8 to 12 lbs., 65 cents.

Turkey farmers fear if imports glut the Canadian market by Christmas a price drop is sure to follow. This would be passed on to the producer who can ill afford to take a lower price for his product due to high cost of feed and cost of operation.

Girl Dies In Crash Of School Bus, Car

PRINCE RUPERT (CP) — A five-year-old girl was killed and four members of her family taken to hospital after their car was hit broadside by a school bus near here Wednesday.

Police said a family named Forsyth was moving from Vanderhoof to Prince Rupert in two vehicles, when a car driven by Mrs. Forsyth went out of control and slid sideways into the path of the oncoming bus.

KIDNAPPER RELEASED AFTER 24-YEAR TERM

FOLSOM, Calif. (AP) — Wilhelm Jacob Muhlenbroich, sentenced to life in prison for the 1940 kidnapping of a two-year-old heir, was released from Folsom Prison Wednesday after 24 years behind bars.

Muhlenbroich, now 64, was convicted of kidnapping Marc Louis Marie Edwin de Tristan Jr. on Sept. 20, 1940. The child was the son of the wealthy and prominent Count and Countess de Tristan.

Muhlenbroich demanded $100,000 in ransom. The child was released unharmed.

Cancer Director To Stand Trial

CALGARY (CP) — Robert Neville Talbot, 56, former executive director of the Alberta division of the Canadian Cancer Society, was committed for Supreme Court trial on charges of theft and uttering forged cheques at the conclusion Wednesday of a preliminary hearing.

Talbot, the father of two children, is charged with theft of $191,411 in society funds in a period from Oct. 1, 1957, to Oct. 1, 1964, when he was arrested. He also faced nine uttering charges.

The case was expected to come before the Supreme Court in January or February.

Magistrate Fred Thurgood, who ordered Talbot to stand trial, refused bail because he said the assets of Talbot had not been fully determined.

Magistrate Thurgood referred to Talbot's bank accounts in Hawaii and Ireland, which could not be investigated by local investigators who had checked all of his known Canadian accounts under a Supreme Court order.

SEVEN YEARS

Deposits in 13 bank accounts held by Talbot in Calgary and Invermere, B.C., during the last seven years have been checked and found to have totalled $302,378.

The director's gross income during this period was set by the auditors at $65,542 and assets of $42,472 were identified.

The crown alleged the theft was effected by payment of forged cheques to non-existent recipients from the society's welfare disbursement fund.

Information Chief Visits West Ports

There will be no salutes, parades or honor guards but the visit here Monday of Colonel Louis A. Bourgeois will be an important one.

He was appointed director of information services, department of national defence last August and he will soon decide the location of a new tri-service west coast information office.

The office will replace all existing service information centres in the province. It is being established in connection with the integration of armed forces announced by Defence Minister Paul Hellyer Aug. 1.

He has toured some military installations in Eastern Canada and is now beginning his tour of western provinces.

Monday he will tour Pacific Command establishments and confer with Rear-Admiral M. G. Stirling, flag officer Pacific Coast, and other senior naval officers.

He will later attend briefings of information officers from all services on the Pacific Coast and then tour Work Point barracks.

Tuesday he will be flown from Patricia Bay airport by RCAF transport to Comox and then to Vancouver to visit B.C. Area Headquarters.

ARMY FACILITIES

Later that day he will visit army facilities at Chilliwack and leave the province Dec. 16 for Edmonton.

A member of the Canadian army since 1941, Col. Bourgeois has served in various staff positions both overseas and in Canada.

In May, 1959, he was appointed second in command of the First Battalion, Queen's Own Rifles of Canada.

One year later he was appointed general staff officer in the directorate of military training at army headquarters, Ottawa.

SAANICH

Sting Added To Meeting

By LESLIE MILLIN

Wednesday night's Saanich election meeting was long and quiet—with a sting in its tail.

A small crowd gathered in Royal Oak High School auditorium to hear 12 of the 13 candidates for council, and the two School District 63 board candidates.

They mostly reiterated their speeches of Tuesday night.

But one question from the floor about hospitals brought the Irish up in Coun. Joseph Casey.

"There are too many people making too many statements about things they don't know a thing about," he said.

Coun. Casey acts as chairman of the board of Royal Jubilee Hospital.

The question from the floor was aimed at candidate Aubrey Squire, who has urged the formation of a regional hospital board.

It mentioned "the recent Royal Jubilee Hospital fiasco" about bed shortage and waste space.

Coun. Casey said the space mentioned was intended for administrative use and for laboratories.

NO BEDS INTENDED

"It was never intended to put beds in there," he said.

Also in the question period, Coun. Leslie Passmore explained that in the matter of a liquor store for Saanich, the provincial government holds all the cards.

He went on to illustrate his point by saying:

"If we get some of this 'new blood' on the council, it may go to the attorney-general and say: 'There's been a change, and we want a liquor store.'

"And he'll say 'Oh.'

"And maybe they'll say, 'We're new blood, and we want a liquor store or else.'

'DON'T KNOW'

"And he'll narrow his steely blue eyes and say 'Or else what?'—and I don't know the answer."

In both meetings, the phrase "new blood" popped up in connection with the bids of Pat Thomas and Alan Newberry—both young men—to displace the three council veterans defending their seats.

One of them, Coun. Harold Todd, said he was breaking a standing personal rule in his brief speech.

He commented on the short political careers of candidates dedicated to the overthrow of the "Old Guard."

PROPAGANDA

"There is no man on Saanich council today that indulged in that kind of propaganda," he told the meeting.

"In 1954, a mill in Saanich was worth $18,000," said Coun. Casey.

"In 1964, a mill is worth $80,000.

"Something must have happened in the meantime."

League of Roses Planning To Branch Out

The League of Roses, Lancashire and Yorkshire Society, has decided to expand and take in new members from other United Kingdom countries.

The group will now be known as the League of Roses, United Kingdom Society of British Columbia.

The society meets on the fourth Thursday of each month at the Orange Hall, 725 Courtney Street, for entertainment and dancing, followed by refreshments.

Newcomers from the U.K. and others who already reside here may obtain further information by telephoning 384-3811 or 384-8869.

SOUND SHOOTING 'STUPID, DANGEROUS'

B.C. Government to Take Aim at Careless Hunters

Recreation Minister Kiernan Tuesday dropped a hint that hunters who shoot blindly at a sound in the bush will become targets themselves at the January session of the legislature.

He said he was very disturbed by the increasing reports that so-called "sound shooting" is increasing.

"It is difficult to prove such a thing but so far as I'm concerned anyone who does it is not fit to have a hunting licence in this or any other province."

Present legislation does not specifically ban the practice "but only because no legislature in the past ever contemplated that anyone would be stupid enough to do a thing like that."

"But to me, it isn't just stupid, it is criminal. Anyone who does it is a potential murderer because it is only chance that may keep him from killing someone."

Mr. Kiernan said he was also worried about reports that "altogether too many people—and not rank amateurs but persons who should know better—are carrying loaded guns in motor vehicles.

"That's a very dangerous practice and unfortunately I am told that it is happening all too frequently."

Aside from those two worries though, Mr. Kiernan said the hunting season so far—which has taken 17 lives—has not shown any pressing need for a crackdown on hunters.

"Analysis of the fatalities show that only seven were due to misuse of firearms," he pointed out. The other fatalities were caused by hunters having heart attacks, falls and other misadventures, "but this isn't something that can be improved by regulations."

RUSSIANS DON'T KNOW THEIR ONIONS ANYMORE

MOSCOW (AP)—The lowly onion has become a shortage item in Russia, Soviet farm economist Y. Palladin complained Wednesday. "Once Russia exported onions abroad, but now we are forced to buy this essential product abroad. Palladin said Soviet farmers have quit raising onions because it is unprofitable.

ALBERNI EVENTS ATTRACT AUDIENCE OF 5

No Comment, No Criticism

ALBERNI — This year has been the most eventful in Alberni's 51-year-old history — but no one seems to care.

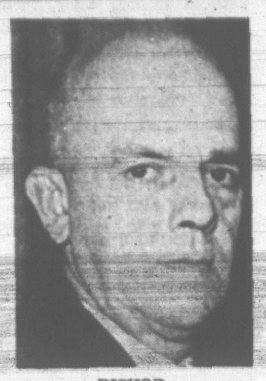
At the annual stewardship meeting Wednesday night, Mayor Fred Bishop outlined the events of 1964.

There was a tidal wave, a strike and approval of amalgamation with Port Alberni.

But only five members of the public bothered to turn up to hear all about it.

And they had nothing to say.

There were no comments, no questions and no criticisms from the audience.



BISHOP

Others at the meeting in city hall were city council, two outside candidates, four civic employees and three members of the press.

Mayor Bishop said the main problem was left over from the Good Friday tidal wave.

In particular there were difficulties in purchasing property from the owners of land along the Somass River.

This has been included in a major plan for a flood control program for the entire lower area of the city.

Of amalgamation, which does not go into effect until 1967, Mayor Bishop said: "I hope it will be possible to expand our joint services whenever feasible before 1967."

"We are planning a joint works yard and we could move into it before the cities are amalgamated."

At the same meeting, parks and properties chairman, Ald. William Anderson said building permit values for the first 11 months of this year totalled $762,198.

This is $330,000 higher than for all 1963.

He said the list of 111 items included 29 homes and 13 commercial permits.

Fisherman's Body Found in Water At Port Albion

The body of fisherman Trygve Pedersen was found in the waters of Port Albion harbor on Vancouver Island's northwest coast Tuesday.

The 62-year-old Port Albion resident was dead when fellow fisherman Alan Baird pulled him to shore.

RCMP believe Mr. Pedersen fell from his boat, the Pacific Maid, while cleaning it Tuesday evening.

He was last seen around 5 p.m.

The body was discovered floating near the boat at 11:30 p.m.

Mr. Pedersen leaves a daughter, Loretta, living in Nanaimo.

ISLAND DIGEST

Toll-Free Phone Calls Approved at Sooke

SOOKE—Residents here will be able to make free telephone calls to Greater Victoria by 1966.

In a recent ballot, conducted by B.C. Telephone Co. at the request of the local Chamber of Commerce, subscribers voted overwhelmingly in favor of toll-free calls.

When the system is introduced monthly rental rates will be increased.

A spokesman for the telephone company said 80 per cent of the 595 ballot slips returned voted in favor of the new system.

Plans are under way now for installation of additional cables and automatic switching equipment in the Sooke exchange.

The delay of between 18 months to two years before the change-over is made is the result of difficulty in ordering, manufacturing and delivery of the necessary equipment.

People to benefit will be those whose telephones have the prefixes 382, 384, 385, 386, 388, 477, 478, 479 and 658.

Also affected will be all telephones with the prefix 472 which is expected to remain the same when the new plan goes into operation.

New monthly rates: residential—$5.90 from $3.85; two-party line, $4.75 from $3 and multi-party line to $4.15 from $2.60.

Business phone rates will rise to $14.20 from $6.75 for an individual line and to $8.10 from $4.40 for a multi-party line.

Fluoridation Question On Ballots

NORTH COWICHAN — Not all residents in this area will be eligible to vote on the question of fluoridation Saturday.

Officials said Wednesday ballots may be cast on the plebiscite by North Cowichan residents who are served by Duncan City, Crofton, Chemainus and Maple Bay water systems.

Anyone not served by these systems will not be eligible.

Most medical men in the area have urged a "yes" vote on fluoridation.

★ ★ ★

DUNCAN—Duncan Jaycees Wednesday added their support to a referendum asking fluoridation of the city's water supply.

However, they were not unanimous.

Roy Elvins said he objected because he didn't think it democratic that city voters could force fluoridation on municipal users of their water supply.

MAPLE BAY—Victoria Jaycees' Santa Claus ship will arrive here Sunday, Dec. 20.

It will be greeted by carloads of under-privileged children who will be the guests of Duncan Jaycees.

David Else will be in charge.

The ship nearly didn't make it to port last year because of stormy weather.

Troller Sinks; Two Men Unhurt

TOFINO—A Tofino fisherman and a logging operator escaped wet but unharmed Tuesday night when the troller Exuberant struck a rock and sank at the mouth of Shelter Inlet, 20 miles northwest of this west coast Vancouver Island community.

Skipper Robert Duncan was taking logger Sammy Craig to his operation on nearby Sydney Inlet when a heavy swell caught the 36-foot troller, snapping the mast and a fishpole.

The Exuberant was swept toward shore but struck a rock and sank before it reached the beach. The two men launched a small lifeboat and put ashore at Riley Cove.

They were later picked up by another fishboat and returned here Wednesday.

DUNCAN — In November $217,000 worth of building permits were issued here.

In Nov, 1963, it was $15,250.

The total for 1964 so far is $894,100 compared to $247,850 in 1963.

DUNCAN—S. B. Fulton will talk on geological formations at a meeting of Cowichan Valley Natural History Society in the Agricultural Hall at 8 p.m. Tuesday.

★ ★ ★

FULFORD—Another cougar has been spotted on Salt Spring Island.

Sheep rancher Bob Akerman led a hunt for the cat but was unable to pick up its trail.

Four cats have been shot on the island so far this year.

A private bounty of $50 was given Mr. Akerman recently to distribute as he sees fit to anyone shooting a cougar.

LAKE COWICHAN—Voters here will have two issues to decide Saturday.

First will be election of village commissioners for the coming year.

Second will be acceptance, or refusal, of a bylaw providing $3,700 to establishment of Cowichan Valley Forest Museum near Duncan.

If approved it is not expected to affect taxes for the coming year.

The three men seeking the two commission seats are incumbents Nelson LaForge and Archie Greenwell and outsider Veane L. Powers.

DUNCAN—Duncan Musical Club's next production, the Emmerich Kalman operetta Countess Mariza, will be performed in Cowichan Senior Secondary School Feb. 19 and 20 and Feb. 26 and 27.

Brothers Score Double Win

WESTHOLME — The Hulsnan brothers here had a double win in Cowichan Dairy Herd Improvement Association's November awards.

Their five-year-old Holstein-Jersey cross, Blacky, won the Brackman prize for the highest cow record—17,665 pound milk and 712 pound fat.

And their two-year-old Holstein, Sonia Magic, won the Cowichan Creamery prize for the highest two-year-old with 13,027 pound milk and 584 pound fat.

The herd average prize given by Buckerfields went to Albert Baumgart, of Cowichan Station with an average per cow for the month of 1,602 pound milk and 66.9 pound fat.

Constable 'Insulted, Shocked'

DUNCAN — "I almost forgot what I was there for when I saw her," constable J. W. Kitzler told Duncan court Wednesday.

He was giving evidence against a Halls Road resident accused of indecent exposure.

Two constables had called at the home to inquire about a German shepherd dog in view of complaints of dogs killing turkeys.

Cst. Kitzler said the woman came to the back door porch wearing nothing but a waist-length sweater. He was "insulted and shocked."

The defence was that the woman had just risen from bed and answered the door to protect the caller from the dog.

Dismissing the charge, Magistrate D. K. McAdam said the crown had failed to prove any intent on the part of the accused.

These three know a thing or two about Scotch

The things they know about making Scotch couldn't be written down, they're bred in. And added to during a lifetime of experience. Roland's great-grandfather was a maltman, and so was George's.
The more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantine's.

STUDENTS BANISHED IN VACCINE HASSLE

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Paul-Emile Chevrefils said Wednesday his five children, barred from attending school because they are not vaccinated against smallpox, will obviously fail their examinations unless something is "done soon."

Dr. Chevrefils has refused to allow vaccination of his children because he believes vaccines weaken the human organism.

He said he is waiting for word from Quebec health authorities about the situation.

Health Minister Alphonse Courturier informed the suburban St. Laurent doctor last week that the matter is being studied.

Each school morning since last Nov. 24, the physician's children, aged six to 14, appear at the Cardinal Leger School only to be turned back by the principal.

U.S. Drive Urged On Three Killers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential commission called Wednesday for an unprecedented U.S. assault on the three greatest killers of Americans—heart disease, cancer and cerebral strokes.

Among its major recommendations: creation of a national network of 540 new treatment and other centres.

The group urged immediate implementation of its "realistic battle plan," saying nearly $3,000,000,000 in federal funds over five years would be needed as a starter. A spokesman said considerable additional funds and other aid from states and cities also would be required.

The 23 physicians, editors, businessmen and others said, in their report to President Johnson, that immediate results could be expected. Up to several hundred thousand lives a year are "now needlessly sacrificed" because available knowledge is not properly utilized, they said.

The commission was appointed last March by Johnson —victim of a heart attack in 1955—to recommend steps to reduce the incidence of the three diseases from which he said two-thirds of all Americans now living would suffer or die unless "something . . . (is done) . . . about it."

U.S. Space Schedule Slows Down

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A last-second engine misfire on a Titan II rocket dealt a severe setback to the U.S. man-in-space program Wednesday, postponing the final unmanned launching of the two-man spacecraft until January.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also said the delay will shove the first manned Gemini flight into the second quarter of 1965. The three-orbit trip by astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young had been scheduled for the first quarter, in February or March.

The trouble occurred Wednesday 1.7 seconds after the Titan II booster engines ignited. Loss of hydraulic pressure caused one of the two engine nozzles to swivel out of place and the engines automatically shut down.

A space agency spokesman said one of the nozzle tubes received a slight crack as a result of the malfunction. He said the entire first stage may be replaced to assure proper performance in an effort to qualify the rocket for manned flight. He said extensive checking of all systems must be completed before a decision is made and a new launching date scheduled.

Murder, Suicide In Cabin

TERRACE (UPI)—RCMP say logging mechanic George Kennedy, 50, apparently strangled Rena Gertrude Johnson, 27, and then shot himself in a cabin here.

Kennedy had been living with the woman for a month. They were last seen alive shortly before midnight Monday.

Police said they found one end of a string tied to Kennedy's toes and the other to the trigger of a .22-calibre rifle.

Kennedy's wife, children and parents live in Winnipeg. Miss Johnson was from the Hazleton area.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1964—PAGE 25

Mrs. George R. Pearkes, honorary president, seemed perfectly recovered from her recent cold when she attended the annual Christmas tea of the Women's Canadian Club, Wednesday. She's seen here with Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett, left, honorary vice-president, and Miss Elizabeth Forbes, right, president.

At Wednesday's tea, Miss Forbes announced that Mrs. R. B. Wilson, centre, has recently agreed to become an honorary vice-president of the club. She's seen with the club's first vice-president, Mrs. H. H. Youson, left, and Mrs. Leslie Macdonell. Mrs. Youson was in charge of the program and Mrs. Macdonell, social arrangements.

Four Children Thrill Audience At Canadian Club Annual Tea

The sound of carols, sung by four children, filled the Crystal Ballroom of the Empress Hotel, Wednesday afternoon. Their audience of 400 women sat silent in admiration.

The occasion was the annual Christmas tea of the Women's Canadian Club and the youthful performers were the four Patterson children, Pat, Ann, Bill and Susie.

In addition to carols, the children sang and accompanied themselves as they treated guests to a delightful selection of folk songs.

Among those that thrilled to the beautifully presented concert was Mrs. George R. Pearkes, the club's honorary president. Seated with her at the head table were Miss Elizabeth Forbes, president; the club's two honorary vice-presidents, Mrs. W. A. C. Bennett and Mrs. R. B. Wilson; Mrs. F. M. Corbett, Mrs. H. H. Youson, Miss Kathleen Agnew, the entertainers' parents, Mr and Mrs. D. A. Patterson; Mrs. Pat Dufour and Mrs. Dorothy Wrotnowski.

The ballroom glittered with holiday decorations. Dominating the scene was a huge decorated Christmas tree on the stage. Masses of poinsettias added to the brilliance.

White chrysanthemums and red carnations in silver bowls highlighted the head table. Holly and pine boughs, some in silver vases and others making festoons along the table edges, added to the effect. Traceries of scarlet ribbon lent a final touch.

The other tables had the same touches of pine boughs, holly and ribbon, accented with alternating arrangements of candles shining from red glass containers and baskets of scarlet poinsettias.

Miss Forbes introduced head table guests. Mrs. Youson was in charge of program and introduced the Patterson children.

Decorations and social arrangements were in charge of Mrs. Leslie Macdonell. She was assisted by Mrs. Dai MacLeod, Mrs. T. C. Evans and Mrs. Corbett.

Presiding at the various tea tables were Mrs. R. W. Mayhew, Mrs. Kenneth Drury, Mrs. Percy B. Scurrah, Mrs. W. G. Wilson, Mrs. R. G. McKee, Dr. Olga Jardine, Mrs. P. J. Sinnott, Mrs. A. T. N. Cowley, Mrs. R. T. Wallace, Mrs. Macdonell, Miss Ethel Bruce, Mme. Lugrin Fahey, Mrs. H. L. Smith, Mrs. T. H. Johns, Dr. Margaret Newton, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. W. F. Pinfold, Mrs. F. G. Aldous, Mrs. A. J. Campbell, Mrs. R. I. Jeffels, Mrs. W. Redford, Mrs. R. H. McDougall, Mrs. Hart Henderson, Mrs. Frank Mack, Mrs. J. H. Brown, Mrs. Bruce Hutchison, Mrs. W. G. Flett, Mrs. T. C. Evans, Mrs. Dai MacLeod, Mrs. A. S. Stringer, Mrs. Charles Smith, Mrs. E. V. Darling, Mrs. C. W. Paulin, Mrs. J. R. L. Burridge, Mrs. J. A. Routledge, Mrs. E. J. Wilson, Mrs. Douglas Leechman, Mrs. John Bateman, Mrs. A. B. Young, Mrs. Daryl Elford, Mrs. K. O. Wright, Mrs. W. Davenport and Mrs. J. R. Howard.

Bazaar Features Chili Con Carne

The lower auditorium of St. Aidan's United Church was decorated with Christmas trees, green and red streamers, silver stars and holly boughs for a recent bazaar sponsored by the United Church Women.

A sum of $1,463 was realized at the successful affair that was opened by Mrs. Malcolm Taylor. She was introduced by president, Mrs. Michael Jacura. Conveners were Mrs. C. Hayward, Mrs. Roy Watson, Mrs. Gordon Field and Mrs. Ken Brown.

Highlight of the afternoon was a chile con carne luncheon, convened by Mrs. A. Burkholder and Mrs. A. Bednar. They were assisted by the Mary Jennings unit.

An arrangement of hydrangea, pine branches and candles, created by Mrs. Ed McKenzie, centred the refreshment table at which Mrs. E. Crockford, Gordon United Church; Mrs. John Parent, Cordova Bay United Church; Mrs. S. C. Evans, Gordon Head United Church, and Mrs. H. M. Faryon, Cadboro Bay United Church, presided. Tea convener was Mrs. Duncan Smith, Margaret Irvine unit.

Other conveners included Mrs. Ray Williston, home baking; Mrs. V. Walton, delicatessen; the Misses Heather Morley and Linda Smith, kiddies corner and Christmas tree; Mrs. A. MacLeod, children's wear, and Mrs. W. Giles, aprons and sewing.

Mrs. T. B. Dempster was in charge of the candy stall; Canadian Girls in Training in charge of Mrs. J. Fyles, hats and jewelry; Mrs. D. Smuin, Christmas decorations and novelties; Explorers led by Mrs. A. Newton, attic treasures; G. Wilkinson and P. Boorman, garden stall, and Mrs. McCluskey, the church cookbook.

Of Personal Interest

HONOR PLAYERS

The Somass Drive home of Dr. and Mrs. T. H. Johns will be the scene of a reception, Monday evening, following the Canadian Players production of "All About Us" to be held in the auditorium of Oak Bay Junior Secondary School. The production is being sponsored by Beta Sigma Phi. Honor guests at the reception will be the members of the Canadian Players. Other invited guests include Reeve Allan Cox and Mrs. Cox, Alderman A. Toone and Mrs. Toone, Col. J. R. Kingham and Mrs. Kingham, Miss Elizabeth Forbes, Mr. and Mrs. R. Ellison, Mrs. E. V. Finland, Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Clark, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. D. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Binny. They will be greeted by Dr. and Mrs. Johns and Mrs. Barry Mills, president of the Beta Sigma Phi city council. Convener of the theatre committee is Mrs. D. Weir.

Squadron Dance

The orchestra of HMCS Naden played for dancing when the Second Escort Squadron held its annual dinner and dance in the Victoria Golf Club on Wednesday evening. In charge of arrangements was Cmdr. H. J. Wade, RCN, commanding officer of HMCS MacKenzie. The ship was also represented by other officers and their wives. Commanding officers and officers of HMCS Saskatchewan, HMCS Ottawa, HMCS Fraser, HMCS Qu'Appelle and HMCS St. Croix and their wives also attended. Special guests were the squadron commander, Capt. R. J. Pickford, RCN, and Mrs. Pickford.

Men Barred From This Bank

EDINBURGH (Reuters)—British women, not content with invading practically every other field of male activity, now are to have their own bank — complete with powder room.

Male customers are barred from the bank.

Ian MacDonald, chairman of the National Commercial Bank of Scotland, which opened the new branch, said the bank's aim was to provide an atmosphere of ease and relaxation.

The solidly impressive but rigid atmosphere of the traditional bank has been swept away. The new bank has carpets on the floor, easy chairs for the customers, a decor of soft pastel colors, and music piped in through discreet loudspeakers.

Eastern Visitors

During their recent stay two of Quebec's mayors found neighbors from their home areas also visiting here and staying at the Empress Hotel. They are Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Walker of Kenogami, P.Q., who have been staying at the hotel for several months and who will be leaving in January for Hawaii. Also here was Mrs. Ray Kennedy, Arvida, P.Q. who will be leaving shortly to spend the holidays with her family in California.

Once there was a little girl....

who didn't know what to do with her hair. It was as long as Rapunzel's, and it was constantly forming entangling alliances. It got in her eyes and it got in her hair, so to speak.

Then one day, her mother hit on a solution. "Cut it short", she decided, "but not too short. Keep it smooth and shiny and straight, but not too straight. And shape it so that it can go every which way, but not all at once."

The fairy godmother in the story appeared and whisked the little girl off to Woodward's Raymond Salons where the children's haircutting specialist created the prettiest hairdo just for her. And the little girl hopped happily away to Santa Claus and Christmas parties without a care in the world.

Why don't you treat your little girl to

DEAR ABBY...

It's Not Logical, Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: For two years I was a widow with five children under 12. Then I married a man who claimed he loved me very much, but he acts like he has someone on the side. He was married before, and told me he divorced his wife because she was so cold. Believe me, he can't use that excuse about me. He has the kind of job that he can leave any time. He seems to have so many unscheduled and late business appointments that I am suspicious. I've never found any proof, like lipstick on his clothes or telephone numbers in his pockets, but I've got a feeling there's somebody else. Could it be my imagination?

SUSPICIOUS

DEAR SUSPICIOUS: It must be! Any man who, after one unsuccessful marriage, tries it again with a widow with five children (under 12 yet!) has got to be mad about the woman.

DEAR ABBY: This has happened to me twice already and I want to know the reason. I have been invited to and have attended two bridal showers. Both were very very nice, but I was not invited to the main event—the wedding. Is this proper etiquette? Or is it just plain ignorance? I know some other ladies who have received the same treatment. Both these brides had big church weddings and receptions following, but some of us who were invited to showers were not good enough for the main event. Sign me—

NOT GOOD ENOUGH

DEAR NOT: Some "showers" lately have degenerated into a big "collection" in which nobody seems to care who gets soaked. If you were "good enough" to be invited to the shower, it seems to me that unless the wedding was limited only to family and a few very close friends, you should have been "good enough" for the wedding.

DEAR ABBY: With all the modern packaging, why is it that when a person buys a pound of brown sugar it has to be repackaged immediately after it has been opened or the next time you want to use it you'll have a block of brown "cement"?

I am mad. I just smashed my finger with a hammer trying to break up a block of brown sugar. I am sure the brown sugar package has not changed in 100 years. Please print this, Abby. It might wake up the people who package it.

KAY

DEAR KAY: This is not a household hints column, but if you transfer the brown sugar into an airtight jar, put a little wad of damp paper toweling in the jar, and keep it in your refrigerator, you'll not have any problems.

DEAR ABBY: There's a television program for kids with a talking goldfish who gives advice. He is sort of the DEAR ABBY of television but, of course, they don't call him that. Why do you suppose anyone would write to a goldfish for advice?

ROBB ROSS

DEAR ROBB: I'LL bite.

Toys With a Purpose Will Delight a Child

By PENNY SAVER

Nothing equals the look of delight on a child's face when he discovers his presents on Christmas morning. Toys can make any child's Christmas a dream come true. Toys for a youngster can have an educational value, too, and Penny found such articles which she would like to pass on to women who are on the lookout for gifts for a small child.

One such item is a Czechoslovakian puppet made of fur fabric to resemble such animals as a dog, horse or goat. The puppets are easily manipulated by a child and will give him hours of enjoyment staging his own shows. These adorable little "pets" range in price from $1.69 to $1.79.

A child will learn to work with color and form using a Czechoslovakian mosaic kit. It contains a number of mosaic wood blocks, lightweight and polished. With these he can make a profusion of colored designs, balancing and creating tone and patterns. A kit costs 98 cents for a large size and 50 cents for a small size.

Books for the youngsters can come alive for them with raised figures that even move. Every page of these books tell a story and are illustrated by relief animals and buildings which stand out and can be moved by paper levers. Imported from England, books feature stories about farms and fairy tales and sell for $1.59.

In the same line are books which open into a "storybook wonderland" when folded back to back. Relief figures illustrating a story about a garage or a farm spring into four separate portions telling in picture form the story written below. These books are also priced at $1.59.

A novel idea for a small child is a "concertina" train which folds in and out when pulled. The funnel goes up and down too. These sell for $1.25.

Education toys are a "must" for your child. Penny's number is 382-3131 if you want to know where to shop.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Don't let anyone tell you that nothing can be done about a double chin because there are effective measures! A few minutes a day spent doing corrective exercises, a loss of overweight, if you have extra pounds, and improvement in posture will work magic. However, this routine must be faithfully adhered to. Results require effort and patience.

Lowman

Even in very young women we often see the shadow of chins to come. Stretching fatty tissues and tightening muscles are our objectives. Sometimes poor posture has allowed the chinline to blue. Sometimes when a woman loses a great deal of weight too rapidly, and the skin does not have time to adjust to the loss, it may become loose and unattractive. Rounding out muscles with exercise will help. Do these exercises regularly.

1. Stand or sit with the entire spine straight, chin parallel to the floor. Keep the shoulders still as you turn your head as far to the left as possible, over your left shoulder. Now lift your chin and pull back. Return head to starting position. This time turn your head as far to the right as you can, lift the chin and pull back. Return to beginning position. It is most important to keep the shoulders facing straight forward. Alternate.

2. Sit or stand, spine straight. Lower your head forward to your chest. Now rub the chin on the chest up toward the left shoulder. Lift chin. Continue for eight times. Now rub the chest with the chin eight times, up toward the right shoulder. If you cannot touch your chin to your chest go through these motions anyway.

If you would like to have my exercises for the neck, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for "Is Your Chinline a Pain in the Neck?" Address Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

QUEEN ALEXANDRA SOLARIUM

Administrator Describes Program

Highlight of the recent meeting of the Queen Alexandra Solarium Junior League held in the Blue Room was a talk on the type of care given at the solarium by John Holdstock, administrator.

Mr. Holdstock also pointed out that during the past 25 years, the league has contributed over $380,000 to the solarium.

Also present at the meeting were Douglas R. Abbott, vice-president of the board of directors; Ernest A. McFadden and George W. Farmer, who are also members of the board.

New members, Mrs. R. T. Bryant, Mrs. A. L. Bertoia and Miss Yvonne Banning were presented with their membership pins. Prospective members, Mrs. W. L. Rolfe, Mrs. T. R. Bagot, Mrs. D. Nolli and Miss Carol Hames were also present.

Miss Margaret Braithwaite reported that over $1,000 was realized by the league from the trailer at Goldstream Park. Plans were discussed for the decorating of the solarium on Sunday, Dec. 20.

It was announced that Rodney Webster will be the musical director for the Minstrel Show to be held in McPherson Playhouse in the New Year. Anyone wishing to take part in the show may contact Miss Andrea Clay at 385-5510, or Mrs. R. G. Garden, 382-6945.

Fill your freezer with special cranberry treats for the holidays . . . rolls of Cranberry Cookies, Cranberry Fruit Nut Bread or Fresh Cranberry Crunch.

Each of these can be gayly wrapped for your neighbor to tuck into her freezer. All can be given baked or unbaked.

If given unbaked . . . be sure to add a note with the baking temperature and time, and suggest that the dishes stand at room temperature to thaw before baking.

CRANBERRY COOKIES

Three and a quarter cups all-purpose flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon baking soda, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅔ cup granulated sugar, 1 cup brown sugar, 1¼ cups shortening, 2 eggs, 1½ teaspoons vanilla or almond, 1 cup walnuts, chopped; 2 cups of chopped fresh cranberries.

Sift together flour, baking powder, soda and salt. With electric mixer at medium speed gradually add both sugars to shortening. Cream until fluffy. Add eggs and vanilla. Beat at high speed until mixed (1 minute). Add walnuts. Mix at low speed. Then add flour mixture. Blend well. Work in chopped fresh berries with fingers.

Press and shape dough into 3 loaves 2 inches square. Wrap tightly in wax paper, Saran Wrap, or silver foil. Store in refrigerator or freezer. To bake, cut into slices ⅛ to ¼" thick with sharp knife. Place 1" apart on ungreased baking sheet. Bake at (375°F.) for 10 to 12 minutes or until golden brown. Cool on cake rack.

Here are three make-ahead, freeze-ahead cranberry dishes for the holidays: Cranberry refrigerator cookies in Santa's sleigh, cranberry fruit nut bread and squares of cranberry crunch dessert.

CRANBERRY FRUIT NUT BREAD

Two cups all-purpose sifted flour, 1 cup sugar, 1½ teaspoons double-acting baking powder, ½ teaspoon soda, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ cup shortening, ¾ cup orange juice, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1 egg, well beaten; ½ cup chopped nuts, ½ cup fresh cranberries coarsely chopped.

Sift together flour, sugar, baking powder, soda and salt. Cut in shortening until mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Combine orange juice and grated rind with well beaten egg. Pour all at once into dry ingredients, mixing just enough to dampen. Carefully fold in chopped nuts and cranberries.

Spoon into greased loaf pan 9x5x3". Spread corners and sides slightly higher than centre. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about 1 hour . . . until crust is golden brown and toothpick inserted comes out clean. Remove from pan. Cool. Store overnight for easy slicing.

FRESH CRANBERRY CRUNCH

One cup granulated sugar, 1 tablespoon cornstarch, ½ cup water, 1 teaspoon vanilla, pinch of salt, 2 cups fresh cranberries, ½ cup seedless raisins, 1 cup uncooked rolled oats, 1 cup light brown sugar firmly packed, ½ cup all-purpose flour, ½ cup butter or margarine.

In saucepan mix sugar, cornstarch, water, vanilla and salt. Stir in cranberries and raisins. Bring to a boil over medium heat. Reduce heat, simmer for 5 minutes and cool slightly. Mix oats, brown sugar and flour together. Cut in butter or margarine until crumbly mixture forms.

Sprinkle one-half over bottom of greased 8x8" pan. Spread with cooled cranberry filling and top with remaining half of oatmeal mixture.

Bake in (350°F.) oven for 45 minutes. Serve warm or cold. Top each serving with vanilla ice cream, if desired. 6-9 servings.

BE SMART—

Put a little fun in your life when you give your charming little buffets for 10 or 20 of the crowd . . . wear these crepe harem pants in beige and pink, sashed with green. We can just see you now, holding forth on a low, squashy hassock, cynosure of all eyes.

Mother Flies From Germany To Attend Daughter's Wedding

Rev. E. W. S. Gilbert officiated at the recent ceremony in the chapel of Christ Church Cathedral that united Karen Marie Holm, RN, and Arlyn Dean Michaelsen.

The bride is the daughter of Inspector E. A. F. Holm, RCMP, and Mrs. Holm of Cologne, Germany, and formerly of this city. Her grandparents are Mrs. W. E. Gardner, Victoria, and the late Capt. G. E. L. Robertson. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Michaelsen of Cheyenne, Wyo.

The bride wore a three-piece pink and mauve Italian knit suit and carried a white prayer book topped with a mauve orchid and white ribbon streamers knotted with heather. She was given in marriage by her mother who flew here from Germany for the ceremony, in the absence of her father who is in Istanbul, Turkey.

Only attendant, Mrs. Glen Standen, wore a three-piece rose and white ensemble accented with a corsage of rose-toned carnations and heather.

Glen Standen was best man.

Arrangements of pink and mauve heather decorated the tables for a wedding luncheon that followed in the Empress Hotel. The same tones were used in floral arrangements that decorated the McClure Street home of the bride's grandmother for another reception.

Prior to travelling to their new home in Seattle, Wash., the couple spent a week visiting with the bride's grandmother.

The newlyweds will honeymoon in Colorado and Wyoming in the New Year.

Dessert Party—Metropolitan United Church women held a dessert party recently in the ladies' parlor. Members of the Mildred Mossop Unit presented a play by Mrs. John Nicol and the Canadian Girls in Training choir, under the leadership of Mrs. F. Bailey, sang Christmas carols. Miss Helen Sewell was soloist. Devotional was conducted by Mrs. Albert E. King. Gifts for mental patients were placed under the tree. A business meeting followed the party.

Annual Party—Miss Barbara Wills, a teacher on exchange from England, was guest of honor at the recent annual Christmas party of the Victoria Exchange Teachers' Club. The affair was held in Oak Bay United Church hall and dinner was served by the Ladies' Guild of the church. Greetings were received from former members of the club and former exchange teachers by president, Mrs. Lauretta Holdridge.

S. Africa Warns Of Sub Activity

SALDANHA BAY (AP) — South Africa's defence forces chief said Wednesday recent intensive activity by foreign submarines off the South African coast was an obvious preparation for a serious disruption of international shipping in time of war around the vital Cape route.

Commandant Gen. Pieter Grobbelar, did not specify the nation to which submarines belong.

But they are reported to have been mostly Russians.

He said reports of 35 sightings of submarines off the South African coast had been received in the last four years—the most recent just a month ago.

Grobbelaar speaking at Saldanha Bay, 63 miles north of Cape Town, said the intensive submarine activity in recent years could not be regarded as being directed exclusively at the neutralization of the limited number of ships registered under the South African flag.

He said it would be "quite obvious to the entire world that these clandestine activities were in preparation for the serious disruption of not only South African shipping but also of ships belonging to other nations around the Cape route which remains a vital route."

RUSS SCHOLARS NOT SLOW AT MAKING QUICK DOLLAR

By STEPHEN S. ROSENFELD

WASHINGTON — Soviet officials are invoking the hard law of "publish or perish" against slowpoke scholars who stop writing as soon as they attain a high-paying academic rank.

As a "lamentable example" Izvestia last month held up A. Gruzdev, department head in a teacher institute.

He cut his teaching load for three years and wangled six months of sabbatical leave to work on a dissertation with the esoteric title of "The Work of Mamin-Sibiryk in 1880." But he wrote nothing and then switched topics.

"Was he having creative troubles?" asked Izvestia. "Perhaps so. But in that same period Comrade Gruzdev performed several jobs for publishing houses for money."

Also cited was an engineering instructor, A. Starikov, who in 10 years pocketed the ruble equivalent of $20,000 for work on a dissertation that was finally pronounced "insignificant and unsuitable."

"There has not been a full yield," Izvestia declared. "For what then, did they receive at least half of the salary (beyond their pay for teaching)? for their ranks and their degrees."

The paper went on to explain that the big pay jumps for aspiring academics are for dissertations. Thereafter pay does not keep up with publishing.

To keep scholars on the mark, Izvesia suggested that degrees confer not pay but rank, that degrees be given not for life but for set periods in which the holder would have to prove himself, that scholars who have not published, "say in five years," be demoted, and so on.

Izvestia also complained that some engineers flee from design institutes to research departments because good new designs do not win the higher pay that degress automatically bring.

It is "really ironic," Izvestia observed, that an engineer should not be rewarded for designing a useful machine tool but a graduate student should get a degree for writing something "practically useless."

Turning to payment in culture and art ("a very special field"), Izvestia reported with dismay that only six to 10 of the 65 actors in the Leningrad film studio are currently at work.

It said further that, despite a director's norm of two or three plays a year, director R. R. Suslovich has not produced a play since 1962 and that a "conductor whose name we shall not mention out of respect for his age" does not do half the work expected of him.

Here, too, Izvestia recommended breaking the link betwen rank and pay and tying pay instead to performance. It ended however, by reporting that Premier Khrushchev himself was concerned with the problem and by urging broad discussion of it.

(The Washington Post)

'Blacks Die To Rescue Few Whites'

UNITED NATIONS (CP)— The foreign minister of the former French Congo accused Belgium, the United States and Britain of causing the massacre of "scores of thousands of blacks" to save "an insignificant number of whites" in The Congo.

Charles-David Ganao delivered a bitter attack against the U.S.-Belgian rescue operation launched from British-ruled Ascension Island.

He said blacks had been murdered only for committing the "crime of being born in a country whose natural resources have become notorious."

Ganao said that, as a child taking music lessons, he had learned that one white note was worth two black notes. Now, he said, "it seems that one white man, especially when he is called Carlson and he is a Belgian or an American or Briton, is worth thousands upon thousands of blacks."

Ganao's reference was to Dr. Paul Carlson, an American medical missionary who was among the white hostages killed in Stanleyville Nov. 24 on the day of the U.S.-Belgian operation.

Senate Rebuffs De Gaulle on Arms

PARIS (Reuters)—The French Senate early today threw out by 178 votes to 45 the government's military equipment program for spending 54,800,000,000 francs ($10,900,000,000), half of it on atomic arms, in the next six years.

The bill had been passed by the National Assembly last Thursday by 278 votes to 118.

The bill now goes back to the Assembly where nother vote in favor, predictable in view of the large government majority, will make it law no matter what the Senate does.

WHAT WERE OFFICE 'DOS' REALLY LIKE?

How Wild Was Wild at Your Party?

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—The office Christmas party today is in about the same plight as the whooping crane.

It isn't extinct — but it's in danger of becoming so.

Many young people aged 25 to 30 have never seen a real old-fashioned office Christmas party.

"What were they really like?" they ask curiously about this time of year. "Were they really as wild as the old-timers say they were?"

That depends. The memories of the survivors of office Christmas parties are as undependable as those of the veterans of any other war, and a tendency to gory up the picture develops as the years pass.

Actually, in the old days (say a quarter of a century ago) many office Christmas parties were so sedate that not a single member of the staff wound up with a black eye or broken bone. You might not even have had to call the cops.

But the classic, old-fashioned office Christmas celebration—at least as it is fondly recalled by many—was somewhere in between a Roman orgy, a Sioux scalping raid, and the attack on the Bastille.

HIGH TIME

Some, or all, of the following events might happen:

Somebody fulfilled the dream of a lifetime and put gin in the office water cooler.

At least 15 employees went up to the boss and told him what they really thought of him—and the boss made a mental note to start off the new year by giving 15 merit decreases in pay.

In attempts to break up one fist fight, four more would start.

The big game was to play catch with the office Christmas tree.

Six middle-aged married men suffered ankle sprains chasing the girls from the stenographic pool from desktop to desktop.

The guy who won at Indian hand wrestling got to kiss the prettiest secretary as a reward.

By 10 p.m.—the party was supposed to end by 7 o'clock—the place looked as if it had been hit by a hurricane, and the office boy was sent out for four more bottles.

By midnight the boss was wearing mistletoe in his hair, had his arm around the janitor and was promoting him to executive assistant.

At least five husbands didn't get home until Christmas morning.

One fellow had to be dissuaded from trying to cool off by hanging from the windowsill by his fingertips.

Another fellow wouldn't be heard of until the third of January. Then a telegram would arrive from Montreal or Rio de Janeiro saying: "Where am I? Please send money."

The question arises as to why these annual staff frolics have practically died out in most business firms.

Some say it was because of the objections made by wives. Some say it was because of a growing tendency by employees to file suits against management for injuries and other mishaps suffered at the parties or on the way home afterward.

But others find a simpler explanation for the doom of the old-fashioned office Christmas party: The younger generation just doesn't have the stamina to endure them, and the older generation doesn't have the strength left to enjoy them properly.

Manslaughter Charge Brings Four-Year Term

VERNON (CP)—Esko Kumpulainen Wednesday was sentenced to four years in prison after his conviction of manslaughter in the death of Martin Harby.

Mr. Justice J. G. A. Hutchison said Kumpulainen, 58, of Chase, had a clear record. He took into account a statement by Claude Blanchard, a previous employer who spoke well of the defendant.

Blanchard said after the verdict that Kumpulainen is welcome to have his job back after his release from jail.

Kumpulainen had originally been charged with non-capital murder after Harby, 66, was shot in the back as he climbed a fence into an orchard Aug. 23.

VOICE OF BROADWAY

By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

Judy Garland is due home for Christmas and to continue her divorce proceedings against Sid Luft. Friends believe she wants to marry Mark Herron as soon as the case is settled, but if Sid wants to make trouble—and he seems primed for a battle—she might have to wait a long time . . . Newest way to beat the disk jockey payola problem and not get caught: airline tickets which can be turned in for cash. Let it be stated clearly, the really good disk jockeys don't take payola; they are not only above reproach but very highly paid for their chores . . . British singer Shirley Bassey is much better after a series of three operations. Her most attentive visitor has been her estranged husband, Kenneth Hume, who is trying to divorce her but otherwise being extremely gallant . . . Rita Hayworth is dating Ali Ipar in Hollywood.

If the disappearance of that big fiddle in New Jersey the other day wasn't a publicity stunt for the Broadway play "Absence of a Cello," it should have been . . . Tom Mankiewies (and how's that for the title of a television series, David?) has gone on record as saying that he's madly in love with Tuesday Weld and would marry her if she'd have him. Apparently somewhere she is on record as saying no, or at least not yet.

One of Hollywood's loviest young starlets—and a bright one—is having fun, and getting some headlines, by inventing stories about herself when queried by the press. Some of us are laughing, because we weren't "taken," but wait until certain people discover they were kidded. The beauty will learn the truth of the Damon Runyon line, "Newspapers go to press every day in the week" . . . Jerry Vale, still soaring as a performer, has come out with the biggest single of his career—"Have You Looked Into Your Heart?"—and it's been in the stores less than three weeks.

Joe Levine has fallen hard for the Broadway stage, and early in 1965 will have five shows running simultaneously in New York. Two—"Kelly" and Eugene O'Neill's "Hughie"—have been announced, but the other three, all Very Important Productions, are being kept under wraps for the moment. And the amazing Levine is working on even more plays, while maintaining his dazzling position in the movie field and moving into the TV-film milieu full steam ahead.

Erroll Garner, a smash hit in the Scandinavian countries, ran across a new trend there—jazz unknowns who have named themselves after stars. He discovered an Erroll Garner the 2nd and an Errol Garner the 3rd, a Count Basie the 2nd, a couple of Louis Armstrongs and a Benny Goodman. The U.S. originals aren't suing, they're just giggling at the whole scene.

Class Expects Exotic Mail

By JACK HUTTON

A St. Catharines, Ont., class is watching its school mailbag for exotic stamps and postmarks, expecting letters from either Ghana or Jamaica any day.

Another group in Winnipeg, Man., expects to hear soon from students in Ghana. (Must be nice to hear from a warmer climate anywhere).

A 16-year-old Vancouver reader whose mother and father first met through the mails has written to three students in Ghana, asking their hobbies, interests and views on several subjects.

Three weeks after we launched it, Project Pen Pal is blossoming into what we knew it would be: the fastest growing form of international communication anywhere in the world.

Overwhelming

I promised you three weeks ago to include a weekly list of names from distant countries in case you were looking for a pen pal. Frankly, I didn't anticipate the response. Not by half.

You'll find more names at the bottom of this column. But I thought you'd be interested in some of the comments that our project has already drawn.

Miss Trisin Yast, 14, Winnipeg: "When the paper arrived, I immediately dived for the teen section. I was very pleased to find your article on pen pals one of the major stories. I think it's a fabulous idea and I'm right behind your new item. I already have several pen pals around the world, so you can see why I'm particularly interested."

(Trisin, who's at Westwood Collegiate, also mentioned a youth newspaper in England called the Daily Sketch which gives information about pen pals around the world. Anyone know anything more about it?)

Miss Herta Fransen, teacher, St. Catharines: "Your article was most timely indeed. Several days before my class had decided that it would like to write to children and young people abroad. I suppose this was largely sparked by the fact that I have just spent two summers on teaching assignments in Malawi and Uganda . . . Now we are looking for addresses in Malawi and Uganda." (Sorry, none there yet, but will have some soon.)

Friendship

Kathleen Irwin, Ottawa: "For a long time now I have been writing to pen pals around the globe and I have almost a dozen of them. Writing to other people truly is an experience which no one can appreciate until he has tried it. Thank you very much for this boost for world friendship."

Carol Stefaneon, Winnipeg: "I think it is a wonderful idea and also agree that it is a fast growing form of international communication . . . I am especially interested in Great Britain and have been searching for a pen pal from there for over a year without much success. I'm sure many teen-agers will take advantage of your column."

John Hatfield, 17, Toronto: "Maybe mental telepathy had something to do with your column on pen pals because several of us discussed the same idea a few days before. We agreed we didn't know where to find names. Now you've supplied them and we'll let you know what response we have."

Marilyn Marshall, Halifax: "Congratulations on your column. Reading about what is happening in Africa today only proves that the older generation has failed completely. And if we're going to accomplish anything our generation has to communicate with the people who'll be African leaders tomorrow. Thank you for making this possible."

Here is today's list — from a different corner of the world, Japan.

Miss Mitsue Veda, Japan Correspondence Club, P.O. Box 7, Hirakata-Shi, Osaka-Ken, Japan (Miss Veda obviously has other names as well): Miss Eiko Fujimoto, 752-3 Nishimachi, Sambonmatsu, Okawa-gun, Kagawa-ken, Japan; Miss Takako Anzai, 973-1 Matsuba, Shirotari-cho, Okawa-gun, Kagawa-ken, Japan; Mr. Eiichiro Hayashi, 829 Hamamachi, Sambonmatsu, Okawa-gun, Kagawa-ken, Japan.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Scott McKee, age 10, of Eugene, Ore., for his question:

Why has the earth more gravity than the other planets?

The force of gravity is built into every speck of matter in the universe. Each planet has its own quota of gravity, so much and no more. Compared with the four biggest planets of the solar system, our little world seems to have more than its quota of gravity. But this is not really so.

Every young space-age expert knows about gravity. It is the force of gravity that hugs him to the surface of the globe and gives weight to the objects around him. He knows that surface gravity is different on each of the nine planets. On giant Jupiter a 100-pound earth boy would weigh 264 pounds; on little Mercury he would weigh only 36 pounds.

Gravitation is a built-in force, reaching from the centre of a planet out into space, getting weaker as it goes. Gravity is the strength of this force on the surface of a planet. Deep inside the planet, gravitation is stronger and you weigh more. High above the planet, gravity is weaker and you weigh less.

The gravity on the whopping stars is far greater than the gravity on the smaller planets. Jupiter is much bigger than the earth, and its gravity is about two and one-half times stronger than ours. Venus is smaller than the earth, and its gravity is less. You might guess that a big planet has just so much more gravity than a smaller one. But this is not the rule. Uranus is big enough to swallow our world 64 times, but on this big planet a 100-pound boy would weigh only 92 pounds. Size is not the whole story.

The gravity of a planet depends upon the relationship between its size and its mass. The mass is the amount of matter or material packed into the size or volume of a planet. Some planets are more densely packed with matter than others. They are denser, just as coal is denser than feathers. The dense mass of a planet adds to its gravity. But let's not forget its size.

Earth Densest of Planets

Two earth-sized planets of equal density would have equal mass and gravity. If a large and a small planet have equal mass, the small one is made of denser material. Guess which has more gravity. Remember gravity is strongest near the centre, and the surface of the smaller planet is closer to the centre. If you guess that the small planet has more surface gravity, you are correct.

Our smallish earth is the densest of all the planets. Jupiter is 1,318 times bigger, but only 318 times more massive because it is made of lighter materials. The earth weighs five and one-half times more than an earth-sized tank of water. Uranus is 64 times bigger, but it weighs less than an equal amount of water. For its size, the earth outweighs the other eight planets, and for its size, it has more surface gravity.

Jupiter and Saturn, Uranus and Neptune are all much bigger than the earth. It took much more material to make them. But they are made of lighter, less-dense materials. The mass of a planet is the amount of matter packed into its size, and the four big planets are more massive than the earth. But size cuts down the surface gravity, and on only one of the three other planets would a boy weigh more than he weighs on the earth.

URGES LABOR CHIEF

'Throw Out Trade Union Act'

Unfair labor laws and automation are the two biggest problems facing trade unions in B.C., says the new president of the B.C. Federation of Labor.

"Then entire Trade Union Act should be thrown out," says E. T. Staley, elected federation president in October.

"It's no longer a trade union act. It's an employer trade union persecution act.

"Under the old act there were certain things a union couldn't do. It couldn't use force or violence if there was a dispute.

"Under the new act there is a relatively small part that labor can do."

Mr. Staley, vice-president of the Victoria Labor Council, said if an ex-parte injunction was issued in a dispute naming the union and officers of the council, "then I couldn't tell you not to patronize that store."

"These ex-parte injunctions are very often issued from very doubtful affidavits without the union being given a chance to appear or have council there to question these statements."

HIT HARDER

It seemed labor "gets hit harder" than management when it comes to provincial labor laws.

The labor department was not sufficiently staffed to police the laws and it was difficult for unions to take action themselves to prove unfair labor practises.

He felt the full impact of automation has yet to be felt in Canada.

The solution, he thought, was in shorter working hours and shorter working weeks to spread the available work among the increasing number of people.

If automation arrived to the full extent expected, "then I believe we will have to give consideration to a shorter working year with holiday periods rotated throughout the year."

Retraining workers for several different jobs in their lifetimes was possible providing they were not jobs requiring four or five years' apprenticeship training.

Mr. Staley came to the west coast while in the army in the Second World War, fell in love with it and decided to stay. He met and married his wife, Dorothy, here.

REPRESENTATIVE

He is the western international representative for the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and a former executive secretary of the B.C. Council of Carpenters.

He felt a discriminatory law in B.C. is the one prohibiting use of union dues for political purposes.

Unions couldn't contribute to a candidate from their own funds, but other organizations—he mentioned the chamber of commerce—could do so under the law.

Asked about time lost due to strikes, he said much more time was lost because of poor management.

Inefficient plants, inadequate conditions and materials fed into projects in an improper sequence resulting in layoffs, rehiring and layoffs again "lead to inefficiency and time loss."

The time loss from strikes is less than one per cent of the total time worked, he said.

Provincial statistics show the time lost in strikes as a percentage of time worked last year was 0.021. Only twice since 1949 has the amount exceeded one per cent.

Nationally, the percentage last year was 0.07. The percentage since 1948 has never reached one per cent.

District Team Takes Second In March Test

The 48-man marching team of HMCS Qu'Appelle was awarded second place in a competition among a dozen military marching units in a Santa Claus parade in Everett, Wash.

The Esquimalt-based destroyer-escort returned Monday from a four-day recreational visit to the Evergreen State port.

Marching competition was won Saturday by Seattle police drill squad.

Dressed For Winter

HUDSON HOPE, B.C. (CP)—Construction has come to a halt for the winter at the site of the Portage Mountain dam project in northeastern British Columbia.

More than 8,000,000 tons of fill have been placed on the riverbed section and workers have just completed a bedding of straw, neolene sheets and loose sand and gravel to protect the dam's impervious core area from frost.

The work force reached a peak of 1,450 during the summer but is down to 400, the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority said today.

Full construction activity with 9,000 men will resume next spring. Another 35,000,000 tons of fill will be placed in the original path of the Peace River.

DEATH PLUNGE PROBED

Pen Pal Knows More Than RCMP

NORTH VANCOUVER (CP)—Someone has sent two unsigned letters to RCMP indicating he knows something they do not about the death plunge of Mrs. Elfrida Howard.

Cpl. Joseph Shepherd, heading the RCMP investigation of the woman's death Nov. 7 in Lynn Canyon Park, says he wants the mystery writer to identify himself.

RCMP also want to talk to two fishermen known to have been in the park at the time.

An inquest jury's verdict on Mrs. Howard's death indicated the need for more investigation.

Dennis Howard, 25, the woman's husband, told the jury he was walking with her in the park when he turned his head for a moment and she disappeared in the vicinity of a cliff.

Magistrate Hits At Trial Delays

Magistrate William Ostler showed his annoyance Wednesday at trial delays that inconvenience both witnesses and the courts.

And he rapped a defence lawyer for treating the court "in a most casual manner" by asking for an adjournment after a trial date had been definitely fixed for the third time.

Lawyer Dermod Owen-Flood had asked the magistrate to adjourn the hearing of an impaired driving trial. Mr. Flood said that, since the date was set, he had been instructed to act in another case in a higher court.

Magistrate Ostler said it is the duty of counsel in such cases to arrange for another lawyer to represent his client.

He pointed out it was the third time this case has been set for peremptory trial and he warned that lower courts are "not to be treated in this casual manner."

Mr. Flood said he did not represent the accused at his first appearance and had no intention of treating the court casually.

PREVIOUSLY WARNED

But the magistrate said that a similar situation arose recently in the same case and another magistrate had occasion to speak to Mr. Flood about this practice.

The magistrate said there are higher court judgments dealing with the way counsel should behave if they are due to appear in magistrate's court and then find they have to attend in a higher court.

He told Mr. Flood he would "be glad to supply" him with such a judgment.

The magistrate said counsel should appreciate the difficulty caused to the courts if a trial date is changed. He said they should also take note of "the feelings of police and witnesses when a case goes on and on indeterminably."

He ordered the impaired trial to be held Dec. 30 and said it will go on then whether defence counsel is present or not.

CANADA MAP BEST SELLER

OTTAWA (CP)—A new Canadian map of the world has become the best-selling map ever published by the surveys and mapping branch of the mines and technical surveys department.

The branch printed 6,000 copies of the map, including 4,500 in English and 1,500 in French. The map went on sale in mid-July and the first printing was sold out in 10 weeks.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Five baggage cars and one coach of the Southern Pacific's City of San Francisco were derailed Wednesday in the snow-covered Sierra. A company spokesman said a woman—one of 196 passengers—died, apparently of a heart attack.

APPEAL DISMISSED

Church Donations Must Be Validated

OTTAWA (CP)—The tax appeal board has dismissed the appeal of a taxpayer who protested the revenue department's action in reducing a charitable donation claim that was supported by a receipt from a priest.

The taxpayer was identified as Roland Lortie, but no address was given. The priest was not identified.

The receipt in question was for $560, and under cross-questioning the priest said:

"I cannot swear that he gave that amount and neither can I swear that he did not."

He was asked how a taxpayer obtains such receipts.

"He asked me for a receipt, I asked him what the amount was and he said $560."

"Does the taxpayer himself estimate how much he has given?"

"Yes."

In his testimony, Mr. Lortie, said, "I am in the same position. I can't swear that I did actually give that amount, but neither can I swear that I didn't give it . . ."

The revenue department had deducted $141.77 from the receipted claim. And the tax appeal board judgment said that by disputing the validity of the receipt, the department placed the onus on Mr. Lortie to prove conclusively that he paid such an amount. Consequently, the appeal was being dismissed.

Deathbed Marriages Miss Pension Payoff

OTTAWA (CP)—The Canada Pension Plan would put the welfare minister in the delicate position of deciding whether "deathbed marriages" are motivated by love or the prospect of a widow's pension.

If the minister decides that some mercenary young filly married an ailing old codger only for the posthumous reward, the pension can be reduced in amount if the marriage occurred less than three years before death.

MPs and senators on the parliamentary pensions committee had the provision explained in detail Tuesday by the government officials who drew up the Pension Plan legislation.

Gordon Aiken (PC — Parry Sound-Muskoka) suggested it is wrong in principle to give any minister the right to decide on the reasons for a marriage.

COMPLICATION

The so-called "deathbed marriage" provision piles one complication upon another. Ordinarily, these are the pensions for a contributor's widow:

If she is over 65, she gets 37½ per cent of what her husband's own retirement pension would have been—his pension is a maximum $104.17 a month at the start—plus the old age security payment in amounts ranging from $51 at age 65 to $75 at age 70, depending on the age at which the payment is claimed.

If she is between 45 and 65, she gets the 37½-per-cent benefit plus a flat-rate benefit starting at a basic $25 monthly. A widow with dependent children gets the same, regardless of age. But a childless widow under 45 has the benefits reduced for each month by which she is short of age 45 until there are no benefits at all under age 35.

Then comes the case of the "deathbed marriage."

ANTICIPATION

In a rare double negative, the bill provides that "if the minister is not satisfied that anticipation of impending death was not a consideration affecting the agreement to marry," the widow's pension is reduced.

If the contributor died within one year of such a marriage, the pension is wiped out altogether; if within 13 months, it is reduced by 98 per cent; if within 14 months, by 96 per cent, and so on until the 36th month.

Proposed Service Station Opposed by West Bay Firm

Opposition to a proposed service station zoning at Esquimalt Road and Robert Street has been received at city hall.

A letter from West Bay Investments Ltd.—with ownership rights on seven acres for high-rise apartment complex—recommends that council refuse the zoning requested by Pacific Petroleums Ltd.

The city clerk's office has also been told to expect a petition against zoning now being circulated among residents of the area.

The investment firm has started construction of a $3,000,000 building in the area bounded by the waterfront, Robert, Barnard and Esquimalt.

INTERSECTION

A service station on the northeast (downtown) side of the Esquimalt - Robert intersection would be a hazard to street traffic and pedestrians, and would cause more traffic in an already heavily-travelled zone, it is argued by West Bay.

A service station also would be a backward step in an area being revitalized and detract from efforts to create a park-like environment for the apartments, the letter states.

There are already five service stations within a half-dozen blocks, it adds.

Petitioners say there is no demand or need for a service station, the nearest existing one being 400 yards westward; the proposal is not in keeping with council and advisory planning commission policy for upgrading Esquimalt Road; housing would be depreciated; the high-rise complex would be prejudiced; Esquimalt Road traffic would be made more hazardous and Robert Street is not wide enough to accommodate more traffic that would be drawn by a service station.

Ungainly Plane Has Humanitarian Role

MARIETTA, Ga. (AP)—An "ugly duckling" aircraft that the U.S. Air Force says can pluck downed flyers from the jungle and pick up returning spacemen was unveiled Tuesday.

"This aircraft can do more for the United States than any airplane ever built," said Col. B. R. Rudolph, an air force spokesman. "It emphasizes humanitarian purposes rather than destruction. And by helping in foreign disasters, it can aid us in attaining cold-war objectives."

The aircraft—the turboprop HC-130H—is part of a $200,000,000 program. The air force is to have 63 of the planes by late 1966.

The plane, almost ungainly compared with modern jets, can cover more than 4,000 miles without refuelling. It can serve anywhere, in any weather. Its tracking equipment will provide precise bearings and times on spacecraft as they hurtle through space and re-enter the earth's atmosphere, the air force reported.

The HC-130H will be used in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Gemini and Apollo space projects. It carries a crew of 10.

Cancels Trip

The United States Coast Guard cutter Wachussett has postponed her Pacific Command visit indefinitely.

The cutter was scheduled to arrive here Tuesday but was unable to because of generator problems and her arrival for a three-day recreational visit was rescheduled for late Wednesday.

But generator troubles persisted and the Puget Sound-based vessel turned back to Seattle for repairs.

RUSS, U.S. PEACE GOAL 'NOT SAME'

VANCOUVER (CP) — The major powers cannot agree to start disarmament because they do not agree on its final goal, Lt.-Gen. E. L. M. Burns said Tuesday.

"The U.S. and its allies envisage a peaceful world," Canada's leading disarmament expert told the men's Canadian Club.

". . . but Khrushchev was fonder of speaking about peaceful co-existence.

"The latter seems to include the possibility of 'wars of liberation,' armed action by the 'oppressed nations' against the colonialist or neo-colonialist aggressors."

Lt.-Gen. Burns said if both sides "pursue these opposed purposes with fervor and inflexibility, there is little hope for real agreement or far-reaching disarmament."

Hospital Plans Apartments

A private hospital proposed at city hall Wednesday the construction of an apartment project to be run in conjunction with the institution.

Glenwarren Private Hospital, operated by Victoria Private Hospitals Ltd., wants to raise apartments on land adjoining, opposite Victoria Secondary School on Grant Street.

Advisory planning commission is asked to review the application and request council to rezone from single family or duplex to apartment use.

The legal firm of Hummel and Owen-Flood wrote to council proposing construction of a building that hospital staff members and relatives of patients could reside in.

Bachelor and one-bedroom suites would be laid out in a structure blending with the 2½-year-old hospital, landscaped as a unit, and have street parking on the east side.

The firm notes construction of apartments on former city waterworks property in the area, lending a "lift" to the district.

It is proposed to further expand hospital holdings in the future, enabling Yukon Street to be closed, the letter states.

Most buildings on Grant, Balmoral, Chambers and Yukon Streets are used as multiple family dwellings, the firm points out.

Yukon is a half-block long, running off Chambers and backing the hospital grounds.

Part-Time Farmers Concern B.C. Agriculture President

B.C.'s largest farm organization is going to take a new look at itself and may undergo some drastic changes within the next few years.

President Lyall A. Currie told the annual convention of the B.C. Federation of Agriculture at the Empress Hotel today a study will be made next year to make the federation a more effective organization.

He indicated the organization needs streamlining to keep up with changes that are taking place in the agricultural industry.

The investigation's main object will be to see what the federation can do to provide more effective assistance and services to both full-time producers and part-time farmers.

Part-time farmers are a growing concern to the federation. There are about 20,000 farmers in B.C. of which only 8,000 can make a living on the land. The $125,000,000 agricultural industry is entirely dependent on this group, he said.

OFF FARM JOBS

The remaining 12,000 farmers, many of them living in Saanich and in other parts of Vancouver Island, rely mostly on off-farm employment for a living.

At least 10,000 in this group sell less than $1,200 worth of produce a year.

The study will also seek ways and means to encourage more younger farmers to take an active part in the affairs of the federation.

It will also look into the administration set-up of the organization and how best to finance services for farm groups.

The man who will conduct the investigation is Charles Walls, manager of the federation.

"This investigation shall take an unbiased look at the organization as it is today," said Mr. Currie. "We cannot allow ourselves to become complacent."

He noted that agriculture in B.C. is becoming more specialized and passing into the hands of younger and more technically trained men.

350 DELEGATES

A total of 250 delegates representing 65 farm organizations are attending the two-day convention. They will discuss every aspect of the farming industry.

Federal Agriculture Minister Harry Hays was scheduled to address the federation this afternoon.

A reception will be held on the main floor of the Empress Hotel at 6:30 p.m., followed by a banquet at 7. Everard Clarke, Vernon, a former special United Nations Food and Agricultural Organization representative to India, is guest speaker.

Patients to 'Fly' in New Cure Plan

LONDON (AP)—Experiments in keeping hospital patients floating on jets of air are making progress in a London research centre.

Already a man has been kept afloat for five hours. The next step is to see whether a person can be suspended in midair for 24 hours without ill effects.

If the experiments succeed, they are expected to lead to a major advance in treatment of multiple burns, medical authorities say.

One advantage will be to reduce pain, in that the burned patient is out of contact with any solid material. Another is that exposure to air dries the burns quickly.

New comfort as DEEP HEAT helps rub away arthritic pain

DEEP HEAT relief begins in mere minutes. This fast acting Rub helps bring welcome relief from arthritic, rheumatic, or muscular pains. You find you can move, work, do all you usually do with much greater comfort.

DEEP HEAT gives these twin benefits to help rub away your pain: Deep Heat penetrates below the surface of your skin, and a pain-reliever acts fast.

DEEP HEAT stimulates local circulation where you hurt. You know it's working because you feel a tingling warm glow that's so soothing. Pleasant to use. Greaseless, stainless. Economical.

Sunday Rules Relaxation Expected to Launch Row

By CAROL KENNEDY

LONDON (CP) — The shaky British Sunday is in for a shake-up. If the recommendations of a government report on restrictive laws meet with public approval, the last legacy of Oliver Cromwell's Puritan rule may pass into history and Britons may at last be able to have fun on Sunday—if not all games.

Professional sport is still outlawed in the report of the Crathorne Committee on the law of Sunday observance, presented to Home Secretary Sir Frank Soskice Wednesday. But the report recommends more amateur sport for healthy recreation and also gives the green light to theatres, variety shows, ballet, dance halls, fun fairs and circuses.

At present Britain's only legal Sunday entertainments are movies, with restricted showings, and concerts or recitals.

The essence of the committee's report is that Britain's tangle of ancient and often illogical laws, originally designed to encourage church attendance, no longer serve their purpose.

Many date back to the 17th century, Cromwell's time, and one as far back as 1448. You may not drive a horse and cart on Sunday, for instance, but an automobile is legal. It hadn't been invented when the law was passed.

URGES TRADING CHANGES

The report also urges a shake-up in the Sunday trading laws, now a mass of anomalies. You may buy fresh or frozen peas but not canned ones, for instance.

Taking 3½ years on the job, the committee found that though a "clear and consistent" majority of Britons want easing of taboos, there still is considerable feeling that Sunday's special character of leisure and worship should be preserved.

There is apparently no widespread British desire for the free-and-easy Sunday of Germany and the Latin countries where, though churches are generally packed, anything goes afterwards, from horse-races to night-clubs and where in many places a housewife can buy the raw materials for Sunday lunch fresh from the market and have her hair done professionally in the afternoon.

But the new proposals won't please everyone. A mighty row is brewing in Cardiff at the headquarters of the ultra-conservative Lord's Day Observance Society, which has campaigned for stricter Sundays since 1831.

The society, which long has wanted to ban Sunday television as being "responsible for much of the desecration of Sunday," has announced it will oppose the Crathorne committee proposals.

AMONG SOLOISTS participating with Victoria Symphony Orchestra and massed choirs in two performances of Bach's Christmas Oratorio Sunday and Monday at the Royal Theatre, is outstanding Victoria contralto, Eleanor Duff. The ensemble, directed by Otto-Werner Mueller, includes Montreal tenor Robert Peters, Victoria singers Margaret Abbott, Stanley Martin and Derek MacDermott, the Victoria Choral Society, Vera Barclay Singers, Christ Church Cathedral choirboys and harpsichordist Richard Proudman.

AT THE MOVIES

With NORMAN CRIBBENS

WOMAN OF STRAW
Victoria Premiere
Atlas Theatre

Sir Ralph Richardson is outstanding in this sensuous, brooding tale of a wealthy megalomaniac who treats his dogs like servants and his servants like dogs.

In a modern-day setting, his frenzied lust for power seems so improbable that you are tempted to believe he is really caricaturing the monarchs of old, who had neither police nor parliaments to restrain them.

Whatever he had in mind, Sir Ralph builds up the atmosphere and sets the stage for a drama of intrigue and suspicion that leads inevitably to murder.

Gina Lollobrigida is more than adequate as the shapely, smoky-eyed nurse who gives momentum to the story and Sean Connery provides the kind of masculine sex appeal that is expected of him.

★ ★ ★

The rather heavy story is relieved by magnificent color shots of the millionaire's estates in England and by music of the great composers recorded by Muir Matheson and the Sinfonia Orchestra.

The millionaire's demand for the best of everything—especially music—is a handy excuse for substituting the work of the old masters for the contrived "mood" music that goes with most films nowadays.

At the outset the millionaire is bitten by one of his own dogs and the nephew (Sean Connery) hires a beautiful nurse (Gina Lollobrigida) to look after him.

The old man is confined to a wheelchair, but this does not hamper his taste for fine music and well-shaped females, and Gina appeals to him because she is not only beautiful but independent and high-spirited.

★ ★ ★

The ill-favored nephew conceives that if she marries his uncle and the uncle dies (as he is likely to do before long) she will inherit his vast estates and then be free to marry him.

Gina Lollobrigida is ready to fall in with the idea until she discovers the extent of the old man's sadistic egomania.

She leaves, but the nephew is ordered to get her back. He does so and, soon after, the trio take off on a Mediterranean cruise aboard the millionaire's yacht.

The atmosphere is loaded and it takes little imagination to foresee what lies ahead.

Celebrates Birthday 101

A veteran of the 1885 Riel Rebellion and a veteran of most things Canadian, Edgar Crossley, celebrated his 101 birthday Wednesday at Matson Lodge.

He was born in Centreville, Ont., and for many years was in the hardware business before he became an insurance salesman in 1912. He retired as an underwriter at the age of 83 and moved to Victoria from Oxbow, Sask.

Although hard of hearing now, Mr. Crossley is still a fan of the Toronto Maple Leafs and enjoys watching them scramble for the puck on television.

He celebrated his birthday with his 88-year-old wife, Mary and friends.

The Crossleys have six children, 15 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren.

Mousetrap Murder Sets London Mark

LONDON (Reuters)—Mystery writer Agatha Christie's The Mousetrap was performed Wednesday night for the 5,000th time, a record for a London play.

The play has been running continuously for 13 years at the Ambassador's Theatre. The murder play has been seen by more than 2,000,000 people since Nov. 25, 1941.

Jailed Three Years

WHITEHORSE, Y.T. (CP)—Anthony Bobcik, 32, former employee of United Keno Hill Silver Mines, was sentenced Wednesday to three years on a charge of theft.

Bobcik was convicted after a six-week trial by a jury of five men and one woman Nov. 18 on a charge of theft of silver precipitates.

8 CARDS OF THANKS

The gratitude in our hearts can never be fully expressed but we want our friends, relatives and neighbors to know how much their kind words and expressions of sympathy have meant to us during our recent time of sorrow in the sad loss of our husband and father, James William Ward. We wish to thank Dr. Roach, the nurses who specialized and staff of St. Joseph's Hospital. A special thanks to the members of Victoria Lodge No. 2, B.P.O. Elks for the wonderful service conducted. —Mrs. James Ward and daughter, Mary Ellen.

We wish to thank all our many friends and relatives for their kind expressions of sympathy and the beautiful floral offerings. Special thanks to our very kind neighbors who have been such a help in time of sorrow in the sad loss of our dear daughter-in-law Helen. —Celia and Jim Smart.

I wish sincerely to thank my friends and neighbors for their kind expressions of sympathy and for the beautiful floral offerings in my recent bereavement in losing my dear wife, Mrs. Dora Pitt.—Ernie Pitt.

9 IN MEMORIAM

COOK—In loving memory of Robert Charles Cook, who passed away December 10, 1963.
Broken is the family circle,
Our dear one is passed away;
Passed from earth and earthly darkness
Into bright and perfect day;
But we all must cease to languish
O'er the grave of him we love,
Strive to be prepared to meet him
In the better world above.
—Ever Mom, Dad, Al, Lenore.

101 FOREIGN IMPORT AND SPORT CARS

A REGRETTABLE RELIC FROM the paleolithic era of British motoring is the small 1952 English car I must now part with. This automotive disaster has a vile interior, and an exterior crudely painted a bilious blue to match the smoke emitted by the corroded exhaust pipe. Should you be foolish enough to want to buy it, perhaps as a present for your mother-in-law, kindly telephone 386-1324 after 5:30 p.m.

'64 SUNBEAM ALPINE G.T. MARK III, ideal winter sports car with detachable hardtop. Perfect condition, one owner, 11,000 miles. Radio, tonneau cover, spotlight. This de luxe model no longer imported. Substantial savings over new car. Financing available. Phone EV 6-6802.

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

There was Dwayne Hickman, a member of a band of prairie travellers, fighting off a band of howling Comanches. It was a far cry from the hare-brained college student he portrayed in his one-time series, "Dobie."

Stephen

The strange thing about this appearance was that he didn't seem to be out of place. Actually none of the characters who have appeared in the "Wagon Train" episodes ever do.

The series has hosted more than 100 guest stars, including such Oscar winners as Bette Davis (three appearances), Ernest Borgnine, Jane Wyman (two appearances), Shelley Winters and Clare Trevor.

Such diverse performers as Fabian and Marjorie Main have appeared as guest stars. Other actors return time and time again. Dan Duryea has made seven appearances and Ann Blyth holds the actress' record of five visits.

Wagon Train will continue to roll across the television screen for this season and possibly many more in future reruns. It comes to an end this season.

This is its eighth year in existence, surviving time slot shifts, network dumps and cast changes.

The program has shifted time slots three times—from Wednesday to Monday to Sunday nights—during the years. Its format was boosted from an hour to 90 minutes and back to an hour again.

NBC dumped the show but ABC saw its possibilities and picked it up.

Its first wagon master, Ward Bond, died in mid-series and was replaced by John McIntire. Robert Horton and Dean Miller also came and went in roles of scouts.

But despite all of these obstacles, which would have seen any other series slip down the drain and into obscurity, the show has continued to thrive and attract a good audience.

Most of this success is due to director Virgil Vogel, who recently directed his 80th segment in the series. This represents a good chunk of the 240 shows already filmed.

He sees no reason why the program should not remain on the air for 100 years.

One of the reasons for the success of the series would have to be the writers, who are allowed all the freedom they want. They are called in and asked to put together a favorite story they've wanted to write all their lives. That way the program gets more than its share of good scripts.

Did I say above that this season will see the end of Wagon Train? Well, let's qualify that with the fact that every season word goes out that Wagon Train is up for cancellation. But each season the series rolls on again.

★ ★ ★

TID BITS: Kukla, Fran and Ollie, who at one time helped dominate TV in its early years, are reunited on NBC-TV's "Today" show Christmas Day when Fran Allison rejoins Burr Tillstrom and his puppets in a special program.

Dean Jagger has had to quit NBC-TV's "Mr. Novak" series, in which he appears as a high school principal, because of illness—a "recurrence of an ulcer condition," says the network.

LIFE IS SWEET . . .
WHEN you have such a desirable property as this to offer. 5 MINUTES to the CHOICEST FISHING grounds in the world—I can't think of anything more pleasant than having one's own little BOAT, gently rolling in the BAY, tied up to one's OWN DOCK. The lot is very neatly landscaped, with fruit trees and mature shrubbery—66x239. The FIVE-ROOM HOME PLUS sits high on a rock with MARVELLOUS VIEWS OF THE HARBOUR. Home consists of large bright kitchen, separate DINING ROOM, large living room with fireplace and oak floors. Two good bedrooms on the main, plus bathroom—and a large undeveloped area upstairs. Almost a FULL BASEMENT, excellent wiring, new pkg oil furnace, drive-in garage PLUS a separate garage in the garden. This is a BRAND NEW LISTING, and will not last long. Clear title or terms. Please call Mr. Stothers, EV 2-2101 or 658-5265 eves.

BY CHRISTMAS!!
I've no idea why—but those are my instructions from the owner. The home is presently tenanted by a very nice young couple, who are moving away from our fair city. Owner says "I will definitely NOT re-rent this bungalow, SELL IT FOR ME!" Now, I put it to you, Have you ever experienced such favorable conditions for making a shrewed purchase?
The home is around 18 years old, very nice condition inside, living room with oak floors, and nice fireplace, two good bedrooms, a large kitchen, FULL BASEMENT with lots of headroom, wiring is excellent, oil heating. Lot is all fenced, and sports a SPANISH MORTAR garden court, in lieu of a lawn. A stucco wash on the outside would be required. Please call Mr. Stothers EV 2-2101 or 658-5265 eves. to view interior. PLEASE do not disturb the tenants. Price? Nineish bracket.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FERRY AUTHORITY
SAANICH ELECTORAL DISTRICT
PROJECT No. T.F. 112
SWARTZ BAY FERRY TERMINAL
MARINE STRUCTURES
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS
Sealed tenders, marked "Tender for Marine Structures, Swartz Bay Ferry Terminal," will be received by the Chairman of the British Columbia Ferry Authority in his office at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. up to 2:00 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time) on Wednesday the 6th day of January, 1965, and opened in public at that time and date.
Plans, specifications, and conditions of tender may be obtained from the Department of Highways, 773—4th Street, New Westminster, B.C., or Douglas Building, Victoria, B.C., for the sum of ten dollars ($10) which is not refundable.
EACH TENDER MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY A CERTIFIED CHEQUE OR A BID BOND IN AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO FIVE PER CENT (5%) OF THE TENDER PRICE. THIS CHEQUE OR BOND SHALL BE FORFEITED IF THE TENDERER DECLINES TO ENTER INTO CONTRACT. IF A BID BOND IS USED, A PERFORMANCE BOND IN THE AMOUNT OF ONE HUNDRED PER CENT (100%) OF THE TENDERED SUM, IN A FORM ACCEPTABLE TO THE MINISTER OF FINANCE, MUST THEN BE PROVIDED BY THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDER PRIOR TO THE AWARD OF THE CONTRACT. IF A DEPOSIT CHEQUE IS USED IT SHALL BE RETAINED AND FORFEITED IF THE CONTRACTOR FAILS TO CARRY OUT THE WORK CONTRACTED.
Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied and enclosed in the envelope furnished.
Tenderers are advised that all bidders will be required to satisfy the Chairman of the British Columbia Ferry Authority, in writing, that they have the necessary qualifications to successfully perform the work. It is preferred that tenderers submit with their tenders a list stating the type, capacity, and present location (so that inspection can be made if necessary) of the equipment in their possession or at their disposal which is immediately available for the carrying out of the work within the time limit specified without in any way curtailing or delaying any departmental project that may be under contract at this date.
No tender will be accepted or considered which contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.
It is preferred that tenderers submit with their tenders a schedule of proposed construction operations showing estimated monthly progress for each phase of the construction work.

Ontario to Stay In Pension Plan

Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA—Ontario is expected to stay in the Canada Pension Plan, Health and Welfare Minister LaMarsh said here Wednesday.

The minister was commenting on reports that Ontario might opt out of the national plan. The minister said she had seen nothing as yet that would warrant such a conclusion.

There was a report out of Toronto that Premier John Robarts had indicated at a press conference that Ontario might set up its own contributory pension scheme.

The province of Quebec is setting up its own plan but it ties in with the federal Canada Pension Plan. The Quebec plan is similar to the federal plan and in that way does not destroy the principle of portability.

Federal government sources said they believed that Premier Robarts, when he talked about Ontario setting up its own plan, had in mind the same procedure as would be followed by Quebec. Ontario might opt out of the Canada Pension Plan and set up its plan which would be practically identical to the federal plan and thereby ensure portability.

SAME PLAN

Ontario like Quebec might pass its own legislation setting up the same plan as the federal government is proposing in its Canada Pension Plan program. Provision had been made for this under the federal scheme, officials pointed out. However, they hoped that Ontario would not opt out but remain an integral part of the Canada Pension Plan.

During a press conference, Mr. Robarts mentioned only one "possible" advantage of entering the Canada Pension Plan proposed by the federal government.

"The only worry I have in this regard is the possibility of a series of different types of plans growing up across the country," he said. "But this can be avoided."

Mr. Robarts said Ontario is "quite capable" of administering its own plan and the plan would cost a little less if it did so.

"One of the large advantages of Ontario running its own plan would be that the province would have complete control of this very vital piece of legislation."

Britain to Cut Force on Rhine?

LONDON (UPI)—Britain is drawing up a plan to reduce its forces in West Germany to about 45,000 men, the Daily Express reported Wednesday.

Express correspondent Chapman Pincher said a "large number" of men in the British army of the Rhine (BAOR) would be reassigned to Britain.

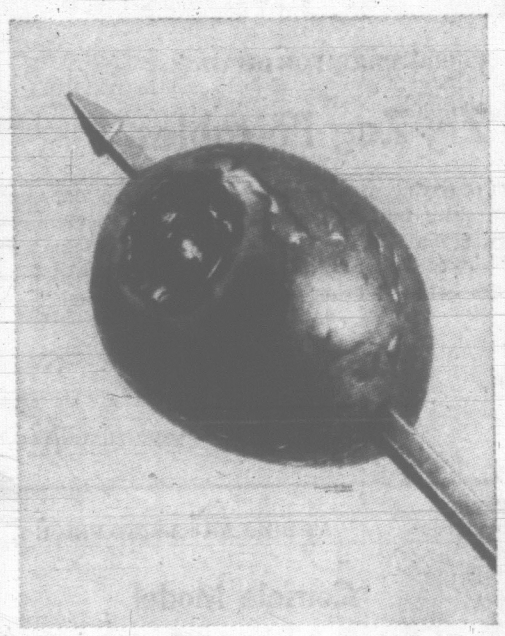
Gilbey's describe how to garnish a dry martini

Some gins have rather strong flavouring. Others are utterly tasteless. Gilbey's London Dry has a perfect balance for the classic dry martini. A dry flavour that has been the international favourite since 1873. Quite a long time.



Since its invention the dry martini has always been graced with an olive. Very proper with the pit left in. Stuffed olives are acceptable, too.

Parkinson Law In Force Here

By AB KENT
Times City Hall Reporter

A candidate for city alderman Wednesday night accused city council of working to Parkinson's Law—using up all time and money available for a particular job.

J. Wesley Dickie, speaking at an all-candidates meeting sponsored by Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, described Parkinson's First Law as a job which consumes the time and money available to it.

"There is the same situation in council. The gentlemen there haven't had the necessary insistence to keep the mill rate down and make Mr. Parkinson's theories work," the candidate said.

"The mill rate is far too high," he said, noting a difference of 11.64 mills between the Victoria general rate of 37.5 and the average general rate in Esquimalt, Oak Bay and Saanich of 25.86.

This is a "horrible situation" and results in young people settling in Saanich or Oak Bay because of a difference of $150 to $200 in taxes per year, Mr. Dickie said.

21 ATTEND

The meeting was held in Sir James Douglas School auditorium and was attended by 24 persons. Of the nine city council candidates, all but one was present.

Jaycee moderator Digby Kier said Rev. J. L. W. McLean was attending a previous engagement.

The eighth candidate, Austin Curtis, was present only for the start of the meeting, in which he made a statement, leaving seven candidates for a question period.

Five agreed with the principle of night council meetings when the question was put from the floor. These were Harry Fanthorpe, Mrs. Evelyn MacKenzie, A. W. Toone, Victor Williams and Mr. Dickie.

Cecil Parrott was doubtful of their value and Clyde Savage agreed night meetings may be useful under certain conditions.

Mr. Fanthorpe was asked what he had in mind by referring to care in the development of James Bay, where he predicts the highest concentration of population in the city, if not in Canada.

LIMIT HIGH RISES

He said he would limit high-rise construction, developing the rest of the area with single, multiple family and garden-type apartments, with plenty of recreational area.

He would advocate a marine park on city-owned land on Erie Street; better access and egress to James Bay, perhaps by bridging the harbor; and outdoor swimming pools.

Mr. Fanthorpe suggested Victoria might adopt a foreign city as part of UN international co-operation year in 1965. Nanaimo, he said, has given a West Indian centre all the equipment from its old general hospital.

RENEWAL STUDY

Mr. Toone was asked what is proposed for Blanshard redevelopment besides a new arterial route to city centre. He said this will be as near as possible to an original urban renewal study recommending revitalization, reconstruction of buildings and a new school, but details will depend on terms of legislation.

Mr. Curtis said he supports joint services as a concept, but so far council has only the "barest framework to go on" by way of details. Municipalities will be presented with an accomplished fact when provincial law is passed, he said.

Mrs. MacKenzie said she would try to keep taxes down, is opposed to a bus fare hike and said that "good government is only good housekeeping on a larger scale."

Mr. Toone asked for a chance to continue the work he has led as chairman of urban renewal, downtown improvements and Centennial Square, which forms a nucleus for further civic uplift.

The square, he said, will be completely finished by next summer, to be followed by more beautification downtown.

BENNETT BLAMED

Mr. Williams urged Gorge waterway beautification, "one of the most natural of remaining beauty spots in Victoria," insisted the provincial government accept responsibility for transit service and blamed Premier Bennett directly for the transit problem.

He outlined work he has done for civic betterment, although not an alderman, and took credit for initiating the Archer Report on police.

Mr. Williams said he did two years' work leading up to the report, "for which I was reviled and cursed."

Mr. Parrott pointed to planning accomplished during his two-year term on council. The capital budget will provide for such traffic problems as widening of Fort Street at the Dardanelles, widening Rose Street and extending Superior Street; covering Bowker Creek and developing Topaz Park for athletics.

Mr. Savage said he would support any program for developing tourism and the Victoria economy, stand behind Mayor R. B. Wilson's program and give careful attention to financing of such projects as a stadium and auditorium.

FLAG DEBATE AT END?

OTTAWA (UPI)—Opposition Leader John Diefenbaker today launched what was expected to be the last Conservative speech on the Tory amendment to send the issue to the people.

Diefenbaker rose in the Commons today to the thunderous and sustained desk-thumping applause from Conservative benches.

Diefenbaker's speech followed a full caucus meeting just prior to the opening of today's sitting.

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Conservative Quebec chieftain Leon Balcer's surprise call for government-imposed closure Wednesday was prompted by more than antipathy for his party's role in the flag debate.

He also wants the House of Commons to get back to its normal question period so the government can be given an opportunity to elaborate on explanations this week by two cabinet ministers who were purchasing furniture from the now-bankrupt Montreal Futurama firm formerly owned by Max and Adolph Sefkind.

No questions on the matter have come up in the Commons because the debate on the flag committee's recommended single red leaf design has, under the rules, cancelled out the daily question period.

The protracted flag debate has driven the wedge deeper between the Conservative party and its Quebec wing and sapped the patience of the New Democrats.

In a 200-word statement that repudiated his leader's stand and startled the Commons, Mr. Balcer asked Prime Minister Pearson to introduce closure to halt the debate.

And the NDP, which had voted against two previous motions to adjourn the debate, made an unsuccessful bid with a motion that would have returned the Commons to holding daily question periods and consideration of bills such as the national labor code.

Outside the Commons Mr. Pearson said only that Mr. Balcer's suggestion was "an interesting proposal, coming from the deputy leader of the opposition."

Charges Fly In Council

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS—Two African foreign ministers today condemned the Belgian-American operation to rescue hostages in The Congo as an aggression against Africa and an attempt to divide the continent.

Their attacks came as the Security Council resumed debate on the operation, launched Wednesday in bitter attacks by three other African foreign ministers.

Guinea's Foreign Minister Louie Lonsana Beavogui said no indignations had been expressed by governments of the "so-called civilized countries" about the killing of Congolese, apparently because their skins were black.

He said no whites had been killed by the rebels before the drop of Belgian paratroopers on Stanleyville, and that in fact negotiations for their release were going on while the intervention was being hypocritically prepared.

Mali's Mannadou Ba called the operation a premeditated, cold-blooded attack on a "bulwark of true African unity.

Ba linked the assassination of President John F. Kennedy with the killing of Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba and the death of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Ba said:

"Those who with premeditation and cynicism carried out the assassination of Lumumba, who were responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, who did not hesitate to assassinate John Kennedy—those voices of war who silenced the great voice of John Kennedy — yes, they are the same forces of obscurantism."

DISBELIEF

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson stared at Ba in shocked disbelief as the African made his statement.

Today's second round brought acrimonious language seldom heard in the bitterest cold war exchanges here.

Beovogui paralleled Ba's line.

"The assassins of Lumumba, the murderers of thousands of Balubas in North Katanga, those responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, those responsible for the blockade of Cuba and hundreds of deaths in Stanleyville cannot be trusted to keep their word in The Congo," he said.

"It was precisely the American-Belgian intervention in Stanleyville that provoked the massacres there."

Both Beovogui and Ba said the U.S.-Belgian paratroop res-

IN VANCOUVER VOTE

Mayor Rathie Wins But Coliseum Fails

VANCOUVER (CP) — Voters in Canada's third largest city swept Mayor William Rathie back into office Wednesday but vetoed most of his civic plans.

The mayor was returned for his second term but his pet projects—a five-year downtown development plan costing $48,000,000 and a coliseum bylaw—were tossed out by ratepayers.

Mayor Rathie, 50, supported a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to Toronto Maple Leafs who proposed to build an $8,000,000 coliseum on it. The mayor also urged voters to support the development plan covering the years 1966 to 1970.

The mayor said he will continue to push for a sports coliseum but that the offer from Leafs' president Stafford Smythe is dead.

Mr. Smythe proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena if the city would sell him the land for $1.

SET A DEADLINE

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

Critics said the wording of the bylaw did not place any restrictions on the type of structure the Leafs could build on the property after the arena was completed.

The Leaf president refused to add any conditions to his offer.

All bylaw questions must be approved by a 60 per cent majority.

Mayor Rathie topped Alderman Tom Alsbury, 60, a former mayor who resigned his aldermanic seat to contest the mayoralty election. Ald. Marianne Linnell, 50, who also vacated her council seat to run, came in third. The fourth candidate, William Shenton, was never in contention.

'That's End Of Project' —Smythe

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said in an interview today that Vancouver has missed its chance at National League hockey "for a whole generation."

Smythe was commenting on Wednesday's plebiscite in Vancouver in which the ratepayers tossed out a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to the Gardens for a proposed $8,000,000 coliseum.

The vote is a complete "end to the project," Smythe said. He had proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena on two blocks of choice downtown land if the city agreed to sell him the land for $1.

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

Titan Launched

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The new Titan-3A rocket, key to an air force bid to orbit the first U.S. space station, today scored its first success in two tries to orbit a test satellite. The 124-foot booster overcame trouble encountered on its maiden test flight Sept. 1 and shot its third stage and a 3,750-pound lead payload into a 17,500-mile an hour path about 115 miles above earth.

'REEFER WITH A FILTER'

NEW YORK (UPI) — James Machen, 27, was in jail today charged with possession of marijuana. Police reported they found him in a Riverside Drive apartment Wednesday night, smoking a marijuana cigarette equipped with a filter tip.

"What kind of cigarette is that?" asked Sgt. Victor Fuchs, one of the arresting officers.

"A reefer," Machen replied.

"A reefer with a filter?" the sergeant asked.

"Of course," Machen replied. "You think I want to get lung cancer?"

19 Suspects Released

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — Charges against 19 white Mississippians arrested in the deaths of three civil rights workers were dismissed today by a U.S. commissioner who refused to admit an alleged confession.

A justice department attorney promptly announced that a federal grand jury scheduled to meet in February would be asked to indict the 19 men who were picked up last week by FBI agents.

Two men still face hearings.

Paris Slows Down

PARIS (AP)—Paris suburban commuter schedules were curtailed today as trainmen walked off the job in a strike which will extend to almost all public service industries Friday.

WILSON EDGES STEP CLOSER TO U.S. VIEW

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson is seen in the British press as having moved closer to the idea of accepting a mixed-manned nuclear force as a result of his Washington talks with President Johnson.

The Labor-leaning Sun suggested in a front-page story today that Wilson is "stuck" with the U.S.-proposed nuclear seaborne fleet concept and that "persuading the Labor party to accept it will be one of the biggest sword-swallowing acts in politics."

U.K. Bombers Seen in MLF

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today he would outline his proposals for an Atlantic nuclear force in the British House of Commons next week, in the context of continuing talks with NATO allies.

Wilson held a morning news conference before leaving for London after briefing Prime Minister Pearson on his discussions with President Johnson in Washington earlier this week.

He said that the best opportunity for discussing his views might come at the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris next week.

Wilson has not rejected the U.S. proposal for a multilateral nuclear force of 25 surface ships armed with Polaris missiles and financed and manned by various members of NATO.

But it appears he is prepared to go beyond this concept by tossing in Britain's V-bombers and the three nuclear submarines equipped with Polaris missiles. The British would continue to man these forces, but they would be placed at the permanent disposal of the NATO commander.

Wilson avoided any comment on French President Charles de Gaulle's attitude toward NATO defence problems.

"It is not for me to interpret or predict what France will do at any given time," he said.

HARD LOOK

Britain, as well as the Soviet Union and the U.S. have been forced to take a hard look at their defence policies in line with what they can afford, Wilson said.

When asked to comment on Canada's role in NATO, Wilson said he had no suggestions to make to this country on any part it might play in the MLF which Pearson has rejected as impractical for Canada from the start.

Trustees Hearing Set for January

OTTAWA (CP)—A Commons committee decided today in a closed session to put off its questioning of the federal maritime union trustees until mid-January.

A Conservative demand that public hearings go ahead immediately was rejected by a vote of 16 to 8 in the industrial relations committee.

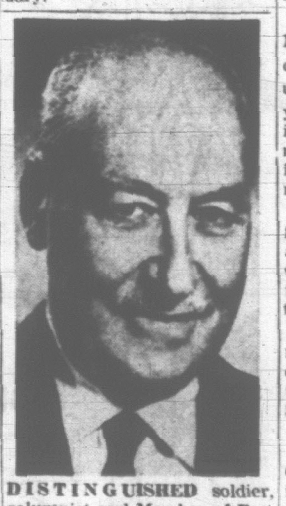
Committee chairman Bryce Mackasey (L — Montreal Verdun) said it was decided to wait until the trustees, appointed last year to run five maritime unions including the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) file their first annual report with the labor minister.

Michael Starr (PC—Ontario), former labor minister, said he and his colleagues felt there were "many, many questions" that should be asked of the trustees now.

The Conservatives in recent months have posed a barrage of questions in the Commons about the trustees' handling of the SIU.

Mr. Starr said Gerald Regan (L—Halifax) voted with seven Conservative members for an immediate hearing.

But 14 Liberals and two New Democrats — Andrew Brewin (Toronto Greenwood) and Tom Barnett (Comox-Alberni)—voted to await the trustees report and delay the hearings until next month.



DISTINGUISHED soldier, columnist and Member of Parliament from 1953 to 1957, Elmore Philpott died Wednesday in Vancouver at the age of 68. He was born in Toronto and came to British Columbia in 1937.

U.K. Must Force Me To Step Down—Jagan

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan, who failed to win a majority in Tuesday's election, refused today to step down from office.

The 46-year-old East Indian dentist announced flatly:

"I refuse to resign. The British Government must force me out."

Jagan, who was educated at Howard and Northwestern Universities in the United States, has assailed "international backers" for his failure in the hotly-contested election.

Jagan's failure to win an absolute majority in the election left the selection of a successor to this colony's British Gov. Sir Richard Luyt.

Luyt had been expected to name Forbes Burnham, a negro leader with pro-Western sympathies and head of the people's National Congress, to succeed Jagan at the head of a coalition government.

Burnham's PNC with Peter D'Aguiar's United Force Party combined in opposition to Jagan's People's Progressive Party to defeat Jagan's bid for re-election.

Burnham rejected Jagan's overture to join forces with him.

THIEF TRAP BACKFIRES

Worker Gives Boss Blast

LONDON (AP)—Convinced that his boss thought he was a crook, garage mechanic James Carey rigged up a trap to catch the real thief.

He fixed a shotgun to a rafter and hitched a piece of wire to the trigger. Then he ran the wire to the garage door.

With the gun empty, Carey tried it out. It worked. So Carey loaded the gun one Saturday night after work, went home and waited for action.

He got it.

The next morning a man opened the garage door. With this man was another man.

Bang went the shotgun.

Carey, who lives near the garage, hurried over to catch a wounded burglar. He found his boss, Mornington Tobin, and another mechanic, Ian Fairington, staggering around. Both had been pelted by bird shot.

A constable charged Carey with "setting a spring gun calculated to inflict grievous bodily harm on a trespasser."

Pleading guilty in court Wednesday, Carey admitted he had goofed.

The garage owner told the court he never once suspected Carey and added that he could have his job back.

"Case dismissed," said the judge, "but next time let Scotland Yard catch the burglars."

HOLIDAY SHARING 'GROWS' WITH NIECES AND NEPHEWS

By MARGE GILROY

As the nieces and nephews of a Victoria aunt grow, so does her donation to the hungry children of Korea.

For the past 11 years Carol-Anne and David of Seattle have shared their Christmas with kiddies who have never known a Christmas like theirs. Since then, Scott and Gregg have also learned their lesson in sharing.

In 1953 the Victoria aunt gave a $10 donation in the name of her niece and nephew to the first Times-sponsored appeal for the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

This year her donation jumped to $25, and the children are thrilled.

As Carol-Anne wrote to her aunt: "It just wouldn't be Christmas now unless we shared with our Korean friends. It makes us all very happy to know they are still part of our Christmas gift."

Like other children these Americans enjoy the goodies and gifts of Christmastime, but long ago they learned that part of the joy from Christmas comes from sharing.

You, too, can share by sending a donation to "Help The Hungry Child" fund, care of the Times, 2631 Douglas or deliver it before 5:30 p.m.

Contributions may also be left at the Bank of Montreal, main branch, Yates and Douglas.

Gifts will be acknowledged in the paper and official receipts will be sent later from USC headquarters in Ottawa.

Victoria Daily Times

VICTORIA, B.C., THURSDAY, DECEMBER 10, 1964—PAGE 13

Arthur Mayse

There's little use fighting the Christmas influence any longer; a decision which I came to the other day, and acted on by phoning School District 61 music supervisor Harry Bigsby.

What I had vaguely in mind was that it would be nice to listen to a bunch of little kids practicing for a Christmas concert.

Mr. Bigsby relayed me on to principal Stewart Taylor of Doncaster Elementary, a school which out of an 800-plus student population can field 30 violonists, an excellent senior choir which we won't visit today, and a 70-voice junior choir which we will.

When I arrived at musical Doncaster at Cedar Hill and Rowan, Mr. Taylor was dealing with a mouse-sized lad in a pepper-and-salt tweed coat who stood solidly planted in the noon-hour rush along a corridor.

"I think you should be going that way," principal Taylor directed the traffic block with grave courtesy.

★ ★ ★

He then established me in a chair at the back of Doncaster's music room, alongside a table of cardboard rounds to which various shapes and sizes of macaroni had been glued. To a brisk tune later identified as "Brownie's work is never done," he marched back to his office.

The music room was light and airy, gay with examples of student art-work. At the front were several illustrations of musical instruments in color, and a piano which at the moment lacked a pianist.

This did not deter the junior choir in the least. The 62 boys and girls (some of the choir are away with colds) were singing sweet and true, sopranos intact except for one boy who had strayed into alto country.

Junior choir leader Mrs. Marie Milley, who teaches academic subjects until 11 each school day morning, fitted the soprano back in place, then went to the piano and struck a note to establish the key.

We proceeded tunefully, the boys and girls arranged in a loose crescent, Mrs. Milley directing. While I listened with one furtive foot thumping the beat, I realized that here was no casual assembly but disciplined voices in training.

★ ★ ★

When the toymaking brownies had finished their stint, we tackled what I suspect to be the big number of three the choristers will offer in their "Christmas Fantasy."

This one is called "Parade of the Toy Soldiers." We sang it with zest and gusto—more precisely, they sang and I hummed—with the further assistance of a pianist who had by now slipped in to join us.

Vocal practice over, the choir's instrumentalists worked out with recorders, chime bells, auto harp, and piano played by a sturdy boy called Peter.

All presently was drowned out by the nerve-shattering klaxon our schools insist on using to bray the end of a period.

"You've done splendidly," Mrs. Milley told her charges, and I'm proud of you."

★ ★ ★

A couple of girls, both destined to turn heads in a few years, came over. One introduced herself as the voice of a cat which utters several convincing meows during one of the songs. The other told me the cardboard-and-macaroni rounds are Christmas wreaths, and will be sprayed with gold paint.

Mr. Taylor joined me in the doorway.

"Did you get what you wanted?" he asked, and I told him indeed I had.

We strolled toward his office, meeting on the way a young lady teacher with a wooden sword which I learned a toy soldier will carry in the parade. The teacher was concerned about the way the silver came off on her hand. Mr. Taylor, a principal who takes school problems great and small in stride, suggested a coat of shellac.

The concert in which the junior choir of eight to 11-year-olds will present their tuneful fantasy will be held in Doncaster's auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Dec. 16.

From the sample given, I predict that cats will meow, swords flash and costumed Brownies perform to perfection.

JINGLE BELLS solo is performed by Salvation Army's Major Austin Millar today as he readies "kettles" for annual fund drive for Christmas and Winter Relief Fund. They go on the street Friday. Last year they took in $9,100. Army is praying for $10,000 this year. Residents of Harbor Lights Mission ponied up and put a penny in each pot to start the drive. Four volunteers will serve each kettle alternately.

Socred MLA Asks Car Insurance Probe

Gov't Scheme Urged To Offset High Cost

Large increases in B.C. car insurance premiums announced recently were bitterly criticized by Social Credit Whip Bert Price today.

"I think the situation demands a study of the feasibility of establishing a government insurance program in the province," the Vancouver-Burrard MLA said in a telephone interview.

He said successive boosts of the past few years "must mean there is too much profit somewhere along the line."

"I read recently that there is a $7 million difference between the total premiums collected and the total claims paid out. That's a pretty big difference."

Mr. Price said a newly-established traffic victims indemnity fund, which will result in a minimum $50,000 public liability coverage starting in April, will go a long way towards filling a gap in private coverage plans.

But he still felt that enough gaps occur in present insurance programs — despite constantly rising premiums—that the government should take a serious look at the situation.

"I've always believed that private business is better organized than government to carry on business undertakings of this kind but there is such a thing as beilng too well organized," he said.

"These companies always insist that they are in intense competition with each other but they always seem to have little difficulty in getting together on how much more they will charge."

British Gov't Plans Exhibit At B.C. Fair

The British government has agreed to put an exhibit in the 1967 B.C. International Trade Fair, it was announced today.

Provincial officials arranging the fair were jubilant because invitations to foreign governments went out only a week ago.

Trade and Industry Minister Ralph Loffmark noted the British exhibit in previous affairs has been a leader in its field.

"This early indication of intentions is clear evidence of the importance attached to the B.C. International Trade Fair by the province's many trading partners," said Mr. Loffmark.

Court Gives $50 Advice To Lovelorn

Larry Lineham, 110 Menzies, today paid the price of being a lover.

He was fined $50 and lost his driver's licence after pleading guilty to careless driving.

He also got some advice on loving from the magistrate.

Lineham was so busy kissing his female passenger that he didn't even hear the siren of a police car that followed him along Cook Street on the night of Nov. 17.

Crown Prosecutor Peter Birkett said Lineham had driven his car out on Cook and forced the police car to brake. He continued on, changing lanes without signalling and jockeying in and out of traffic.

Mr. Birkett said police saw the girl embrace him a couple of times and that he kissed her three times. When stopped he told police he hadn't seen their red light flashing or heard the siren.

WARNED IN MORNING

Lineham asked police not to give him a ticket because he had been warned only that morning that he would lose his licence if he had any more driving violations. He had been in court that day on a charge of failing to obey a stop sign.

Magistrate William Ostler gave him this advice:

"Being a driver and being a lover both require concentration and can't be done simultaneously. You'll have to decide which you want to be."

Ancient Ruse Nets Ex-Convict New Jail Term

Edward Reynolds, described by the magistrate as a "predatory and vicious person", was sent to penitentiary today for two years.

He pleaded guilty Wednesday to robbery with violence.

Reynolds assaulted a sailor who was lured into a dark alley by a woman early Tuesday morning. Reynolds rifled his victim's wallet and stole a bottle of rum from him.

Magistrate William Ostler told Reynolds: "You and your female companion used an ancient ruse . . . on the theory that a hungry fish is oblivious to the hook."

The woman, Hazel Rafter of Nanoose Bay, also pleaded guilty to the charge Wednesday. She will be sentenced Dec. 15 after a pre-sentence report is prepared.

Magistrate Ostler told Reynolds that he took into account the man's record. Reynolds had been convicted of several offences including assault causing bodily harm.

A third person charged in the case, Roy Volden, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

GASOLINE STORAGE LEAK

Tide Carries Away Harbor Fire Scare

An ebb tide this morning carried out to sea several hundred gallons of gasoline that over night created a fire hazard in Victoria Harbor.

The gas seeped into the harbor from a leak in an Imperial Oil storage tank.

Fire Chief John Abbott said today it is not known exactly how much gas got in the water but authorities took no chances.

A Royal Canadian Navy fire tug was brought to the harbor entrance and it stood by overnight in case the gasoline in the water was ignited.

WARNING ISSUED

Harbormaster Ronald Newell issued a warning to all craft in the area to make sure crew members didn't throw even a cigarette butt overboard.

He said the smallest light might have touched off a fire. But this morning Chief Abbott said the hazard is gone completely.

The danger was first noted Wednesday afternoon after the tanker Imperial Vancouver unloaded 500,000 gallons of gasoline.

Company officials noticed another tank was leaking and decided to empty its contents into the Imperial Vancouver. The transfer of 100,000 gallons was completed shortly after nightfall but by that time at least 200 gallons had leaked away.

The gas filtered down through the ground and into the harbor.

Chief Abbott said the danger was that the incoming tide would carry the gasoline into the harbor and around creosoted pilings that are highly inflammable.

The fire chief said the hazard disappeared when an outgoing tide carried the gas away.

Officials said no one knows how the seepage occurred. It apparently began in the base of the storage tank. Harbor officials are investigating why the retaining wall did not keep the gas out of the water.

ADVANCE POLL GETS ONLY 10 'CUSTOMERS'

Ten votes were cast in the first 12 hours of operation of Victoria City's advance poll.

The three-day advance poll first in Victoria history—was instituted at the insistence of a few, although past demand had been slight, according ot returning officer Frank Hunter.

The poll is for persons who declare by signed statement they will be absent from the city polling day.

Election day is Saturday and the polling place is Victoria Ballroom, Government at Cormorant, from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. Eligible voters number 20,245.

Pay for School Trustees Justified By Time, Type Of Service Job Demands

The voluntary aspect of serving as school trustee has "passed into limbo," former Greater Victoria school board member Richard Reeve said today.

A trustee for 14 years and life member of B.C. School Trustees' Association, Mr. Reeve said board members should be "at least reasonably paid."

He amplified an earlier remark by ex-alderman Frank G. Mulliner, who also served as school trustee for 11 years.

"It is such an important job . . . we should have the best type of person in office. If it is necessary to pay them, then let's do so," Mr. Mulliner said.

He deplored the lack of candidates for school trustee in annual elections Saturday. There were two vacancies and only one candidate nominated, for the first time in at least 37 years.

"The job has grown so much that few people can give this amount of time," Mr. Reeve said. "In my own case it was interfering with my income, and I was spending little time with my family.

"It is a severe financial loss for anyone who does school trustee work.

"It is true today that what you used to say thank you for you now pay 50 cents for. The voluntary aspect along with some of the other pleasant things of life has passed into limbo," Mr. Reeve said.

The question of pay for school trustees is "perennial," he noted. A resolution on the subject goes regularly before the annual meeting of the trustees' association.

"Certainly I feel that if there is justification for payment of aldermen, the role of school trustee is just as onerous, and there is equal justification for payment of trustees," Mr. Reeve said.

Teachers' Salary Arbitration Hearing Dec. 18

Victoria lawyer Gerald Sullivan has been named chairman of a three-member arbitration board to settle salary terms of a 1965 Greater Victoria teachers' contract.

The board will hear submissions of Greater Victoria school board and Greater Victoria Teachers' Association at 10 a.m. Dec. 18 at Craigdarroch Castle.

Deliberation of arbiters is expected to begin that night. Other members of the board are lawyer Kenneth Murphy, nominated by school trustees, and Mrs. Hazel Hodson, a retired school teacher nominated by GVTA.

Mr. Sullivan is also serving as arbitration chairman for salary settlements in Kitimat and other Mainland areas.

Arbitration Wednesday settled salaries in the Tofino-Ucluelet district, resulting in 5-6 per cent increases in six salary categories and changes in the increment pattern.

Wood Harvest Up Slightly Over '63 Cut

British Columbia's wood harvest was slightly greater in the first 10 months of 1964 than in the same period of last year, the B.C. Forest Service said today.

Total provincial cut to the end of October was 1,264,664,852 cubic feet, up 2.6 per cent from the 1,232,731,146 cut in the January-October period of 1963.

Motor Cyclist Held on Wrong Side of Road

A motor cyclist killed in an accident on Esquimalt Road Dec. 2 had a blood alcohol count of .14 per cent, Coroner Edmond Jorre de St. Jorre has announced.

Mr. St. Jorre conducted an inquiry into the death of Harry Ashcroft, 41, of 2024 Belmont. He said he found Ashcroft was killed by operating his motorcycle on the wrong side of the road.

Mr. Ashcroft died instantly after a head-on crash with a car. Mr. St. Jorre said no inquest will be held into the fatality.

The coroner said there is no need for an inquest because "it is a clear cut case. Absolutely no blame can be attached to the driver of the car."

Mr. St. Jorre said the dead man's blood showed an alcohol content of .14 per cent. Experts consider a driver to be impaired at .15 per cent. Mr. Ashcroft had been pensioned out of the army in August, 1963. He was not married.

FURTIVE conversation between prisoners at SPCA pen today concerned hopes of being sprung for Christmas. Number 67, on the right, told number 697 that he's even willing to wear a big red ribbon if someone will set him under a Christmas tree. There are about 43 pups, bunnies and cats waiting for habeus corpus proceedings. SPCA asks a $6 donation, to pay pets' upkeep, and you take your pick. But no impulse buying—they only go to homes that really want them. SPCA is on Napier at Burnside.

Topics of the Day

Six Greater Victoria school children have been named winners of an annual Royal Canadian Legion Remembrance Day essay contest.

Lynne Johnstone, Victoria Secondary and Maureen Hatch, George Jay Elementary, each won top prizes of $15.

Linda Gregg, Royal Oak Junior Secondary, and Sheryl Wong, George Jay, won $10 second prizes.

Honorable mentions were given to Joan Richardson, Oaklands Elementary, and Robyn Roberts, of Mount View Senior Secondary.

Judges were Rev. J. L. W. McLean, Col. P. T. Sealy and George Love.

Indian art work was featured at a meeting of the B.C. Indian Arts and Welfare Society on Tuesday in the music room of Victoria Public Library.

Tony Hunt showed color slides of totem poles, masks, feast dishes and drawings done by himself, his father Henry Hunt and his grandfather, the late Mungo Martin.

Others participating in the program were Mrs. D. Gordon Cox who exhibited basket weaving by Indians in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick; Harvey Williams who displayed his carvings, and Miss Elizabeth Prangnell who showed slides of a Saskatoon Indian-Eskimo seminar.

A commercial photographer here says police have impounded some of his supplies on suspision that they came from naval stores.

Peter Chapman of Chapman Photography, 2022 Douglas, said Royal Canadian Mounted Police officers recently took about $150 worth of printing paper from his stockrooms.

"Later they returned about half," he said.

Mr. Chapman said he believed the seizure was made in connection with investigation of missing photographic supplies from the navy at HMCS Naden, Esquimalt.

Mr. Chapman said that since last June he has purchased $2,000 worth of supplies from a man at cut rate prices. He said the man clamed he operated an import-export business as a sideline, and that he had been purchasing photo supplies from bankrupt studios by auction.

Mr. Chapman said the supplier is a family man and had closed the sales on proper invoices, using a legitimate address. The packaging was the same as on other commercial goods.

"I still don't think the supplies were stolen," Mr. Chapman added. "If they are, then I'm innocently involved."

He said also, "My lawyer told me there is nothing they can do to me."

The navy reported earlier that thousands of dollars worth of photo printing paper, chemicals, film and other supplies are involved in the current investigation. It is centred on the 25-man navy photo section. The probe was launched following a complaint from a commercial photography source.

Ask The Times

Q. Where do we get the term "Murderers' Bible?" T.P.

A. From an 1801 edition of the Bible in which a typographical error made murmerers read murderers.

Jude 16, read: "These are murderers, complainers, walking after their own lusts . . ."

Q. Which country has had the highest cost-of-living rise recently? R.F.

A. Bolivia. In the past decade, the cost of living has risen 36 times. Cost of food has risen 43 times.

All questions should deal with matters of fact and be of general interest. The Times does not undertake to solve conundrums or legal problems. Nor will it attempt to put a value on old coins, stamps or antiques. These should be submitted to a dealer.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FERRY AUTHORITY
SAANICH ELECTORAL DISTRICT
PROJECT No. T.F. 112
CONTRACT No. 7
MARINE STRUCTURES
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed tenders, marked "Tender for Marine Structures, Swartz Bay Ferry Terminal," will be received by the Chairman of the British Columbia Ferry Authority in his office at the Parliament Buildings, Victoria, B.C. up to 2:00 p.m. (Pacific Standard Time) on Wednesday the 6th day of January, 1965, and opened in public at that time and date.

Plans, specifications, and conditions of tender may be obtained from the Department of Highways, 713—6th Street, New Westminster, B.C., or Douglas Building, Victoria, B.C., for the sum of ten dollars ($10) which is not refundable.

EACH TENDER MUST BE ACCOMPANIED BY A CERTIFIED CHEQUE OR A BID BOND IN AN AMOUNT EQUAL TO FIVE PER CENT (5%) OF THE TENDER PRICE. THIS CHEQUE OR BOND SHALL BE FORFEITED IF THE TENDERER DECLINES TO ENTER INTO CONTRACT. IF A BID BOND IS USED, A PERFORMANCE BOND IN THE AMOUNT OF ONE HUNDRED PER CENT (100%) OF THE TENDERED SUM, IN A FORM ACCEPTABLE TO THE MINISTER OF FINANCE, MUST THEN BE PROVIDED BY THE SUCCESSFUL BIDDER PRIOR TO THE AWARD OF THE CONTRACT. IF A DEPOSIT CHEQUE IS USED IT SHALL BE RETAINED AND FORFEITED IF THE CONTRACTOR FAILS TO CARRY OUT THE WORK CONTRACTED.

Tenders must be made out on the forms supplied and enclosed in the envelope furnished.

Tenderers are advised that all bidders will be required to satisfy the Chairman of the British Columbia Ferry Authority, in writing, that they have the necessary qualifications to successfully perform the work. It is preferred that tenderers submit with their tenders a list stating the type, capacity, and present location (so that inspection can be made if necessary) of the equipment in their possession or at their disposal which is immediately available for the carrying out of the work within the time limit specified without in any way curtailing or delaying any departmental project that may be under contract at this date.

No tender will be accepted or considered which contains an escalator clause or any other qualifying conditions and the lowest or any tender will not necessarily be accepted.

It is preferred that tenderers submit with their tenders a schedule of proposed construction operations showing estimated monthly progress for each phase of the construction work.

G. S. BRYSON,
Secretary.
British Columbia Ferry Authority,
Parliament Buildings,
Victoria, B.C.

STUDENTS BANISHED IN VACCINE HASSLE

MONTREAL (CP) — Dr. Paul-Emile Chevrefils said Wednesday his five children, barred from attending school because they are not vaccinated against smallpox, will obviously fail their examinations unless something is "done soon."

Dr. Chevrefils has refused to allow vaccination of his children because he believes vaccines weaken the human organism.

He said he is waiting for word from Quebec health authorities about the situation.

Health Minister Alphonse Courturier informed the suburban St. Laurent doctor last week that the matter is being studied.

Each school morning since last Nov. 24, the physician's children, aged six to 14, appear at the Cardinal Leger School only to be turned back by the principal.

U.S. Drive Urged On Three Killers

WASHINGTON (AP)—A presidential commission called Wednesday for an unprecedented U.S. assault on the three greatest killers of Americans—heart disease, cancer and cerebral strokes.

Among its major recommendations: creation of a national network of 540 new treatment and other centres.

The group urged immediate implementation of its "realistic battle plan," saying nearly $3,000,000,000 in federal funds over five years would be needed as a starter. A spokesman said considerable additional funds and other aid from states and cities also would be required.

The 23 physicians, editors, businessmen and others said, in their report to President Johnson, that immediate results could be expected. Up to several hundred thousand lives a year are "now needlessly sacrificed" because available knowledge is not properly utilized, they said.

The commission was appointed last March by Johnson—victim of a heart attack in 1955—to recommend steps to reduce the incidence of the three diseases from which he said two-thirds of all Americans now living would suffer or die unless "something . . . (is done) . . . about it."

U.S. Space Schedule Slows Down

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — A last-second engine misfire on a Titan II rocket dealt a severe setback to the U.S. man-in-space program Wednesday, postponing the final unmanned launching of the two-man spacecraft until January.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration also said the delay will shove the first manned Gemini flight into the second quarter of 1965. The three-orbit trip by astronauts Virgil Grissom and John Young had been scheduled for the first quarter, in February or March.

The trouble occurred Wednesday 1.7 seconds after the Titan II booster engines ignited. Loss of hydraulic pressure caused one of the two engine nozzles to swivel out of place and the engines automatically shut down.

A space agency spokesman said one of the nozzle tubes received a slight crack as a result of the malfunction. He said the entire first stage may be replaced to assure proper performance in an effort to qualify the rocket for manned flight. He said extensive checking of all systems must be completed before a decision is made and a new launching date scheduled.

Murder, Suicide In Cabin

TERRACE (UPI)—RCMP say logging mechanic George Kennedy, 50, apparently strangled Rena Gertrude Johnson, 27, and then shot himself in a cabin here.

Kennedy had been living with the woman for a month. They were last seen alive shortly before midnight Monday.

Police said they found one end of a string tied to Kennedy's toes and the other to the trigger of a .22-calibre rifle.

Kennedy's wife, children and parents live in Winnipeg. Miss Johnson was from the Hazleton area.

Longest Race Season Set

VANCOUVER (UPI)—The longest season in history for thoroughbred horse racing here was announced today by the B.C. Jockey Club.

Co-operators of the club, Jack Diamond and Bill Randall, have scheduled 105 days of racing, with the opening slated for Exhibition Park April 23.

The Vancouver meeting will conclude Sept. 13 for a total of 89 days, an increase of three days over the 1964 season.

There will again be 16 days of racing at Sandown Park on Vancouver Island, opening Sept. 18 and closing Oct. 16.

Belgium Probes Theft of Files

BRUSSELS (AP)—Sources close to the Belgian foreign ministry confirmed today press reports that an inquiry was under way into the theft of documents from ministry files.

The socialist daily newspaper, Le Peuple, claimed the stolen documents include secret messages between the Belgian embassy in Leopoldville and the foreign ministry which were partly published in the Brussels leftist magazine, Remarques Africaines.

Wild Street Riot In Rome

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Wild Communist street demonstrations against Congolese Premier Moise Tshombe erupted in Rome tonight hours after a heavy police guard, unprecedented for the Vatican, shielded him on a visit to Pope Paul VI.

More than a score of persons—including seven Communist deputies and a socialist deputy—were injured.

Heroin Seized In Vancouver

VANCOUVER (CP)—A 26-year-old man was being held by police today following seizure of $12,000 worth of pure heroin.

Police said the two-ounce cache of heroin, wrapped in a Hong Kong newspaper, was seized in an east end home Wednesday night.

U.S. Missile-Tracking Plane Crashes

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—Two U.S. Air Force men were killed today when a twin-jet JB-57B missile-tracking plane crashed and burned on take-off from Patrick Air Force Base.

Big Diamond Sold In U.K. Auction

AFRICAN MEMBERS

Congo Rescue Blasted in UN

(Times News Services)

UNITED NATIONS—Two African foreign ministers today condemned the Belgian-American operation to rescue hostages in The Congo as an aggression against Africa and an attempt to divide the continent.

Their attacks came as the Security Council resumed debate on the operation, launched Wednesday in bitter attacks by three other African foreign ministers.

Guinea's Foreign Minister Louie Lonsana Beavogui said no indignations had been expressed by governments of the "so-called civilized countries" about the killing of Congolese, apparently because their skins were black.

He said no whites had been killed by the rebels before the drop of Belgian paratroopers on Stanleyville, and that in fact negotiations for their release were going on while the intervention was being hypocritically prepared.

Mali's Mannadou Ba called the operation a premeditated, cold-blooded attack on a "bulwark of true African unity.

Ba linked the assassination of President John F. Kennedy with the killing of Congolese leader Patrice Lumumba and the death of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold.

Ba said:

"Those who with premeditation and cynicism carried out the assassination of Lumumba, who were responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, who did not hesitate to assassinate John Kennedy—those voices of war who silenced the great voice of John Kennedy — yes, they are the same forces of obscurantism."

DISBELIEF

U.S. Ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson stared at Ba in shocked disbelief as the African made his statement.

Today's second round brought acrimonious language seldom heard in the bitterest cold war exchanges here.

Beovogui paralleled Ba's line.

"The assassins of Lumumba, the murderers of thousands of Balubas in North Katanga, those responsible for the death of Hammarskjold, those responsible for the blockade of Cuba and hundreds of deaths in Stanleyville cannot be trusted to keep their word in The Congo," he said.

"It was precisely the American-Belgian intervention in Stanleyville that provoked the massacres there."

Both Beovogui and Ba said the U.S.-Belgian paratroop res-

WILSON EDGES STEP CLOSER TO U.S. VIEW

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson is seen in the British press as having moved closer to the idea of accepting a mixed-manned nuclear force as a result of his Washington talks with President Johnson.

The Labor-leaning Sun suggested in a front-page story today that Wilson is "stuck" with the U.S.-proposed nuclear seaborne fleet concept and that "persuading the Labor party to accept it will be one of the biggest sword-swallowing acts in politics.

British Bombers In MLF?

By JOYCE FAIRBAIRN
Times Ottawa Bureau

OTTAWA — Prime Minister Harold Wilson said today he would outline his proposals for an Atlantic nuclear force next week in the British House of Commons, in the context of continuing talks with NATO allies.

Wilson held a morning news conference before leaving for London after briefing Prime Minister Pearson on his discussions with President Johnson in Washington earlier this week.

He said that the best opportunity for discussing his views might come at the NATO ministerial meeting in Paris next week.

Wilson has not rejected the U.S. proposal for a multilateral nuclear force of 25 surface ships armed with Polaris missiles and financed and manned by various members of NATO.

But it appears he is prepared to go beyond this concept by tossing in Britain's V-bombers and the three nuclear submarines equipped with Polaris missiles. The British would continue to man these forces, but they would be placed at the permanent disposal of the NATO commander.

Wilson avoided any comment on French President Charles de Gaulle's attitude toward NATO defence problems.

"It is not for me to interpret or predict what France will do at any given time," he said.

RE-ELECTED MAYOR OF VANCOUVER. William Rathie is congratulated by defeated candidate Mrs. Marianne Linnell after winning second term. He defeated three candidates. A reporter looks on.

7 Tories Oppose Dief

OTTAWA (CP)—A Conservative amendment for a national plebiscite on the flag issue was defeated 153 to 82 in the Commons today.

Seven Quebec Conservatives split from their party and voted against the motion. They included Quebec Tory leader Leon Balcer.

Also opposed to a plebiscite were 115 Liberals, 12 New Democrats, 12 Creditistes and seven Social Credit MPs.

The defeat of the amendment cleared the way for the main vote on whether the red maple leaf design should be adopted as the national flag, but this was not expected until later.

OTTAWA (CP)—With a final plea from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker on behalf of a flag plebiscite, the Commons started voting today on an opposition amendment to hold one at the next election.

Mr. Diefenbaker signalled the approaching vote—first in the resumed debate on a Canadian flag—by making what he called "my last plea."

"Do not, do not tear down in this nation the whole history of our past."

A few minutes earlier he said: "History proves that nation which forgets its past, condemns its future. This flag design forgets our past.

Trustees Hearing Set for January

OTTAWA (CP)—A Commons committee decided today in a closed session to put off its questioning of the federal maritime union trustees until mid-January.

A Conservative demand that public hearings go ahead immediately was rejected by a vote of 16 to 8 in the industrial relations committee.

Committee chairman Bryce Mackasey (L — Montreal Verdun) said it was decided to wait until the trustees, appointed last year to run five maritime unions including the Seafarers' International Union (Ind.) file their first annual report with the labor minister.

Michael Starr (PC—Ontario), former labor minister, said he and his colleagues felt there were "many, many questions" that should be asked of the trustees now.

The Conservatives in recent months have posed a barrage of questions in the Commons about the trustees' handling of the SIU.

Mr. Starr said Gerald Regan (L—Halifax) voted with seven Conservative members for an immediate hearing.

But 14 Liberals and two New Democrats — Andrew Brewin (Toronto Greenwood) and Tom Barnett (Comox-Alberni)—voted to await the trustees report and delay the hearings until next month.

DISTINGUISHED soldier, columnist and Member of Parliament from 1953 to 1957, Elmore Philpott died Wednesday in Vancouver at the age of 68. He was born in Toronto and came to British Columbia in 1937.

COLISEUM PLAN TOSSED OUT

Mayor Rathie Re-Elected

VANCOUVER (CP) — Voters in Canada's third largest city swept Mayor William Rathie back into office Wednesday but vetoed most of his civic plans.

The mayor was returned for his second term but his pet projects—a five-year downtown development plan costing $48,000,000 and a coliseum bylaw—were tossed out by ratepayers.

Mayor Rathie, 50, supported a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to Toronto Maple Leafs who proposed to build an $8,000,000 coliseum on it. The mayor also urged voters to support the development plan covering the years 1966 to 1970.

The mayor said he will continue to push for a sports coliseum but that the offer from Leafs' president Stafford Smythe is dead.

Mr. Smythe proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena if the city would sell him the land for $1.

SET A DEADLINE

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

Critics said the wording of the bylaw did not place any restrictions on the type of structure the Leafs could build on the property after the arena was completed.

The Leaf president refused to add any conditions to his offer.

All bylaw questions must be approved by a 60 per cent majority.

Mayor Rathie topped Alderman Tom Alsbury, 60, a former mayor who resigned his aldermanic seat to contest the mayoralty election. Ald. Marianne Linnell, 50, who also vacated her council seat to run, came in third. The fourth candidate, William Shenton, was never in contention.

'That's End Of Project' —Smythe

TORONTO (CP) — Stafford Smythe, president of Maple Leaf Gardens, said in an interview today that Vancouver has missed its chance at National League hockey "for a whole generation."

Smythe was commenting on Wednesday's plebiscite in Vancouver in which the ratepayers tossed out a bylaw which would have permitted the city to give a $2,000,000 piece of downtown property to the Gardens for a proposed $8,000,000 coliseum.

The vote is a complete "end to the project," Smythe said. He had proposed to build a 17,000-seat arena on two blocks of choice downtown land if the city agreed to sell him the land for $1.

He placed a Dec. 31 deadline on his offer and hinted that construction of the centre could mean a National Hockey League team in Vancouver.

'REEFER WITH A FILTER'

NEW YORK (UPI) — James Machen, 27, was in jail today charged with possession of marijuana. Police reported they found him in a Riverside Drive apartment Wednesday night, smoking a marijuana cigarette equipped with a filter tip.

"What kind of cigarette is that?" asked Sgt. Victor Fuchs, one of the arresting officers.

"A reefer," Machen replied.

"A reefer with a filter?" the sergeant asked.

"Of course," Machen replied. "You think I want to get lung cancer?"

19 Suspects Released

MERIDIAN, Miss. (UPI) — Charges against 19 white Mississippians arrested in the deaths of three civil rights workers were dismissed today by a U.S. commissioner who refused to admit an alleged confession.

A justice department attorney promptly announced that a federal grand jury scheduled to meet in February would be asked to indict the 19 men who were picked up last week by FBI agents.

Two men still face hearings.

Balcer Explains Action

(Times News Services)

OTTAWA — Conservative Quebec chieftain Leon Balcer's surprise call for government-imposed closure Wednesday was prompted by more than antipathy for his party's role in the flag debate.

He also wants the House of Commons to get back to its normal question period so the government can be given an opportunity to elaborate on explanations this week by two cabinet ministers who were purchasing furniture from the now-bankrupt Montreal Futurama firm formerly owned by Max and Adolph Setkind.

No questions on the matter have come up in the Commons because the debate on the flag committee's recommended single red leaf design has, under the rules, cancelled out the daily question period.

The protracted flag debate has driven the wedge deeper between the Conservative party and its Quebec wing and sapped the patience of the New Democrats.

In a 200-word statement that repudiated his leader's stand and startled the Commons, Mr. Balcer asked Prime Minister Pearson to introduce closure to halt the debate.

And the NDP, which had voted against two previous motions to adjourn the debate, made an unsuccessful bid with a motion that would have returned the Commons to holding daily question periods and consideration of bills such as the national labor code.

Outside the Commons Mr. Pearson said only that Mr. Balcer's suggestion was "an interesting proposal, coming from the deputy leader of the opposition."

HOLIDAY SHARING 'GROWS' WITH NIECES AND NEPHEWS

By MARGE GILROY

As the nieces and nephews of a Victoria aunt grow, so does her donation to the hungry children of Korea.

For the past 11 years Carol-Anne and David of Seattle have shared their Christmas with kiddies who have never known a Christmas like theirs. Since then, Scott and Gregg have also learned their lesson in sharing.

In 1953 the Victoria aunt gave a $10 donation in the name of her niece and nephew to the first Times-sponsored appeal for the Unitarian Service Committee of Canada.

This year her donation jumped to $25, and the children are thrilled.

As Carol-Anne wrote to her aunt: "It just wouldn't be Christmas now unless we shared with our Korean friends. It makes us all very happy to know they are still part of our Christmas gift."

Like other children these Americans enjoy the goodies and gifts of Christmastime, but long ago they learned that part of the joy from Christmas comes from sharing.

You, too, can share by sending a donation to "Help The Hungry Child" fund, care of the Times, 2631 Douglas or deliver it before 5:30 p.m.

Contributions may also be left at the Bank of Montreal, main branch, Yates and Douglas.

Gifts will be acknowledged in the paper and official receipts will be sent later from USC headquarters in Ottawa.

ALBERNI EVENTS ATTRACT AUDIENCE OF 5

No Comment, No Criticism

ALBERNI — This year has been the most eventful in Alberni's 51-year-old history — but no one seems to care.

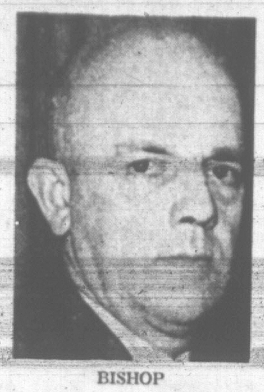
At the annual stewardship meeting Wednesday night, Mayor Fred Bishop outlined the events of 1964.

There was a tidal wave, a strike and approval of amalgamation with Port Alberni.

But only five members of the public bothered to turn up to hear all about it.

And they had nothing to say.

There were no comments, no questions and no criticisms from the audience.



BISHOP

Others at the meeting in city hall were city council, two outside candidates, four civic employees and three members of the press.

Mayor Bishop said the main problem was left over from the Good Friday tidal wave.

In particular there were difficulties in purchasing property from the owners of land along the Somass River.

This has been included in a major plan for a flood control program for the entire lower area of the city.

Of amalgamation, which does not go into effect until 1967, Mayor Bishop said: "I hope it will be possible to expand our joint services whenever feasible before 1967."

"We are planning a joint works yard and we could move into it before the cities are amalgamated."

At the same meeting, parks and properties chairman, Ald. William Anderson said building permit values for the first 11 months of this year totalled $762,198.

This is $330,000 higher than for all 1963.

He said the list of 111 items included 29 homes and 13 commercial permits.

. . . FLAG

"I ask the House in my final plea to consider these things . . ."

The vote on the Conservatives' plebiscite amendment came during the ninth day of debate on a report by an all-party Commons committee which recommended a flag design.

The committee proposed a design of a single red maple leaf on a white ground with a red panel on each side. The committee was established to pick a design after a 22-day debate earlier in the session on the government's proposed flag design—three red maple leaves on a white ground with a vertical blue bar at each side.

Speaking for the first time since the flag debate resumed Nov. 30, he said the single red maple leaf flag recommended by a special committee "does not represent the views of millions of Canadians.

"We cannot accept the recommendation of the committee."

The Conservative leader said plebiscites have been held before in Canada "on matters that touch the heart" and they had not created division. Any flag chosen in a plebiscite would be acceptable to a majority of the population.

FIVE DESIGNS

He said all Canadians age 18 and over should be given the opportunity at the next federal election to choose between five designs with widespread support.

These are the Red Ensign, a modified ensign incorporating a French symbol, the single maple leaf, the three-leaf design introduced last May by the government and a modification of the single leaf incorporating a small Union Jack and fleur-de-lis.

He said the last design was proposed by Conservative members of the flag committee after the committee voted against the adoption of the Red Ensign.

Mr. Diefenbaker acknowledged that a majority of MPs favor the single leaf design recommended by the committee. Liberals, Creditistes, New Democrats and Social Credit members would all vote for it with one or two exceptions in each party.

But the adoption of a flag by Parliament would split the country. Canadians, who will live under the flag, should decide what it will be.

"While unity was promised by the offspring," he said.

He asked why Prime Minister Pearson or a member of his cabinet has not endorsed the committee flag in the eight days of debate on it.

If the Commons approved the committee's recommendation, what would happen to the 1945 regulation that requires that the Red Ensign be flown on top of all federal buildings and establishments?

'U.K. Must Force Me To Step Down'

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (UPI)—Marxist Premier Cheddi Jagan, who failed to win a majority in Tuesday's election, refused today to step down from office.

The 46-year-old East Indian dentist announced flatly:

"I refuse to resign. The British Government must force me out."

Jagan, who was educated at Howard and Northwestern Universities in the United States, has assailed "international backers" for his failure in the hotly-contested election.

Jagan's failure to win an absolute majority in the election left the selection of a successor to this colony's British Gov. Sir Richard Luyt.

Luyt had been expected to name Forbes Burnham, a negro leader with pro-Western sympathies and head of the people's National Congress, to succeed Jagan at the head of a coalition government.

Burnham's PNC with Peter D'Aguiar's United Force Party combined in opposition to Jagan's People's Progressive Party to defeat Jagan's bid for re-election.

Burnham rejected Jagan's overture to join forces with him.

with what they can afford, Wilson said.

When asked to comment on Canada's role in NATO, Wilson said he had no suggestions to make to this country on any part it might play in the MLF which Pearson has rejected as impractical for Canada from the start.

Titan Launched

CAPE KENNEDY (UPI) — The new Titan-3A rocket, key to an air force bid to orbit the first U.S. space station, today scored its first success in two tries to orbit a test satellite. The 124-foot booster overcame trouble encountered on its maiden test flight Sept. 1 and shot its third stage and a 3,750-pound lead payload into a 17,500-mile an hour path about 115 miles above earth.

Fluoridation Question On Ballots

NORTH COWICHAN — Not all residents in this area will be eligible to vote on the question of fluoridation Saturday.

Officials said Wednesday ballots may be cast on the plebiscite by North Cowichan residents who are served by Duncan City, Crofton, Chemainus and Maple Bay water systems.

Anyone not served by these systems will not be eligible.

Most medical men in the area have urged a "yes" vote on fluoridation.

DUNCAN—Duncan Jaycees Wednesday added their support to a referendum asking fluoridation of the city's water supply.

However, they were not unanimous.

Roy Elvins said he objected because he didn't think it democratic that city voters could force fluoridation on municipal users of their water supply.

MAPLE BAY—Victoria Jaycees' Santa Claus ship will arrive here Sunday, Dec. 20.

It will be greeted by carloads of under-privileged children who will be the guests of Duncan Jaycees.

David Else will be in charge.

The ship nearly didn't make it to port last year because of stormy weather.

These three know a thing or two about Scotch

The things they know about making Scotch couldn't be written down, they're bred in. And added to during a lifetime of experience. Roland's great-grandfather was a maltman, and so was George's.
The more you know about Scotch, the more you like Ballantine's.
